

Webster's Warehouse

MADISON, N. C.

TO THE TOBACCO GROWERS OF THE PIEDMONT SECTION :

We call your attention to the fact that we have put our warehouse and stalls in good condition, and that in addition to our last year's buyers we will have with us Mr. Will G. Penn, of Danville, Va., who will represent several large manufacturers of this country as well as of Canada.

We want to impress you with the fact that we have talked the good qualities of your tobacco to outsiders and have gotten them interested, thus creating new competition that did not exist years ago. We know some of our competitors boast of their big factories. We recently visited a city 200 miles south of us; this same city had eleven big cotton mills, some of the smokestacks seemed to pierce the very sky. One would naturally think this a great cotton market. I happened to make inquiry and was told by reliable people that cotton never brought any more there and often not as much as it did 25 or 30 miles away where they had no cotton mills. The cotton growers accused the big mill men of getting together and fixing the price. Human nature is about the same the world over, and what holds good with cotton, holds with tobacco. Our buyers here buy on commission and they are aware of the fact that if our prices are not equal to other markets of the country we will not get the tobacco to sell. So you can see the situation at a glance.

Webster's Warehouse doubled last year's sales, and if the tobacco growers of the Piedmont section will do themselves justice, we will double again. On account of the favored location of Madison we ought to make this a 10,000,000 pound market. No manufacturer can make a good chew without some of these good sweet tobaccos, to mix in with the nondescript, grown in other sections. And they know when they buy on the Madison market they get this kind exclusively. Therefore it is no trouble to get buyers. But tobacco is what we want to fill these large orders.

Remember we are large buyers ourselves.

And we let no grade from a sucker to a $50 wrapper sell on our floor for less than it will bring on any market.

So the matter dwindles down to this proposition: You can haul your tobacco 40 to 60 miles, or you can haul it 10 to 30 to Webster's Warehouse and get just as much cash as you can get by going the long distance.

Do your own choosing, gentlemen.

R. P. WEBSTER & SONS.

THE NEWS FROM A RUSTLING TOWN

Tobacco Beginning to Come In, And Bringing Good Prices--Merchants Expecting Big Trade This Fall.
Marriage Of a Popular Young Couple--News Items and Personals.

Madison, N. C., Sept. 18--Business is opening up briskly in all lines here. New tobacco is beginning to come in, and is selling at good prices. The merchants are receiving their fall stocks, and many of them are displaying beautiful lines of goods. Though the tobacco crop is realized to be short, it is hoped that the increased prices which our tobacco men believe will prevail, will compensate in a large measure for the lack of pounds.

This market will be entirely up-to-date. Will be represented by buyers from all the big manufacturers, and when it is considered that Madison is so much nearer and easier of access to the farmers of Stokes and Rockingham than other markets, it is felt sure that our market is destined to be the leader in prices.

Madison now has a telephone exchange that is equal in service to any of the cities.

The old Masonic lodge is being reorganized by Mr. Bahnson, State Lecturer, of Davie county. There are about 20 applications for membership.

One of Madison's latest adjuncts is a pool room.

We have now a first class graded school. Rev. Mr. Wilson is principal, and has several good assistant teachers. The school has already 100 pupils, and the attendance will increase from now until Xmas.

Mr. R. P. Webster went to Greensboro Monday to meet his daughter, Mrs. M. V. Miller and children, Misses Elizabeth, Addie, May and M. V. Miller, Jr., from Greenville, S. C. Mrs. Miller and children will spend about thirty days with relatives and friends here.

Mr. Sterling Webster has decided to locate at Madison. He will buy leaf tobacco at this market on order.

Madison expects to more than double her tobacco sales this year.

Quite a number of Madison people went to Winston-Salem last Tuesday to hear William Jennings Bryan speak.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized here last Saturday afternoon at the handsome residence of Mr. G. W. Martin on Academy Street. The contracting parties were Mr. Tom F. Webster and Miss Mary King. The bride is the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. King, and is noted for her beauty and accomplishments. The groom is a member of the firm of R. P. Webster & Sons, of Webster's Warehouse, and is also of the firm of Webster Bros., leaf tobacco buyers, of Madison. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends and relatives. Rev. D. P. Tate officiated. The many friends of the popular young couple offer sincere congratulations and the best of good wishes.

Ben Kahill's chair factory here is one of our leading industries, and is doing a nice business. The plant will be enlarged at an early date. Mr. R. P. McAnally, of Saxon, was a visitor among us Saturday. Also Mr. J. M. Hill, of Sandy Ridge.
