Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gunter Tender the Young People Enjoyable Time—Personals.

Stuart, Va., Dec. 18.—The school of this place is progressing nicely under the good management of Miss Sallie Smart, and will close Friday for the holidays, with recitations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gunter gave the young people of this community quite an enjoyable party Wednesday night, which was much enjoyed by a large crowd.

I think Mr. Charlie Ray, of Francisco, is quite struck at Mr. W. R. Gunter's as he calls every Sunday and once or twice in the week.

Messrs. Sandy Gilbert and Hugh Nowlin called at Mr. C. C. Nowlin's Sunday p. m. What's the attraction, Hugh? Miss Georgia, I guess.

Misses Lilla and Nellie Gunter entertained a few of their young friends Sunday p. m. Among those present were Misses Lena and Lottie Martin, Messrs. Raleigh Clark, Robert Creasey, Abe Martin, Bud Gray, Willie Martin, and Andy Hudson; and others to numerous to mention.

A SPLENDID YIELD

BY A 15 - YEAR - OLD BOY

R. W. McAnally Sells 1,251 Pounds of Tobacco Grown on Two-Thirds of One Acre.

Mr. Editor :

Few of our Stokes farmers realize the amount of any crop that may be grown on an acre of land here in old Stokes. Of course we often read of splendid yields of various crops in other sections. We barely give them a thought, believing such to be impossible with us. This, however, is not the case. And I would be glad if the Reporter would make it a point to get together statistics of all extra good yields of the various crops that we grow here at home. It would awake a spirit of rivalry, perhaps, and if neighbor Jones over there can do that, will see if I can't do as well as he did.

R. W. McAnally, a 15 year old boy of Stokes county, recently sold on the Madison market: 1,251 pounds of tobacco at $126.50, and he had only 3,500 hills, or about two-thirds of an acre, planted to tobacco. W. has done as well or better. Let's hear from others.
