THE WORLD PAUSES TODAY TO RECALL THE GREAT CONFLICT

Exactly Eight Years Ago News That the War Was Over Flashed Around the World.

PERPLEXITIES WERE UNTHOUGHT OF

The Only Thought Was, "The Boys Are Coming Home!" and What Else Mattered to Us?

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The world paused a moment today in the frenzied struggle for existence and aggrandizement to recollect that exactly eight years ago there had come the word from France that gripped men's hearts as no other message could have done.

The great war was over—the roaring destroying guns stilled at last. An ecstasy of rejoicing and triumph had followed.

Then came one home to American, dead and unknown, who could not hear the cheering.

Today, as always, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery was the heart of the American observance of Armistice Day.

In other countries two ceremonies centered about the tomb of the Unknown. Representatives of the far-flung dominions of the British Empire in conference at London joined in England's tribute to the day.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York laid wreaths at the foot of the cenotaph of England's unknown.

In Poland great ceremonies were arranged to celebrate both Armistice Day, a national holiday, and the anniversary of the release of Marshal Pilsudsky from German captivity.

Out of the new significance of the day as sacred to those who did not come back living from France has grown the simple observance all over the nation which marks Armistice Day.

Everywhere it was guided by the desire of each community as in Missouri it centered about the flaming memorial of Missouri's war dead at Kansas City, where President Coolidge went to voice the will of his countrymen for peace and friendship with all people.

The duty alone could have drawn him away from his usual Armistice Day journey to Arlington to lay a wreath in person on the tomb of the Unknown.

Army comrades of the war dead everywhere paid honors. Flags were at half-staff. Troops were ordered drawn up in silence to stand rigidly for a minute at 11 o'clock, the hour of the armistice eight years ago.

The national salute of 21 guns was decreed for all saluting posts. Throughout the nation memorial services befitting the day marked gatherings in schools and churches and the momentary halt and silent tribute to the meaning of the day was interwoven even with prosaic business activities in many scattered industries.

MRS. MANLEY FACES MARRIAGE OF QUESTIONS

Covering Her Husband's Financial Affairs on His Special Plea of Insanity. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. W. D. Manley, wife of the former president of the Bankers Trust Company of Atlanta, faced a barrage of questions from the state today covering Mr. Manley's financial affairs in the hearing on her husband's special plea of insanity in Fulton Superior Court.

The failure of the Bankers Trust Company caused the closing of eighty-three correspondent banks in Georgia and Florida last July.

Mrs. Manley testified yesterday that her husband had been "insane since 1913."

The banker's counsel entered a special plea of insanity on Monday when he was arraigned on the first of eighteen indictments charging him with larceny after trust, embezzlement and other criminal offenses in connection with the failure of the bank.

FELLOW PRISONERS TO BE QUESTIONED

As to What They Know of the Lynching of the Three Negroes at Aiken. Columbia, S. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Fellow prisoners of the Lowman negroes in the Aiken jail on the night the trio was taken out and lynched in Columbia today to be questioned on what they know of the circumstances surrounding the invasion of the jail.

Six of them, two white men and four negroes, were transferred from the Aiken jail to the state penitentiary here late yesterday.

Three of the number were grilled late last night by W. W. Rogers, state detective assigned to the case by Governor McLeod, after the New York World had printed affidavits from two other prisoners implicating several officers in the lynching, but the detective declined to say what information he obtained.

D. A. Worley, one of the white men who is serving a life sentence for murder, was brought to Columbia by Sheriff Nollie Robinson, of Aiken county, and State Constable J. Percy Harg, both of whom were named in the affidavit of Mrs. Lucy Mooney as being among those who took Bertha Demon and Clarence Lowman from their cells on the night of October 8th, a few minutes before the negroes, accused slayers of Sheriff H. H. Howard, of Aiken, were shot to death in a little pine thicket near Aiken.

THE COTTON MARKET

Active Months From 3 to 7 Points Higher.—Inquiry For Cotton Cloths From India. New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was quiet but generally steady in today's early trading.

Liverpool cables were better than due, and the cold wave in the South was regarded as setting any further question of further crop development, but these features failed to create much buying interest.

First prices were 1 to 3 points higher, and active months worked about 3 to 7 points net higher, January selling at 12.42. Demand was supplied by realizing combined with a little Southern selling, however, and the market held within a range of 4 or 5 points during the first hour.

Private cables reported trade calling with some local and London buying in the Liverpool market, also an extensive inquiry for cotton cloths from India, although a majority of the offers were unworkable.

Cotton futures opened steady: December 12.28; January 12.40; March 12.64; May 12.87; July 13.10.

VALUE OF THE STATE'S MINERAL PRODUCTS

Marked Increases Through the Greater Use of Stone and Clay. Raleigh, Nov. 11.—Marked increases in the value of minerals produced in North Carolina during recent years have arisen through a greater utilization of stone and clay products, including kaolin and shale, a report to the department of conservation and development from Dr. J. S. Studley today reveals.

Still further possibilities in the commercial uses of slays and shale for fire proofing face brick and various types and qualities of tiles are highly attractive. The department is constantly investigating and reporting upon mineral resources with the view of providing data for industrial development.

In 1920 the value of mineral products was the greatest up to that time in the history of the state and amounted to $8,160,763. In 1925 a new high record for mineral production value amounting to $11,042,517 was set.

The 1924 mineral production of the slight decrease in the value of the 1924 mineral production as compared with that of 1923 was due to a falling off in the amount of crushed stone and gravel used for road work and also to a decrease in the price of kaolin and mica.

Although a large amount of investigations of geological formations of the state has been done, from an economic as well as scientific point of view there is a great amount of study still needed, and which would, in all probability, yield good returns on the investment.

HALL-MILLS TRIAL IS STOPPED FOR THE DAY

Protest From American Legion Causes Somerville, N. J., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The biggest drama in the history of this small town was stopped for a patriotic interlude today.

A protest which Alexander Simpson, special state prosecutor, said he had received from representatives of the American Legion caused an eleventh hour change in the original plan to hold court on Armistice Day as usual for the Hall-Mills murder.

A Jacksonville news dispatch tells of a man in Florida who has already celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary and who smokes three boxes of cigars a week and gets away with it.

THE PRESIDENT AND PARTY ARRIVE AT KANSAS CITY TODAY

For the Dedication of the Liberty Memorial, Kansas City's Monument to World War Heroes.

"COOLIDGE LUCK" IS COMMENTED UPON

Friendly crowds which lined the streets from the Union station to the Hotel Muehlbach welcomed the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

A troop of cavalry from Fort Leavenworth, Kans., several companies of Boy Scouts, American Legion members and Girl Scouts in uniform gave the event an Armistice Day touch.

The President was taken directly to the hotel and went immediately to his suite, reserved for him to rest until the dedication of the great memorial.

The renowned "Coolidge luck" was commented upon by members of the President's party as they stepped from the train under sunny skies and with memories of yesterday's snow storm and wintry weather through which they passed in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

Yesterday's temperature here was ten degrees or more below freezing. At the same time today the thermometer registered higher, and this bright sun was carrying the mercury above the freezing point. Senator Capper, of Kansas, one of the first callers at the hotel, was followed a few minutes later by Governor and Mrs. Baker, of Missouri.

Entering their automobile from the hotel soon after 10 o'clock to the accompaniment of cheers of the crowds, they drove the two miles to the memorial.

Crowds applauded them along the route, the numbers increasing to a dense throng, until they reached the avenue of American, allied and state flags leading to the edifice.

A salute of trumpets greeted them as they walked to the speaker's stand. The exercises began immediately with a call to worship by a bugle corps, and the invocation by the Rev. J. N. V. McKay, Roman Catholic priest, of Kansas City.

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon has tentatively accepted a proposed funding settlement by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad for its wartime government loans, providing the proposal is promptly executed.

Low Water Cause of High Liquor Prices

Durham, Nov. 10.—Low water in the streams in this section is expected to result in the high price of locally produced Christmas liquor.

The far-fetched connection is explained by Sheriff Harward, of Durham county, who contends that the small trickles in formerly full-flowing streams have not been sufficient during the past few weeks to permit moonshiners to condense their liquors. Many of the former under-cover places are now useless and it is hard to find the seclusion necessary and the running water essential to the manufacturing process. Result: Low water, high liquor.

THE WEATHER

Fair and continued cold, probably heavy frost on the coast tonight; Friday, fair with rising temperature. Diminishing north and northeast winds.
