

THE MADISON DRUMMER

Published Once a Week By the Business Men of Madison, North Carolina.

September 20, 1906

PLANTERS' WAREHOUSE, LEWIS, HUTCHENS & CO., Proprietors.

MADISON,
N. C.

To Our Friends and Customers of North Carolina and Virginia: We take pleasure in returning thanks for your liberal patronage given us during the year just closed, and ask for a continuance of the same. We will be better prepared to serve you than ever before. We have built plenty of new stalls and repaired the old ones; we will have good warm camp rooms for you and plenty of dry stalls for your stock. The demand for tobacco on the Madison market this year will be double that of any previous year. Tom Meador is our Auctioneer, you know him, and this means the top of the market and the last little dime for every pile of tobacco sold with us. R. H. Lewis, one of the oldest tobacco men in the State, and who stands as a fine judge of the weed, will follow the sale and push every pile to the top notch. T. J. Hutchens and T. L. Lewis are Book-keepers and want their friends to sell with them. R. S. Thomas, our clever Floor Manager, will be glad to serve his many friends.

Wanted!

Hoops for Hogsheads.

On account of so much tobacco being sold at Madison I find it hard to get a sufficient supply of hoops.

I am in the market for a large quantity and will pay the best price.

A. H. Wood's is the place to satisfy the "inner man."

♦♦♦♦

Madison wants 10,000,000 pounds of tobacco this season.

♦♦♦♦

More than 15,000 people will read the Drummer this week.

♦♦♦♦

If you don't get in the "Drummer," you are liable to be left.

♦♦♦♦

The Websters are hustlers—Bob, Bob, Jr., and Tom. They are pullers right.

♦♦♦♦

Publicity for the leading merchants and business men of Madison is what the Drummer is here for.

♦♦♦♦

Why haul your tobacco 40 to 60 miles when Webster's Warehouse will get you just as much, and save you miles of mud.

♦♦♦♦

Madison appreciates the trade of Stokes county. Come and learn more of us. We are your friends, and want you to be ours.

♦♦♦♦

T. J. Hutchens asks his Stokes friends to stand by him at the Planters Warehouse. The highest market prices guaranteed.

♦♦♦♦

J. C. Gravely invites his friends to come in and inspect his splendid stock of dry goods, notions, shoes, clothing, and gents furnishings, millinery and groceries. Look out for the date of his millinery opening.

♦♦♦♦

The ladies of Stokes county will save money by visiting the store of D. W. Busiek & Son before purchasing their fall millinery. Come and let us show you our beautiful line of cloaks, furs, and everything that you may need at the lowest prices.

♦♦♦♦

J. H. Moore—"Honest John" they call him—wants your trade on flour, hay, meal, meat, shipstuff and all heavy groceries. His prices are the lowest. Give him a call and he will give you a square deal. There are no "knockers" in Madison.

♦♦♦♦

L. J. Lackey is ready and waiting for his Stokes county friends with a stock of clothing, shoes, hats and gents furnishings that will compare favorably with any establishment in the State as to quality and style, and at prices guaranteed the lowest. You will lose money if you buy before inspecting his stock.

♦♦♦♦

One of the handsomest as well as one of the cheapest stores in the Piedmont section of North Carolina is that of McGehee Bros., at Madison. Their stock of dry goods, millinery, clothing, shoes and notions is entirely up-to-date. They invite their Stokes friends to make their store headquarters when visiting Madison.

♦♦♦♦

The Websters buy on order and contract about  $\frac{1}{3}$  of the tobacco sold on the Madison market. They have the largest independent order in the United States, and of course it pays to sell with them. They have the nerve, cash and experience to make all grades of tobacco bring the highest prices. They guarantee that tobacco put on their floor will bring as much as on any market in North Carolina or Virginia.

"Hardware Tom" Pratt is so well known to the people of Stokes and Rockingham counties that he needs no introduction. Indeed, but say "Hardware" and you think at once of that splendid honesty, that rugged integrity, that hearty whole-souled handshake that makes you feel welcome at once and that has made Pratt's Hardware store a household word in hundreds of homes in Stokes county. A place where honesty, square dealing and the lowest prices prevail.
