ERROR CORRECTED.

Correspondent Resents the Inaccurate Statements of Items From Moore's Springs.

Westfield Route 1, Feb. 16.

Mr. Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper to correct a few mistakes made in the items from Moore's Springs last week in regard to the spelling bee and ball game between Moore's Springs school and Quaker Gap (Old Orchard). The Moore's school was not challenged for a spelling match or ball game either, but as they came on any way we let them spell. The score of spelling was 13 and 15—not 13 and 17, nor were there any seventy-five pupils present, either. The item left the impression that they spelled (with their eleven) seventy-five pupils here. There was only eleven on each side and I suppose there was about fifty persons present in all. They stated that Miss Rosa Shelton didn't miss a word. We deny the statement. She (Mrs. Rosa Hall) missed the word "grievously," which was spelled by Miss Topsy Morefield. As to the ball game I don't think anything was said to the teacher about having a ball game, but we are willing and ready to play a game any time they want to and will spell them any time when they will not bring married ladies and those who are too old to go to the public school. M.

Marriage of Mr. James Jennings and Miss Florence King.

Pinnacle, Feb. 13.—On last Sunday, Feb. 12, at the plain but pretty country home of Mrs. S. J. King, a simple yet pretty marriage was solemnized, when her daughter, Miss Florence King, and Mr. James Jennings were happily married.

Softly to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, beautifully rendered by Miss Lillie Belle Smoak, did the bridal party enter the parlor. First came the sister of the bride, Miss Vevie King, wearing a delicate shade of blue silk, with Mr. Robe Coe; then came Miss Dora Wall, attired in brown satin, with Mr. R. C. King; then the bride and groom entered, the bride wearing a lovely grey silk and the groom wearing blue serge. A very impressive ceremony was then performed by Rev. W. H. Wilson, of Greensboro. Immediately after the ceremony a three course luncheon was served. In the parlor red candles burned dimly, while in the dining room green candles shed their soft rays.

On Monday a reception was given at the home of Mr. E. L. Smoak, uncle of the groom.

After March 1st the young couple will be "at home" to their friends at Pinnacle, N. C.
