MANY DEATHS RECORDED

Sunday School Convention at Delta
—Protracted Meeting to Begin at Oak Ridge—Crops Fairly Good

Campbell, July 24.—Death, the grim reaper, has been busy in our section for several months. We give below a list of those recently called from time to eternity, since our last letter:

Evelyn, the 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Watkins; Alonzo, the three week's old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Hutcherson; the infant son of Charlie Shelton, whose mother died quite recently at Carter's Mills, Va.; the infant of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wood, aged 6 months; one of the infant twins of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson; Mrs. John Shelton, and one week later her baby died, aged about 10 days; Mrs. Mammie Martin Landreth died last week and was buried at the home of Mr. J. T. Martin. She leaves a husband, 5 children and many relatives to mourn their loss. During her last illness she professed strong faith in Christ, and died trusting his power to save her. Burial services were conducted by Miss Viola Smith, who paid a loving and fitting tribute to the gentle faith and christian life of this dear mother and friend, May the words of this dear lost one be not soon forgotten by those left behind.

Mrs. Will Murphy continues quite ill. On last Sunday services were conducted in her home by Elders, Priddy and Mabe, after which she related her christian experience to the church and was gladly received into their fellowship.

It was the writer's good fortune to attend the Sunday School convention at Delta. An excellent program of songs, drills, marches, recitations, etc., was rendered, and the audience was delighted with the fine singing and beautiful decoration. Dinner was served on the grounds, after which Oak Ridge Sunday School presented a short program. Most of the children were small from this school, made one think of olden time singing: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings than hast perfected praise." We cannot bring our little ones to Jesus as did those mothers of old, but we can at least do our part to bring them up in the way they should go, trusting to God that when they get older they will not depart from it. We do not know of no better way than this to carry them to the Sunday School. No one pretends to teach them christianity, only tell them of our Father and His love.

The protracted meeting will begin at Oak Ridge the first Sunday in August. Everybody is invited to come, and all will be heartily welcome.

Crops are fairly good considering the dry season, while we have had more rain than other sections. Still we have not had as much as needed. There is not half a crop of tobacco around here, and what we have is small and late. Irish potatoes are almost a total failure, and snap beans are scarce. Wheat turned out very well, some averaging 15 bushels to the 1 bushel sown.

A Letter From Fries, Va.

Fries, Va., July 22.

Dear Reporter:

Ties that bind me to the old hearth stone and to the old folks I reverence who used to spank me when I was little to make me a good boy, turn my thoughts to the Old North State and cause me to search your columns for news of home and of home folks.

Am at Fries, a little town nestled in the valley on the crystal span of New River, in Grayson county, Va., near the west line of Carroll county, 45 miles from Pulaska, 5 miles from Grayson Springs, 17 miles from Independence, the county seat of Grayson, 5 miles from Galax, where the twin county fairs for both counties, Grayson and Carroll are held each year. Am as well content as I am liable to be anywhere. We have good neighbors. I love the people and the country. My family is healthy, happy and content. The ties that bind my heartstrings about the old hearthstone, and fond recollections that bring my childhood play-houses to view incline me to home and loved ones.

Old New River, figuring only as a snake's path on our country's map, is one of the grandest in point of water power on the continent. Soon to be proven and put into use by the gigantic plans presented by the Power Company now at work along her borders developing her power that has so long run unhindered toward the ocean waste. In point of scenery New River presents some of the most wonderful features. Finding source in Watauga county, N. C., far back between the Blue Ridge and the main chain of the Alleghanies, she winds her way across, carving each outlying chain of the mountains, to the Canaway river, thence to the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico. Rising in the Holley and rhododendron, crossing the outlying ranges of one of the grandest chains of mountains on the continent, she winds her way to the floral dells of the tropics, carving a path of floral romance and beauty, the charms of which by the loves of natures handwork can only be seen to be appreciated. The town is peaceable and orderly. Occasion for arrest is a rare occurrence. Pointing to the lock-up seems sufficient to restore peace and quiet when disorder arises. All forms of gambling is frowned down. Whiskey is not allowed to be retailed in any form at all. The Company has erected public Lyceum, designed for the entertainment and recreation of their weary employees where any one may go and enjoy roller skating, see the moving pictures, enjoy public speaking, theatrical performances. A public reading room provided with the popular journals of the day. With all I have written of the Lyceum which only affords pleasant pastime, entertainment and innocent amusement for any one who may choose to enjoy it, where good order is invariably preserved. Some call it the company's wheel of fortune only designed to return their nickle to them. Such are usually blind to anything not embraced within the church walls. Without wide awake to all that yields to them a penny. The company is far sighted and wide awake to their own interest. It is true, seeking the best harvest from their investment—shrewd in business—drive sharp bargains and draw strict contracts, though liberal in many ways. The smartest and best men and women are employed by them, and rewarded according to services rendered. Their aim is to make the best cloth and get the greatest yield from their looms for the number of hands employed, turning everything to best account possible. They own many hundred acres of land on which Fries is located.

BUMPER CROP OF CORN IN STOKES

Mr. W. A. Petree Points Out the Great Importance Of Attendance At the Farmers' Institutes at Danbury and Walnut Cove.

Mr. Editor:

While we entered the present crop season with less water in the soil than usual, and while the rain-fall has been much less than usual since the corn crop was planted, and some of our farmers have against our advice, left their corn too thick on the land. Yet notwithstanding the dry weather most of them have by proper methods of culture conserved what little water there was in the soil and made the best possible use of it in the growing of their corn crops. And should it be reasonable from now on there will be, perhaps, the largest corn crop made in Stokes this year that has ever been grown in the county.

Now just a word about the Farmers' Institutes at Danbury and Walnut Cove this year. I want to insist that the farmers of the county attend one of these meetings, either at Danbury on August the 9th or else at Walnut Cove on August 10th. And especially I do want all of our farm demonstrators in the county to attend the meetings. It is not so much a question as to whether or not you can afford to lose the time to attend these meetings, but the question is: Can you afford not to attend them. Last year there were over 1,000 specialists appointed to instruct the farmers in such meetings, and over 2,395,908 attendants. And when we remember these men have been specially prepared to teach the farmers and help them to better succeed in their business, we should see that we cannot afford to miss going to hear them when we have an appointment to do so.

May say that Mrs. C. R. Hudson, wife of our State Agent in the Farmers Demonstration work, will be at Danbury to assist in the Women's Department of the Institute, and we suppose that Mr. Hudson himself will also be present. Let us all go and have a good and profitable time.

W. A. PETREE.

BIG TIME EXPECTED AT DANBURY, AUGUST 12

Hon. Joel B. Hart, of Tennessee, to Address the Farmers At The Picnic.

Westfield, July 31.

The Danbury Reporter:
To the members of the Farmers' Union:

At the recent State meeting of the Union we secured the services of the Hon. Joel B. Hart, of Tennessee, and he will be at our picnic at Danbury on the 12th of August, and deliver one of his great speeches. It is worth going miles to hear, as he has been in the work for many years and in fact was the first man to advocate the pooling system as the only rational way of handling or selling tobacco. Mr. B. F. Conner, of Danville, will also be there and possibly Mr. Hill, of Granville county, N. C. So you see there are great things in store for us. Be sure and come but don't forget that basket.

Yours truly,

Certain Times Best to Cut and Cure Tobacco.

Mr. Editor:

Forty-six years ago, just after returning from a four years service in the Confederate army, I began the work of growing tobacco. A few years later I discovered that there were certain dates to cut the weed in order that it might have a heavy body and cure up easily and with brightness of color. Since that discovery I have been very attentive in studying the nature of tobacco while growing on the hill and the result of my experience and much study is that I have found how to tell the dates in each season. There is a sap in tobacco as in a tree. It also at intervals, contains an oily substance. When the sap (water) rises in tobacco it runs the oil out, as oil and water will not mix, is a fact that we all know. When the sap is out it leaves only the oil and if then cut it will cure up "oily and waxy" as some express it. Tobacco makes these changes as long as it remains on the hill. Farmers have experienced cutting one week and their tobacco cures up nicely—good and then cut a week later off the same piece of ground and it will cure mean by "sweating" and turning black. The latter is because the sap is in tobacco instead of oil, which goes to show that tobacco should be cut at a certain time. I will gladly correspond with those who will enclose a stamp for repl.

Yours truly,

AT CHESTNUT GROVE

AN INTERESTING REVIVAL

Many Conversions and Several Added to the Church—Fire On Pinnacle Route 2.

King, August 1.—One of the most interesting revivals has just closed at Chestnut Grove M. E. church. The meeting seemed to be interesting to both Baptist and Methodist. They all worked together in union and seemed to be in harmony with each other. The weather was fine, and a large crowd attended the meeting all the week and special good order prevailed during the whole time. There were many conversions and a goodly number was added to the church and many seemed deeply convicted on account of their sins. There were good sermons preached day and night. It was what one might call a union meeting in which religion was revived in general. Those that took part in the meeting were Rev. Richerson, of Pilot Mt., N. C.; Rev. Norman, of Yadkin county, N. C.; Rev. P. Oliver, of King Route 2, N. C.; and Rev. J. M. King, of Piney Mt., N. C., which lasted eight days, closing July 30. Rev. P. A. Simmons, of Vade Mecum, and Rev. J. M. King, of Piney Mt., will hold a several days' meeting at Olive Grove Baptist church, beginning the first Sunday in August at 11 o'clock. All are invited to come out and hear these men speak.

Mr. E. W. Lane and Alex Hooker, of Pinnacle Route 2, happened to the misfortune of losing their house and contents by fire one day last week. The fire originated from a defective flue. They lost all their wheat and meat. A few things were saved. These men lived on rented land. They belong to the Farmers' Union; they have the sympathy of all. The Farmers' Union will see after the needs of these two men. They will appreciate any service rendered them. None but those who have experience knows how one feels to see all that he has going up in flames.

Mr. A. M. Boyles, of Spray, N. C., is visiting his many friends and relatives in the Oak Grove section. Glad to have him with us.
