STOP BUYING DAISY MIDDINGS.

A Correspondent Urges Farmers To Make their Supplies at Home.

Germantown Route 1, March 25.

Mr. Editor: Please allow me a space in your valuable paper for a few words.

I want to say something in regard to the farmers in this section of the country.

There are nine out of every ten of the farmers buying flour and daisy middlings. Brothers, you have got to do better than that. If you don't, another short crop of tobacco will put you all in the public works. It used to be that just a few renters bought such stuff, but now land holders and all buy it.

Brother farmers, I know you can do better by experience. I have been farming 31 years, and a renter about 12 years myself. I have raised a large family of children and am now up in the fifties.

I have bought one sack of daisy middlings in my life. I have bought 200 pounds of flour, maybe, and 200 pounds of bacon. The year before I was married I bought two barrels of corn and paid one dollar a bushel for it. I made corn enough out of that the next year for me and my wife and had some to sell, and have been making plenty ever since and to sell. If it comes a wet day the road is full of wagons going after "chop," and if they fail that day, they will keep going till they get it. They will lose two or three days going after it, and they lose time enough to clean up creek bottoms that would make more corn than a half dozen sacks of daisy middlings would be worth.

Farmers, stay at home next wet spell and clean up briar thickets, hedges, etc., and next year we will need no daisy middlings. Next fall when you cut a barn of tobacco let your wife cure it and you go and pull old Bill some fodder. The tobacco will bring 7 or 8 cents anyway, and if you don't pull him some fodder, he will be so poor he can't shake his tail.

Just think about it, farmer friend, three or four years back two or three stores supplied the neighborhood, and now there are three to one—all making a living off of the farmer, and we could make our own stuff if we would try.

I want to say something about young men in my neighborhood. It takes more money to run one of them than it used to take for me to make a crop on. I don't know what a young girl could promise herself to take one of them for. All the boys think about is hiring horses and buggies, and taking train rides. I know it to be a fact, for I can see it right at home.

PLOUGH BOY.

DOING BUSINESS AGAIN.

"When my friends thought I was about to leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c.
