

'Dutch' Anderson Was Son Of Noble Danish Woman, Says Attorney

SOUTH TO HONOR THE MEMORY OF WAR LEADER

Will Pay Honor to Memory of General Abrose Hill. Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—Monday next will be the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Gen. Abrose Hill, one of the noted military chieftains of the South in the war between the states.

General Hill was born near Petersburg and was the son of Major Thomas Hill, prominent merchant and politician of his day. The son was graduated from West Point in 1847 and saw service in the Mexican war and in the war against the Seminoles in Florida.

In the notable council of war which was held in Richmond on June 25, 1862, Hill was present, and his voice commanded a respectful hearing as coming from one who, even in the short experience of one year, had proved himself a soldier of more than common ability.

At the battle of Fredericksburg Hill's division formed the right of Jackson's corps, and during all that hotly-contested fight Hill managed his force with notable success, and personally distinguished himself by brave conduct.

At the battle of Gettysburg, and during the bloody three days' fighting was associated most prominently with all the movements of the Confederate forces. Late in the summer of 1863 General Hill was taken sick and compelled to retire from active service for a time.

William Baker, Lawyer of Rochester, N. J., Gives Facts About Real Life of the Slain Bandit.

MOTHER NEVER KNEW THE FACTS

She Thought Her Son Had Prospered In Legitimate Business Since He Left His Native Hom.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—The veil of mystery that shrouded the real identity of "Dutch" Anderson, slayer, bank robber and desperado, whose career was ended by a bullet from his own gun in Muskegon, Mich., last Saturday was pierced today.

In a copyrighted story the Rochester Journal and the Post Express prints the life history of the bandit as given by William J. Baker, an attorney of this city, and to whom the police of the Michigan city have turned for advice, now that the curtain has fallen on one of the amazing crime dramas of America.

And to the Rochester attorney falls the lot of breaking the sad news. Madame Von Tiller, representative of a noble Danish family, never knew that her son, Ivan Dahl von Teller, and "Dutch" Anderson, internationally known bandit, safe blower and desperado, were one and the same.

ONLY EIGHT MORE WORKING DAYS NOW OF HIGHEST VOTE

Also the Biggest Point Score From New Subscriptions on Ford Coupe Special Prize.

NOW IS TIME TO DO YOUR UTMOST

If You Halt Now For a Moment You're Taking a Desperate Risk of Losing in the Campaign.

With only eight more working days in which to get the highest vote credit on the regular prizes in The Tribune-Times campaign, and also the biggest point score from new subscriptions on the Ford Coupe Special Prize, candidates should and seem to be awake to the importance of the possibilities of this next week.

Each contestant in the race realizes that the grand prizes representing over $100,000 in actual cash—are practically within their reach, to be claimed for their very own or forfeited to more aggressive opponents during the next few days, depending almost entirely upon their final supreme efforts put forth while the biggest remaining votes are allowed.

If the contestants halt now for a moment—if they slack up or let their enthusiasm wane—if they overlook one opportunity to better their chances to win, they are taking the desperate risk of losing the big prizes already partially won and which really belong to them.

Now, during these last days of the third period, you can make sure of being the winner of the big motor cars now waiting to be driven away by their "live wire" winners.

Bear in mind that the third period vote schedule and the second payment vote schedule go out of effect promptly by 12 o'clock Saturday, November 14.

Keep constantly in mind the fact that the big campaign closes forever one week from that date.

WANTS GOVERNMENT AID FOR AVIATION IN THIS COUNTRY

The Committee in Report Thinks the Government Should Give Aid to Civil and Commercial Aviation

WOULD CREATE NEW BUREAU

This Bureau Would Be a Part of Department of Commerce Under Plans Suggested in the Report.

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Creation of a bureau of civil aeronautics in the Department of Commerce, with broad powers to regulate and promote all civil and commercial flying in the United States marks the central recommendation of a committee of civil aviation which was appointed by the Department and the American Engineering Council last June to make an exhaustive study of the question.

The committee of which J. Walter Drake, assistant Secretary of Commerce is chairman, declares in its report made available for publication today that the possibilities which it sees for a development of commercial aviation in the United States can be realized only through a definite and continuing program of government assistance for the industry.

The further advance to 1946 for January contracts met a good deal of realizing and some Southern hedge selling, and prices eased off 5 or 6 points from the best, although sufficient buying gave the market a steady underdone at the end of the first hour.
