"TIMOTHY" WRITES AGAIN.

Offers More Argument To Show That The Negro Has No Soul.

used of men. They refer also to groups or classes of trees, even the elements. Secondly, Ethnos: a number of people living together, a company, body of men; also applied to a swarm of bees or flock of sheep, etc.

II A nation, people. We find the expression taeshwe—the nations i. e. Gentiles, all except Jews and Christians. III also used of a single person—a nation. Since the Greek terms above quoted have such a variety of opposing meanings, it is plain that the contention between Carroll and "Dog-Killer" should be investigated, and that no mere surface view should be taken, we must go to the bottom of this question, which leads us to the creation. Mr. Carroll shows that God made the plants and animals in great numbers and variety; and that there exist such resemblances between certain plants as well as certain animals as to justify the naturalist in deciding that they belong to our species, at the same time there are such differences between numbers of these species, whether of plants or animals, as justifies the naturalist in deciding that they are different races. Mr. Carroll also shows that species is the unit of which races are the fractions. Hence, to have a species it must be composed of a greater or less number of races. Hence to have a race, it must be a fractional part of a species. Mr. Carroll also shows in his book that God treated man very differently from the plants and animals in this respect as in every other. Having made the plants and animals in species and races, after their kind, He created man in His own image—a single pair; and a single pair is not a species, since races, the essential element of a species was wanting. Neither did God create man a race, since he was not the fractional part of a species. Man is a creation, distinct from the animals, but akin to God; and inasmuch as man was not created in species and races it follows that he could never be composed; and there is not today there never was, and there can never be such a monstrosity as a "human species" or a "race of men." Mr. Carroll shows that after the Deluge, when the descendants of Noah had spread from Ararat to every continent of the earth and has grown rich and powerful, they forgot the terrible lesson of the Deluge, and descended to amalgamation with the negro, as their ante-diluvian ancestors did. These ancient people realized that it was a burning shame and disgrace for them to beget off-spring by a brute, and having violated the law of God in doing this, they went further and repudiated God and their kinship to him, and in order to bring the negro and their progeny by him into the human family, conceived the theory that man is a species of Ape composed of various races of men. This debasing theory and the amalgamation from which it sprung to which leads, spread over all the earth until it swept whites and negroes from whole continents, and populated them with mixed-bloods; the few remaining whites and negroes were confined to certain nations of Asia, Africa and Southern Europe, and even in these this theory and the amalgamation carries with it to raise up a nation which would be his chosen people, and would be peculiar in that they would adhere to monothism, the religion of Eden; and not accept the theory of atheism, nor believe in evolution, and stoop to amalgamation and from this to idolatry. God then gave them his laws: "Thou shalt have no other God before me;" "thou shalt not lie with any beast," etc. But the Israelites frequently abandoned God and his law and plunged into the very crimes they commanded to oppose, and God sent prophet after prophet to warn them of their wicked course, and often visited upon them the severest punishments; as a last resort he sent his Son, Jesus Christ to redeem them from their atheism and the degrading theory that they were simply a lot of highly developed apes, and they were akin to negroes and mulattoes, and that these base-born creatures are Gods children. But rather than abandon their negroism the Jews killed the Saviour, as they killed many of the prophets who preceded him in this mission. This degrading theory which teaches that man is a species of Ape of which the white is the highest and the negro is the lowest, also teaches that the monera, the lowest form of animal life is the result of spontaneous generation, and from this small beginning, the higher orders of water animals were evolved, and that a branch of these evolved into fowls on the one hand, and into the land animals on the other, and that form the higher land animals—the Apes, man evolved. This theory which declares us all a lot of apes, put the negro and mixed-bloods in the family of man, as lower races, which have not developed so far from their "animal ancestors" as their white brothers have.

St. Paul viciously assailed this atheistic theory at its vital point when he said: "All flesh is not the same flesh; but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beast, another of fishes, and another of birds." Thus according to St. Paul, the fish never evolved into the fowls on the one hand, and into the land animals on the other; neither did a branch of the apes evolve into man. The fish and fowl and beast are not akin, but are different kinds of flesh. If this teaching of the inspired apostle was universally accepted it would destroy the atheistic theory of evolution from the minds of man, and with it the debasing belief that man is a species of ape that is composed of five or more races of men, and the elevating teaching of the Bible that man is a creation destined from the animals and akin to God, will at once become the belief of men. The doctrine of Creation, as taught by the Bible, and the opposing theory of evolution, as taught by atheists and infidels, are the only schools that propose to explain the origin of things, man included. Hence, if we accept the Bible we must reject the theory of evolution and this the inspired writers did; in fact we owe our knowledge of the truth of Creation to the inspired writer, Moses; while we are indebted to the inspired, Paul, for the fatal blow dealt the theory of evolution, with its "human species," and its "races of men." On the other hand if we accept the theory of evolution with its "human species," and its "races of men," we must reject the Bible with its teaching that man was created a single pair, "in the image of God," and this the called "evolutionary" churches have done in placing the negro and his

DEATH OF MR. JAMES AYERS.

Some Other Items of News From Pilot Mountain.

Pilot Mt., June 28.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. Jim Ayers, which sad event occurred at his home near Meggs, this county, yesterday morning about 6 o'clock. He had been sick with typhoid fever for the past few weeks, and his conditions were considered serious all along until the end, and all that medical skill could do was of no avail. He was a well known and highly respected citizen and was esteemed by all who knew him. He was once a stockholder in the bank at this place and had many friends here who were made sad by the news of his death. He was twice married and leaves a wife and several children to mourn his departure, who have the sympathy of the entire community and to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Died in Stokes county, N. C., on the 12th of June, 1905, Themer Neal, daughter of B. A. and Eller Neal, aged 28 years, 11 months and 15 days.

Messrs. J. H. Boyles, Wm. Henley, and Misses Anna Lois Henley and Francis Marshall went on the mountain Wednesday and all report quite a pleasant day, although very warm for climbing mountains.

Revenue officers J. T. Sheppard and Chas. A. Banks captured and destroyed two blockaded distilleries in the Low Gap section of this county week before last. They consisted 75 and 80 gallon coppers, worm and doublers, 13 fermenters and 2500 gallons of beer. One of the distilleries was running in full blast when the officers arrived but the operators escaped.

Mr. W. A. Douglas, left today for Madison, where he goes to bid in or contract some brick buildings.

MADISON.

Madison, June 30

During a severe electrical storm one day last week lightning struck a stable on the land of Mr. Jesse McCollum in Wentworth township, and killed a horse for John Wall, a hard working negro. There was another horse in the stable at the time, but escaped uninjured.

Mr. Bill Jones, of Mt. Airy, has completed the granite work on Dr. Roach's residence and it is one of the finest pieces of rustic granite in the State.

Mr. Thomas Baker, who left this county 15 years ago and settled near Danville, Va., came in Tuesday on a short visit to his brother, Alex Baker, at Ellisboro. Mr. Baker's wife is visiting her brother, Richard Alley, at Pine Hall.

Mr. Z. L. Wall, one of our oldest citizens, who lives just west of Madison, was in the city Wednesday and reports that the rains have not caused so much damage in his section, with the exception of possibly a little to the wheat crop.
