

Charitable Advertising

The following sensible article recently appeared as editorial in the Baltimore American...

There seems to be an idea abroad in the community that all charitable societies and institutions should have the free use of the columns of a newspaper to advocate their claims...

To write such communication requires on the part of the writer but the occupation of a few leisure moments, but to publish it in a newspaper necessitates the employment of a workman several hours to place in type, the cost of its proportion of the paper on which it is printed, and above all, the exclusion of paying advertisements to make room for it in the columns of the paper...

The charitable institutions of our city usually make annual reports, which they print at considerable cost in pamphlet form. These reports are read by a few hundred persons, most of whom are familiar with their contents before they read them...

WANTED.—The undersigned Administrator of bona non, cum testamento revocato, of the Pierce dynasty of Wilkinson County, Missis., would like to employ a live Sag Nighthawk of commanding mien and gentlemanly address...

ALIEN LICENTIOUSNESS.—A New German paper is to be started in Pottsville, (Pa.) and the prospectus says: "It is established to advocate the repeal of the despotic and unconstitutional anti license law..."

A GOOD TIME COMING TO TRAVELERS.—A worthy landlord of our acquaintance, whose disposition to accommodate all is much more capacious than his house being applied to by a guest for a bed by himself replied: "I am sorry, sir but it is impossible to night I hope soon to be able to accommodate all travelers."

A young thief who was charged with picking pockets, demurred to the indictment, because he had never picked pocket etc, but had taken them as they came.

GOV. REEDER. This notorious individual has been removed from the Governorship of Kansas by President Pierce, and Mr. Dawson of Pennsylvania appointed in his stead.

It appears that the removal of Governor Reeder has excited a sensation in the Kitchen Cabinet at Washington; and it is supposed that Mr. Dawson, of Pennsylvania, will refuse to stand between the indignation of the free soil democracy of his State and the Administration, and will accordingly refuse to take the place of his friend Reeder.

There is danger from the present condition of things; it stares reasonable men of all parties in the face. Our opponents cry "peace! peace!" when there is no peace. Suppose the tide of emigration continues to flow to this country for the next ten years at the present rate, where will the power of the Government be? In the hands of foreigners, and those of the worst class—German infidels, French republicans and Irish Catholics.

Let the South investigate this matter—let her ask herself how it happens that in the North and North-west States; but then she will be overwhelmed, her rights be trampled underfoot, and her institutions at the mercy of the abolitionists.

Let the South investigate this matter—let her ask herself how it happens that in the North and North-west States; but then she will be overwhelmed, her rights be trampled underfoot, and her institutions at the mercy of the abolitionists.

Here it is in few words. Reeder removed on the eve of the election in the South, for the purpose of bolstering up the sinking fabric of the present corrupt Administration.

During the year ending May, 1855, there were organized two new Synods, viz: Baltimore and Allegheny; and three new Presbyteries, viz: East Mississippi, New Orleans, and Yazoo; and the Presbytery of Nebraska was dissolved.

DEFEATED BUT NOT CONQUERED. The returns of the election in this Congressional District, show that like Mr. Caldwell, we have been snugly Stowed away—in other words, badly beaten.

One thing we may remark, that in this County, as in others, many refused to vote for Col Stowe, because they had neither seen him nor heard him speak, although they believed in the principles of the American Party.

A Toast by a Printer.—At the Franklin festival recently held in Lowell, the following sentiment was proposed, and most heartily responded to by all of the company:

The Printer—the master of all Trades. He beats the farmer with his fast "Hoe," the cooper with his rule, and the mason in setting up tall columns; he surpasses the Lawyer and doctor in attending to his case, and beats the parson in the management of the Devil.

It is supposed by Dr. France that the first person who had the itch was the Devil—hence his title, "Old Scratch."

LATER FROM EUROPE

There is nothing from the seat of war, except that formidable preparations were in progress before Sevastopol for an assault on the Malakoff. Two or three small sorties had been made, but each were repulsed by the allies.

The Turks and Sarlinians had returned from their expedition to Baidar, to Balakava, where another secret expedition is in preparation, destination is not known.

The general prospect of the war is not at all encouraging to the cause of the allies. Some slight successes, it is true, have lately attended their efforts, but they are of no moment.

Three successive sorties were made by the Russians on the French works, on the night of the 15th, the assaults coming from the Malakoff Tower. Each assault was repulsed by the French without material loss.

Another sortie was made upon the English on the night of the 17th, which was also repulsed.

On the 18th, another sortie was made upon the batteries at Careening Bay, which was seriously repulsed.

The report that Prince Gortschakoff had received reinforcements is fully confirmed.

Another Black Sea expedition is being fitted out by the allies, supposed for Odessa, or for the relief of the Turks, who are hard pressed in Anatolia.

The Russian army had invested Kars, and another detachment had advanced upon Kutai, and were hard pressing the Turks in Batoune. The Russians were bringing up their siege guns, and the situation of the Turkish force was considered critical, as the Russians held all the roads to Lazroun.

The British ships were reconnoitering the approaches to Abo.

The Russian official journal complains that on the 3d of July six English boats, under the protection of a flag of truce, entered the harbor of Kanma and plundered the shipping, until driven off by fire from the shore.

Following a prescription.—A man in Maine, who had stolen a watch, gave as an excuse that he was unwell and his physician had advised him to take something.

A friend inquires whether a man cannot vote by telegraph. This is a question for political wire-workers to solve.—Our own opinion is that it depends entirely upon the regulations of the poles.

Death of Horace Greeley's Mother.—The Mother of Horace Greeley died at Wayne, Erie county, Penn., on the 27th of July. The father of Mr. Greeley is still living.

NATIVE AMERICAN SONG

Rise ye sons of old Columbia; Gather to your country's call, On your arms no longer slumber, Rise to aid her one and all; Cast away each feud and faction; Brood not o'er wrong nor ill, Rouse your virtues into action, Love we not our country still!

Hail Columbia! Hail Columbia, Raise the thrilling shout once more, Rule Columbia, Rule Columbia, Conquer o'er sea and shore.

Should the tyrant fall of bluster, Come to take away our gain, Then brave boys we'll make a saunter, And our liberty maintain, And if some blind with fury, Tempt to take away our right, Wait not then for judge or jury, Up and at them—boldly fight!

Rise then, patriots—name endearing, Let the Union ever stand; Raise the Stars and Stripes so cheering, Glorious Banner of our land; Rise ye sons of old Columbia; Rise our common weal to serve, Rise! while now the song enthralls you, Thrilling every vein and nerve, Hail Columbia! Hail Columbia! Conquer as thou didst of yore, Rule Columbia! Rule Columbia! O'er every sea and shore.

A Roman's Epitaph. Some workmen in making an excavation in Algeria, a short time back, came to an artificial tomb, which turned out to be that of a Roman citizen. It afforded no peculiarity of construction, but the inscription runs thus:

"I, Proculus, whose remains repose here, state the exact truth in these verses. I have spent a life without annoyance, exercising the calling of a silversmith, in my house at Circe. I have always been of the strictest probity, and of the most complete frankness toward every man. I have nothing to complain of, for I was always gay and always happy, until the death of my chaste Valeria. I have celebrated with honor and in prosperity, one hundred anniversaries of my birth day; and at last my final day arrived when my enfeebled frame rendered it woe me. The lines which you are now reading, I composed myself, during my lifetime, being permitted so to do by the kind goddess Fortuna, who never forsook me. Follow the path which I have taken; I await you here below. Come!

Social opinion is like a sharp knife.—There are foolish people who, in rashness or defiance, seize it by the blade and get cut and mangled for their pains. And there are wise people who grasp discreetly and boldly by the handle and use it to carve out their purpose.

It is stated as an ascertained fact, that Mr. William Allen, of Claremont, on Jay's river, (Va) will raise for sale this year forty thousand bushels of wheat; and, without some unforeseen occurrence, five thousand barrels of corn.

A RECENT DISCOVERY.—Bismuth has been discovered in Shelby County, Ky. The metal is very brittle and fusible, and exhibits by the blow pipe the genuine characteristics of bismuth. It readily dissolves in concentrated nitric acid to a clear solution. Muratic acid acts but feebly on it. The solution in nitric acid results in nearly pure bismuth, with only slight traces of zinc and iron.

SIMPLE REMEDY.—Common tar, when poulticed down the throat of a horse, is said to be one of the best remedies ever discovered for cholera in that animal. A friend of ours assures us that he has seen it used in a great many instances—often extreme cases—and always with the most perfect success.

A lady and gentleman disputing upon a subject, the lady (saidly) remarked; Sir, we cannot agree in anything. You are wrong, madam, said she. If you should go into a room in which there were but two beds, a woman in one and a man in the other, with whom would you sleep?

With the lady of course, said she. So would I the gentleman said.
