VITAL STATISTICS FOR CONCORD SHOW JANUARY INCREASE

Forty-Eight Babies Reported in January But All of Them Were Not Born in That Month.

Vital statistics covered in reports submitted to W. M. Sherrill, registrar for Concord, show an increase both in births and deaths for January, 1927.

Forty-eight babies reported in January, 1927. Reports submitted by five physicians recorded 16 births during the last month as against only four submitted for January, 1926.

Thirteen deaths were reported in January, 1927. Mr. Sherrill's figures show, whereas 20 were reported for last month.

Forty-eight births in all were submitted by physicians in their January report but only sixteen of these occurred in January.

Fourteen occurred in December, two in November, three in October, three in September, two in August, three in June, four in May and three in April.

Twenty-seven deaths also were submitted in the January report, one having occurred in October, two in November, four in December and twenty in January.

Of the 27th deaths reported eleven were of males and eight were of negroes.

Heart maladies caused the greatest number of deaths of the 27, the report shows, eight having died with diseases that affected the heart.

Three of pneumonia, three of influenza and four stillbirths were reported. The other deaths were caused by a variety of diseases and causes.

Of the 48 babies reported, 12 were colored. Of the total 27 were males, this being about the average increase of males over females that prevailed throughout 1926, Mr. Sherrill stated.

Three illegitimate children were included in the 48, two of them being negroes. Two sets of twins were included, also, all being white.

Beginning with the January report, Mr. Sherrill plans to have published each month the names of legitimate babies reported to him by physicians.

"I think the public will be interested," Mr. Sherrill stated, "because a number of persons have asked that this be done."

"Parents who fail to find in the list each month the names of children born to them will understand that those omitted names have not been reported to me. They should urge attending physicians to make their reports in full each month. In most cities in North Carolina and other states, this report is carried in full weekly or monthly and various requests received by me indicate that the public here will be interested in reading the list of legitimate children reported each month."

He explained that stillbirths would not be included. Due to the fact that his January report covers so many months, Mr. Sherrill made public only the names of children born in December and January. The list follows:

Mittie E. Threant, December 12th; parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Tom Threant. Joe Trull, January 1st; parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trull. Parents Mr. and Mrs. December 3rd; parents Mr. and Mrs. Charley M. LAST SERVICE OF THE FRASER REVIVAL IS WELL ATTENDED

The Meetings Will Close Tonight With Service for the Colored People of the City.

The Fraser revival services at the assembly hall of the Concord Hotel were well attended yesterday at the night service every seat being taken.

The meetings will close tonight with a meeting for colored people at the court house, all the local colored pastors co-operating. The Jubilee Singers, whose rendition of spirituals is so heartily commended, will sing tonight, and Rev. Mr. Fraser says he is looking forward to one of the best meetings of the entire campaign tonight.

Yesterday Rev. E. Myers, pastor of the Harwood Hill Methodist Church, was present and gave a stirring testimony, telling the audiences of his definite belief in divine healing.

At the night service a woman long dead was prayed for and God instantly restored her hearing and gave her instant and complete deliverance from rheumatism. Jumping up and down, as the audience looked on, she declared the pain entirely gone.

The Concord Hotel meetings were the best of the entire service. Manager Weirick had erected a platform and changed the appearance of the auditorium, and the acoustic properties were perfect, everyone in the audience hearing perfectly. The great difficulty experienced at the court house has been that the echo is so bad it was hard to understand the speaker.

A rousing vote of thanks was given the hotel, while the audience last night arose and gave a splendid ovation to the Concord Tribune and its publisher for so consistently carrying news stories of the meetings. Many in the audience who had been healed of bodily diseases said they would never have heard of the meetings had it not been for the Concord Tribune's splendid attitude. Mr. Fraser paid a glowing tribute to the newspaper.

Tom Russell, a Concord soloist, and Mrs. Edna Mae Herion, a member of the Fraser party, sang a duet, "The Old Ragged Cross."

The Fraser announced that at the close of the meetings here they would proceed to Spencer for a revival in a tabernacle there. They have been assured of very large audiences and general co-operation. Many Salisbury and Spencer people were in yesterday's audience and greeted the announcement with cheers.

Mr. Fraser last night paid a high tribute to Rev. E. Myers, of Concord, who, he said, was the only minister of the gospel here to extend to him the right hand of fellowship. He also publicly acknowledged "the Christian courtesy" of Dr. Jesse Rowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, whose efforts at arousing interest in Every Christian Evangelism he highly commended. He said these were the only two pastors who had evinced interest in his meetings here. He reported many conversions, and many instances of healing.

The expenses of the Fraser meetings here have been unusually high for a brief campaign, but almost all of this they have borne themselves. The total offerings at the court house, and yesterday afternoon and evening at the hotel, amounted to $31.12. This amount is the smallest the Frasers have ever known in a city of this size, but Mr. Fraser said that he "considered it a blessed privilege to be enabled by God to pay his own expenses because of the many who had been 'born again' at the meetings." No "love offering" or "free offering" for the Frasers' of any kind was taken during the campaign.

VACCINATION GOOD THING, IN OPINION OF DR. CALDWELL

County Health Officer Says Parents Would Be Wise to Take Precautionary Measures at Once.

Although there is little danger of an epidemic of contagious diseases in Cabarrus county there is a large number of cases of different kinds of such diseases and as a matter of precaution residents of the county should be vaccinated at once, Dr. D. G. Caldwell, county health officer, said today.

"Of course there is very little chance that there will be an epidemic of any kind of contagious disease in the county but with the large number of cases that we have at different parts of the city and county it would be the wisest thing for parents to have their children vaccinated as soon as possible," Dr. Caldwell said.

"They should be vaccinated especially for smallpox, whooping cough and chickenpox for there is more of these in the county than any other disease. We have twelve cases of whooping cough in the county now and we also have a large number of cases of whooping cough, with a few cases of chickenpox and diphtheria.

"We are giving a large number of vaccinations here every day and others should take advantage of them and bring their children to be vaccinated."

NO DISPOSITION TO ENTER ARGUMENT AS TO HIGHWAY NAMES

General Mecklenburg Answers Protest of State War Mother.—Admits Resolution Had Been Overlooked

The author of the "General Mecklenburg" articles carried each Sunday in the Charlotte Sunday Observer, addressed an open statement to Mrs. W. D. Pemberton, of Concord, State War Mother, in Sunday's issue of The Observer.

In his statement "General Mecklenburg" admitted that he had overlooked the fact that highways Nos. 10 and 20 have been named for North Carolina soldiers of the World War and suggested that other highways not already named could be "named for some of the civilian leaders who have had distinguished parts to play in bringing about our great system of highways."

The article addressed to Mrs. Pemberton reads: Mrs. W. D. Pemberton, State War Mother: My Dear Mrs. Pemberton: I have no disposition to enter into any contest or argument with you in the matter of the proposal to name highway No. 10 for Governor Morrison and highway No. 20 for Col. T. L. Kirkpatrick. I would hasten to say, however, that the proposal did not originate with me; it was first made in a bill introduced in the legislature more than a week ago and still pending. At least I have not noted any report that it has been killed.

In your statement published in The Observer a day or two ago, under a Concord date line, you say "General Mecklenburg probably overlooked the fact that these highways were designated 'Old Hickory' and 'Wildcat' by the 1921 legislature." In this presumption, Mrs. Pemberton, you are correct, but please pardon the statement that I believe most people likewise had overlooked the fact.

Upon reading your statement I recalled the action of the legislature six years ago in naming these highways, but I had overlooked it just as most other people had, because the desolation of designating them has been a dead letter. The highways have never been generally known as the "Old Hickory" and the "Wildcat." They have been generally referred to as route 10 and route 20 by the public.

However, we have other important highways that have not been named for our World War heroes which might be named for some of the civilian leaders who have had distinguished parts to play in bringing about our great system of highways.

New York, Feb. 7.—The purebred Jersey bull, Oakwood D.'s Fox, owned by R. L. Shuford, Newton, has been awarded the Medal of Merit by the American Jersey Cattle Club, New York. This gold medal is awarded in recognition of the remarkable production records made by daughters of the bull. Twenty-five daughters of this sire have been tested and three have won Medals of Merit and four have won Gold Medals for high production. The average mature production of the daughters is equivalent to 433 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. The average mature production of the daughters is 625 pounds of butterfat. This means that the daughters of Oakwood D.'s Fox show increased production over their dams of 142 pounds of butterfat per year or 27 per cent. His three Medal Merit daughters all produced over 800 pounds of butterfat, with call, in 365 days. The dams of these cows average 474 pounds of butterfat in yearly tests. In this case the increased production is equivalent to 90 per cent, a most remarkable showing. Oakwood D.'s Fox is the only Medal of Merit bull in the South. Mr. Shuford, the owner, started breeding Jersey cattle 35 years ago with a few foundation cows. Every animal now in the herd, except one cow-and-one bull, was bred by Mr. Shuford.
