FARMERS' UNION.

Reports Indicate a Marvelous Growth Throughout The State. Charlotte Chronicle.

The growth of the Farmers' Union for the past two months, in North Carolina, has been marvelous and it seems to indicate that Southern farmers have at last realized what sort of commercial condition they are up against and are determined to meet organization with organization. The busiest place in Charlotte now is the Union official headquarters of the Farmers' Union of North Carolina. Secretary E. C. Faries is working an extra force to keep up with the growing volume of business and it will be several weeks before he can get well up with the work. More than thirty charters have been issued for new organization during the past week and reports from organizers in the field are coming in every delivery of mail at the office. In many of the older organized counties new local unions are being organized and delinquents are being renewed to membership. And the most gratifying part of it is that hundreds of farmers who have been standing out of the Farmers' Union, viewing it with a critical eye, are connecting themselves with the organization. The outlook for the Farmers' Union was never more encouraging, and its members have reason to rejoice in its healthy growth, development and progress. The commercial world realizes that it is a factor to be reckoned with and it is making history that no similar organization has ever made.

Germanton, March 15.

Dear Reporter:

As this is my second letter I will write again. I am a little girl eight years old. I have three little sisters smaller than me. I go to school every day. I study third reader, spelling and arithmetic. My teacher's name is Miss Vergie Martin. I like her fine. My desk mate's name is Gertie Hartgrove, she is my play mate too. Well I will close by asking a riddle. As I went down yonder I met three ladies in a trot, green neck, yellow toes, tell me this riddle I will give you my nose.

The Way to Pay For Good Roads.

Our taxable property is not high enough, and our industries are not great enough, and our farms are not sufficiently developed and rural districts are too sparsely settled for us to think about keeping our noses to the grindstone by taxing ourselves and paying as we go for good roads. The way to get good roads is by a bond issue and we will have the good roads, and our children will have them too. The county will develop so rapidly that our children can and will pay for these good roads and will never realize it.—Ashboro Citizen.

Va.-Carolina Farmers To Pool Tobacco Crop

Danville, Va., March 16.—The interstate meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, which convened here yesterday, came to a close after two secret meetings held today. The principal business before the union was the consideration of a report of a special committee appointed yesterday to investigate and make recommendations concerning the tobacco conditions in Virginia and North Carolina.

It was learned this afternoon that the union decided to pool the 1911 tobacco crops in Virginia and North Carolina, and hold their product in dry prizeries until a price they deem reasonable is secured. No definite statement was given out by the union after the meeting. The session today were attended by about 500 farmers, only those having the password being admitted to the room.
