FROM MR. BARNETT

AN ENCOURAGING LETTER

The State Secretary-Treasurer and Organizer of the Kentucky Farmers' Union writes County Organizer Glidewell of the Stokes Union.

Paducah, K., Nov. 10.
Mr. C. W. Glidewell,
Mayodan, N. C.

Dear Sir and Brother:

Your inquiry of the 31st ult. received this morning, and I take great pleasure in answering your questions.

First, I beg to say with emphasis that any statement made by any paper or individual that the F. E. & C. U. of A. has gone to pieces in Kentucky, is a malicious falsehood designed to bring about dissension among the people of your State, as the last hope of the speculators to control conditions. The facts are that the members of our Order, The Farmers' Union, have already pooled more tobacco than ever before, and are standing firmer than ever before, since we have had organization. It is a scheme of the speculators to dissatisfy our people. The daily papers of Paducah a few days ago published the same thing about the Burly Pool up in middle Kentucky, three hundred miles from here. It is the same old trick of the Tobacco Trust.

Advertising is cheaper than to pay the people the full value of their tobacco. When we put on our first pool of cotton in 1905, the Georgia papers published that Texas Union Cotton Pool was bursted and the Union cotton was being dumped on the market at a wholesale rate, and the Texas papers published that the Georgia Union Pool was bursted, and had gone to the bad, and every fellow was rushing to get his cotton on the market first, when the whole thing was a lie, published by the cotton speculators to mislead our people, but the scheme failed and fell flat, and the Union stood firm and got even more in many instances than they asked.

I warn you people to not be taken in on such rot, but know your position and stand firm. I am informed that the leaders of the Burly Pool put some tobacco on public sale in order to force the growers to pool more solidly, which I am informed they are doing.

Hoping this will eliminate any further suspicions, I am very truly,
R. S. BARNETT.

There he received all the attention that human hands could administer, and I am informed that he never received an unkind word. He is survived by six children out of a family of 12: Mrs. Sarah J. ## THE COVE ON BOOM

POPULATION IS INCREASING

Mr. L. J. Lackey Leases Hotel and Will Remove To Cove—More Dwelling Houses Needed—Other Items From Our County Towns.

Walnut Cove, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Hanes Linville has been very sick, but is better at this writing.

The little boys in town are in hard luck. The land has got so scarce and precious there is no where for them to set their rabbit traps.

There was considerable excitement on the streets Friday evening. A young man by the name of Harrison got on a supply of "oh, be joyful," and became very boisterous, so much so the police had to take a hand and carry him to the lock-up, which was no small job. His fun cost him near five dollars.

George Cookers is slowly recovering from a very severe case of fever.

Mr. Dick Fulton's house is nearing completion. The plasterers are now at work.

Mr. Jones, from Martinsville, was here last week looking after buying some lots.

We will soon have a new doctor in town. Look out for his shingle in the near future, cures without the knife or medicine.

Our town seems to be getting on a boom. Several new families moving in. Mr. James Vaughn has moved in the house recently vacated by Mr. Oscar Petree, and Mr. Glidewell will move here next week, and also Mr. Levi Lackey will move here soon. He has rented the Walnut Cove hotel.

Several land deals lately, and more being talked of. Now is the time to buy a lot it seems to me, when you can get a nice building lot, and a fine location for one hundred dollars. We need more houses. There are a dozen families who want to come here, but can't get houses to live in. Fine opening for some progressive man to buy and build a lot of houses to rent.

We people of the town have laid in our winter's supply of coal and the country people are bringing in rabbits by the bucket full, and we should be happy and contented.

Mr. James Vaughn, one of the track foremen, was badly hurt Monday morning. While driving a spike the head flew off and cut a bad gash in his forehead.
