Well, if there had been a crime committed in paying these claims it was committed on the 23rd of September when the claims were passed.

More Happy Workers Need, Says Preacher

Charlotte, Oct. 6.—"If any one course is in the church today it's the splendid one not working for God," Rev. Mel Trotter, noted evangelist, declared last night at the First Presbyterian church, where he is conducting a series of evangelistic meetings.

"Another evil in the church," Mr. Trotter pointed out, "is the sect living lightly and flippantly. Living for society, yes, clean-cut society and business."

"Lots of things that we call success in this world are wasted and an utter failure in God's sight," the evangelist asserted.

"How then can we get right?" the minister asked his hearers. "By confessing our sins," he explained, "and righting ourselves with both God and our fellowman."

"Wash your stripes and God will restore unto you the years that the locusts have eaten," Mr. Trotter declared.

HUMAN LOUD SPEAKERS.

Men Compete for the Blue Ribbon of "Town Crying."

They were official town criers, gathered from all parts of the South of England and Wales, to compete for the blue ribbon of town crying, the championship cup. As a noise they were immense; as a spectacle they were even more impressive, for the calling of the town crier is usually accompanied by the gayest of uniforms, and when these twenty-four hoarse-throated men, after a combined carillon on their bells, marched through the village to the field of combat it was like a historic pageant on the march.

There were all sorts of bright raiment in the procession. Some of the criers looked like courtiers of the Middle Ages, others like highwaymen, gallants of the days of Beau Nash, glorified street-car conductors and bandmen. Several had more gold lace than any admiral.

USE BLOODHOUNDS TO TRAIL NEGRO ATTACKER

Report Says Negro Tried to Attack White Woman at Southport.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Bloodhounds were said to have been placed in use early this morning on the trail of a negro who is charged with attempted criminal attack on a prominent white woman of Southport last night. The negro was said to have entered the woman's home about 11 o'clock. A posse of citizens was also said to be engaged in the search.

Mecklenburg Jail Delivery Filled.

Charlotte, Oct. 6.—Jack Stewart and "Little" Bill McKenzie, white youths, whose court records have brought them local notoriety, attempted to break from the Mecklenburg county jail here Sunday morning and were apprehended as they were about to lower themselves by a blanket rope to the ground, jail officials said.

Breaking jail was no new experience for Stewart, as he and Roy Philemon figured in a sensational daylight escapade August 13. They removed bricks from the wall and let themselves through to the ground. Stewart was captured a week later, but Philemon is still at large.

Stewart and McKenzie, it was said, broke a bar in their cell, one which had been weakened by a previous attempted jail delivery, and used the bar as a tool with which to move bricks from the outer wall, it was said. They were ready to lower themselves to the ground with their blankets when Deputy Sheriff Avery B. Johnston, who had been summoned by "trustees" arrived on the scene and blocked their plans.

Will Not Attempt Atlantic Flight Now.

Paris, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Paul Tarascon, French aviator, will not attempt to fly across the Atlantic in a Bernard monoplane for at least eight months, and possibly longer. It was announced that delay in construction of the plane and the imminence of bad weather is the cause of the postponement. He had planned to make the flight this year.

The first woman to become a member of the United Spanish war veterans, after the recent national convention of that organization voted to admit women to full membership, was Mrs. Annie E. Comfort, of San Antonio, who served as a nurse in the Spanish war.

DR. RANKIN TO MAKE ADDRESS AT BUFFALO

Three North Carolinians to Address American Public Health Association.

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—Three North Carolinians, all connected with the State board of health, are to present specially prepared papers dealing with public health problems before the fifty-fifth annual session of the American public health association at its convention in Buffalo, N. Y., October 11th to 14th. These three are Dr. W. S. Rankin, former secretary of the board and now a member of the board, and also director of the Duke hospitalization endowment in the state; Dr. E. M. Register, in charge of the bureau of vital statistics; and H. E. Miller, chief sanitary engineer of the State board of health. It is pointed out by Dr. Charles O'H. Laughlin, house, secretary of the State board of health, on the program of the national association at one time, especially from a southern state.

Dr. Rankin will address the association on "Rural Medical and Hospital Service," a subject he is eminently fitted to discuss, owing to his many years of experience in these lines. Dr. Register will speak on "A Dozen Years of Vital Statistics in North Carolina" and is expected to present some interesting data on the value of a bureau of vital statistics of a state and to a board of health. Mr. Miller will discuss "Rural Sanitation," based on his experience in successfully putting into effect the rural sanitation regulations in the state, chief of which has been the sanitary privy law, which has perhaps done more than anything else to reduce typhoid and other communicable diseases. All three of these addresses were especially requested by the association.

Only twice have the presidents of the national association come from below the Mason and Dixon line. One was the late Dr. R. H. Lewis in 1907, when Dr. Lewis was secretary of the North Carolina board of health, and the other was Dr. W. S. Rankin, in 1921, when he was secretary of the State board.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opened Fairly Steady at Decline of 4 to 25 Points, December Off to 13.10.

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The cotton market opened fairly steady at a decline of 4 to 25 points under overnight selling orders from the South, and other selling, inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables, a favorable weather map, and the continued toward increased estimates of the crop.

December sold off to 13.10 and March to 13.53 at the start, but offerings were comparatively light and prices steadied up on covering and buying attributed to trade or speculative interests. December rallied to 13.29 and was holding a point or so above yesterday's closing quotations at the end of the first hour. October was relatively easy at the start, but recovered part of its loss on a very small volume of business.

Cotton futures opened barely steady. Oct. 13.30; Dec. 13.10; Jan. 13.28; March 13.54; May 13.74.

PRISONERS REWARDED FOR ASSISTING GUARD

Prevents Negro From Overpowering Guard and is Given Ticket Home—Four Men Escape.

Salisbury, Oct. 6.—Four short term negro prisoners escaped from the county road force at Mt. Ulla, but John Plyler, negro, whose attack on the guard, Mr. Kinginger, was overpowered and held. As the negro was about to overpower the guard a white prisoner, Joe Harlin, came to the guard's rescue and saved the day. Harlin's term was about out and in recognition of his interference and help given the guard, the county today bought him a ticket to his home in Washington city.

Historic Building Burned to Ground.

Gastonia, Oct. 6.—The old Seaboard Air Line freight and passenger railway station at Stanley, in this county, was burned to the ground by fire of unknown origin at midnight last night.

SAYS TUBERCULOSIS CAN BE CONTROLLED THROUGH CHILDREN

Protect Babies and School Children Against Disease, Says Tuberculosis Conference Expert.

MANY CHILDREN HAVE DISEASE

Best Way to Control Disease is Have Children Examined When They Enter the Schools.

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Protection of school children and babies against tuberculosis was urged today as the most immediate and visible method for controlling the ravages of that disease by speakers at the twenty-second annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. Jabez H. Elliott, of Toronto, said a program for control of the disease in childhood must include the discovery and supervision of all open cases, isolation of far advanced cases in contact with children, examination of all children of school age, and even of pre-school age, and the adequate treatment of all physical defects in childhood. This system, he added, had reduced the tuberculosis death rate among children in Toronto from 240 per 100,000 to as low as 65 per 100,000.

Delegates were told by Fris. Friedrich von Muller, University of Munich, of the co-operation of art and science in the evolution of a new method to aid physicians in discovering tuberculosis in the early stages.

BARRINGER GETS HIS LICENSE

Supreme Court Grants Him License to Practice Law.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—The Supreme Court today granted to President G. P. Barringer of the State Federation of Labor his license to practice law in North Carolina and announced in a brief statement that accompanied the Wednesday batch of court decisions that the protest filed by O. K. Everhardt, of Salisbury, had not been sustained.

It did not go into the protest, which charged the labor chief with obtaining a loan through false and fraudulent representation, nor did it touch on the Barringer defense, devoting only about five lines to the announcement that Mr. Everhardt had failed in his case. Barringer passed the bar examinations in August only to have his license held up when the Everhardt protest came in. Everhardt, who collected his debt from Barringer soon after he had filed his paper, asked permission to withdraw it but the court refused and insisted on the hearing. Barringer's friends looked confidently for today's action of the court after the labor leader had presented his side at the hearing last Thursday.

Fine Response to Fire Prevention Week.

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—"The response all over the state to fire prevention week has been remarkable and of great encouragement to the State insurance department," said Stacey W. Wade, insurance commissioner, today in commenting on the amount of interest being shown in the observance of the week in every quarter. "We had hoped that there would be a good amount of interest, but the way the state as a whole has responded has been most heartening. It shows that people everywhere are alive to the importance of fire prevention and the excessive cost of fires of any sort," said Mr. Wade.

J. C. Newell Fined $50 For Assault on Postal Employee.

Charlotte, Oct. 6.—J. C. Newell, Charlotte attorney, was fined $50 by Judge E. Yates Webb, of Shelby, in federal district court today when he pleaded guilty to assault on a government employe, R. E. Hood, special delivery messenger of the Charlotte postoffice. Mr. Newell, in disclosing the affair, said that he struck Mr. Hood following an argument over the damages to Mr. Newell's car after a collision of their automobiles on South Tryon street, at which time Mr. Newell said the door of his sedan was broken. The assault was committed in the rear of the postoffice several months ago.
