Hydrophobia Among Dogs and Hogs—A Number of Dogs Being Killed.

Madison Route 3.—Some of our farmers are still sowing grain.

Quite a number of hogs are being killed hereabouts this time.

It seems that the dogs affected with hydrophobia are spreading the disease in this community, not only among dogs; but hogs as well. As it seems that our citizens are ignorant of the law or disregard it, I think it well to publish the section of revision, 3,305. If the owner of any dog shall know, or have good reason to believe, that his dog, or any dog belonging to any person under his control, has been bitten by a mad dog and shall neglect or refuse immediately to kill the same, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars to him who will sue therefor, and the offender shall be liable to pay all damages, which may be sustained by any one in his family by the bite of any such dog, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Limit fine not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. A little negligence often causes a lot of trouble. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Messrs. J. W. Varner and Pete Vernon returned Thursday from Winston, where they had been at work for a while.

The young people enjoyed an apron party at Mr. J. F. Lewis' Saturday night.

Mr. Lester Ward is moving to Mr. J. W. Gann's today.

Miss Cora Joyce had a quilting Saturday.

Mrs. J. T. Richardson has her children of W. Va., visiting her at present.

LIGHTNING KILLS FEW.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madson, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at all druggists.

Mr. W. J. Johnson, of Germantown Route 1, has recently killed some very fine porkers. He killed one that weighed 444 pounds and another that weighed over 400.

ATTEMPTED RUICIED.

Mr. Leander Bennett Drinks Laudamum—Dr. R. H. Morefield Given Birthday Dinner.

Vade Mecum, Dec. 11.—The farmers of this section are about through sowing grain.

Property sold high at Mr. W. H. Vaden's (deceased) sale on the 6th inst, especially such as feed stuff.

Your correspondent was informed that Mr. Leander Bennett who lives near here attempted suicide one day last week by drinking three bottles of laudanum and attempting to drink the fourth one, but was prohibited from doing so by one of his tenants. It is reported that trouble was the cause of the act.

The neighbors and friends of Dr. R. H. Morefield gave him a surprise birthday dinner on the 10th inst. A large crowd of friends and relatives were present and all reported a nice time.

SAVED HIS WIFE'S LIFE.

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Experiment In Aeronautics Results Disastrously—A Fable And Its Moral.

The first Danbury person to experiment in aeronautics is Mr. William Mounce, Jr., who last Friday night about dark rose suddenly from an advantageous point on the hill south of Danbury, described a few precarious curves, executed a few dazzling stunts, then hit the ground with more force than grace. There were no eye-witnesses to Bill's spectacular feat, but there is good evidence that it was really stunning—at least the last act was. Persons in the neighborhood, over their late suppers, recall certain detonations which were unmistakable. The aeroplane was not much hurt by the fall, but the motor was severely skinned up, the cargo distributed up and down the hill, while severe pains were distributed up and down the Bill.

This is a fable, which is adorned with a moral. But it is more full of truth than poetry. The facts are these: Bill was returning from Walnut Cove with a load of groceries, and as he attempted to drive his little mule over the precipice intervening between the top of the hill and the lower level, his steed lost its footing, and the next instant mule, wagon and driver together with all the appurtenances thereunto belonging, turned over and rolled down the incline. The wagon was not so much battered as the mule, while Bill's arm was pretty badly hurt in the fall. Daisy middlings and Arbuckle's coffee were sown on the plowed grounds below the road in indiscriminate confusion.

Not long ago Bill was discussing vehemently the condition of the public roads when he was asked by a good roads man:

"How much will you give towards building a sand clay or macadam road from Danbury to Walnut Cove?"

Bill looked down, scratched his head, then looked up with great public spirit and beneficence shining in his eyes:

"I will give 50 cents." His voice trembled over the idea of his proposition being accepted.

"How many days do you work on the public roads per year?" "Generally about six," he replied.

"Well suppose," asked the good roads man, "that you could get out of working on the roads at all, how much tax would you be willing to pay to get a good modern road?"

"I wouldn't give over 50 cents," Bill said.

And this is the kind of reasoning one is met with among the enemies of good roads.

ENDS WINTER'S TROUBLES.

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost-bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold-sores, red and rough skins, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Bruises, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

It is reported that Mr. S. C. Hill, of Germantown, has the largest hog in the county. It is said that it will weigh over 600 pounds. Who can beat that?

Physicians Failed To Help Mrs. Green, But She Finally Found Relief in Cardul.

Meetez, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well."

One day, I decided to try some Cardul. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and it cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardul will do for sick women."

A few doses of Cardul at the right time, will save many a big doctor bill, by preventing serious sickness.

It tones up the nervous system, and helps make pale cheeks fresh and rosy. Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardul. Suppose you try it.

It may be just the medicine you need.

Pilot Mountain, N. C., Nov. 1st, 1911.

DEAR SIR:—

We again return to you our sincere thanks for your past patronage, and we feel and know that we will make it to your interest to continue same.

We have the best corps of buyers this season we have ever had by far. We have all of the leading tobacco concerns represented here this season, The American Tobacco Co., The British American Tobacco Co., The J. N. Boyd & Co., of Richmond, Va., Hancock Bros. & Co., of Lynchburg, Va., L. Ash, of Statesville, N. C., Robt. Harris & Bro., of Reidsville, N. C., Penn & Watson, of Martinsville, Va., all are represented here either by man or order. Competition is very strong on all grades here this season, from the trashiest lug to the highest wrapper. We averaged today $11.12, which is $2.00 above the average on other markets.

If you will patronize us this season we will have a permanent market established at home which is very important to you. Thanking you again for past favors, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
