

SMITHTOWN PRISONERS SENTENCED.

Eight of them Go to Federal Prison --Judge Boyd Sends One Back Home to Warn His Brethren Of the Troubles that Befall Moonshiners.

"What did Judge Boyd do with the Smithtown blockaders?" District Attorney Holton was asked last night, just after his arrival from Greensboro, where he has been since Monday prosecuting for the government in the Federal Court, which adjourned yesterday afternoon, says the Winston Sentinel.

"He sent eight of the twelve defendants to the Federal prison at Atlanta, one was acquitted, two got their cases continued until the October term, and Judge Boyd sent one back to Stokes to tell his brethren how hot it was in a Federal Court room," replied Mr. Holton.

The district attorney believes that the man acquitted was perhaps the guiltiest blockader in the bunch. He says the evidence was so strong that he did not argue the case and Judge Boyd made a brief charge to the jury. The verdict of acquittal was a surprise to everybody who heard the evidence.

When the same jury was called to pass upon the next defendant Judge Boyd made it plain in his charge that that was no place for foolishness and that the court expected the jury to do its duty. This time the twelve men were out only about five minutes, returning a verdict of guilty.

The sentences imposed are as follows:

Oscar Williams, illicit distilling, 15 months in the United States reformatory at Washington.

John D. Williams, same offense, 15 months in the United States prison at Atlanta and a fine of $100.

John Young, same offense, 18 months in the prison at Atlanta and a fine of $100.

Oscar Smith, same offense, one year and one day in United States prison and a fine of $100.

Davis Nelson, same offense, 13 months in prison and a fine of $100.

Griffin, same offense, one year in the United States prison and a fine of $100.

John Williams, retailing, was recognized under a bond of $200 for his appearance at the next term of Federal Court. Judge Boyd exacted of him a promise to tell all the other parties near Smithtown of what had befallen those who were tried here and to warn them to obey the law.

Logan Chambers, for illicit distilling, was given 16 months in the United States prison at Atlanta, and was taxed with a fine of $100.

James Shelton, who operated a still in connection with Chambers, was sentenced to a term of 14 months in the United States prison at Atlanta and was fined $100.

After the prisoners had received their sentences they were led back to the jail.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES.

North Carolina Leads in the Manufacture and Production of Tobacco.

Washington, Sept. 9.—North Carolina takes first rank among all the States engaged in the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco, according to a bulletin on the manufacture of tobacco in the United States, which has just been issued by the Census Bureau. There were only 39 establishments engaged in the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco in the State in 1905, as compared with 80 such establishments in 1900, but there was a notable increase in the value of the products. This increase during the five years mentioned was $11,876,905, or 87.1 per cent. The total value of the manufactured product of smoking tobacco in North Carolina in 1905 was $25,288,721. Rather unusual is the fact that the number of establishments decreased by half during the period mentioned. This situation is attributed to the prevailing centralization methods in almost all branches of business. There was a big increase in the amount of capital employed in these manufacturing enterprises, which jumped from six and one half to more than thirty million dollars in the five years named. The number of wage earners was practically the same in both years but wages increased from $869,170 in 1900 to $1,230,088 in 1905. The cost of materials used doubled during the five years. The jump was from $4,230,049 in 1900 to $8,861,772 in 1905.

In the consumption of tobacco for the manufacture of chewing and smoking tobacco North Carolina took rank over all other States. The total number of pounds consumed in the Tar Heel Commonwealth was 87,440,484. Missouri comes next with a record of less than seventy millions in pounds consumed. North Carolina also led in the production of smoking and chewing tobacco. The total production was 68,502,499. Missouri ran a very close second, while Kentucky was third and Virginia fourth.

North Carolina does not take very high rank in the manufacture of cigars and cigarettes. However, the value of these products in the State increased from $299,844 in 1900 to $2,599,284 in 1905. The number of factories was sixteen, and they consumed materials in 1905 to the value of $1,187,579, as compared with a consumption of $82,053 in materials in 1900. The number of cigars and cigarettes manufactured in the State in 1905 was 75,940,210, of which number 14,751,790, were cigars.

The State of Maryland and Virginia produced 82.2 per cent of all the little cigars manufactured in 1904, while 85.5 per cent of the cigarettes were made in New York and Virginia.

MURDER IN SURRY COUNTY.

John Hutchens, of Siloam, Killed by Nathan Donathan--Trouble Was Over Some Chickens.

Winston, Sept. 8.—Mr. John Hutchens, a well-known farmer of Siloam, Surry county, was murdered Saturday evening by Nathan Donathan, a tenant on Mr. Hutchens' farm.

After shooting Hutchens, Donathan took his gun and beat the man's brains out with the stock. Mr. Hutchens died in a few minutes.

Donathan was arrested and is now in jail at Dobson.

The trouble between the two men originated over some chickens. It appears that when Donathan moved on Mr. Hutchens' place he was told that he could not keep chickens unless he kept them cooped. Donathan paid no attention to the notice. His fowls began interfering with Mr. Hutchens' truck patch and Saturday evening the owner of the land went over to remonstrate with Donathan about his chickens.

The tenant flew into a passion and began cursing his landlord. His next move was to get his shotgun. He snapped it several times, but the gun refused to fire, it being unloaded.

Donathan went back to his house, loaded his gun and returned, shooting Mr. Hutchens down.

Both are men of families. The dead man was well liked in his community. Donathan is said to be a man of bad temper.

A Good Word For Mr. Kitchin.

Speaking of Mr. Kitchin the Greensboro Record truly says:

"He has enemies eager to see him defeated for the nomination, but while he may have been a little indiscreet, these enemies have been worse. Their zeal is running away with their judgment. You can cuss him all you please, but 'Bill' Kitchin is honest and frank. He is no demagogue; far from it; what he thinks he says and what he promises he will stick to if he thought thereby he was going to be defeated. It has in fact been said of him that he was too frank and open; that it would be better for him to leave unsaid many things, that there is no call for them; but this is not Kitchin; what he thinks, that he considers should be known by the people and he spouts it out. This is not saying that the other candidates are not just as honest, as open and as frank, but they are diplomats and use more tact."
