MUCH NEWS OF INTEREST

Messrs. Samuel Blancett and John Frans, Confederate Soldiers, Seriously Ill—School To Close With Entertainment — Young People Given a Dance.

Peter's Creek, Va., March 4. —As I haven't seen any news from this section for quite a while will write a short letter.

The people are very much behind with their farm work. But very little work has been done with the exception of burning plant beds.

Mr. Willie Lawson, who was accidentally shot several weeks ago, is improving nicely and is able to get out again by using his crutches.

Messrs. Samuel Blancett and John Francis, two of the oldest men of our community, they both being old confederate soldiers, are confined to their beds, their condition being very serious.

Our section is being well supplied with telephones. Messrs. W. W. Leak and Eugene Smith have recently put in new ones, while there are many others in the neighborhood preparing for a new line.

The Sandy Creek school, taught by Miss Eunice Lipscomb, closed last Wednesday. Miss Lipscomb will return to her home in Nottaway Co. after a few days visit.

Mr. R. R. Collins gave the young people of the section a nice dance last Wednesday night, which was enjoyed by all present.

Our school girls here seem to be very attractive as the Big Creek boys call right often, especially the Frans Bros.

Miss Jettie Collins spent last Thursday night with Miss Lillie Leak.

Miss Dora Padgett has returned home after a three week's visit in Danville, Va.

The school will close at this place Saturday, March 23rd, with an entertainment. Prof. J. T. Smith will deliver the literary address and a very interesting program will be rendered by the school.

Testimony For the Sand-Clay Road From Guilford.

Guilford's roads in the future will be sand-clay. This quality of road will be built almost entirely in the country.

Such roads may be built at not more than one-third of the cost of the macadam roads and are believed to be more useful and durable.

Sand-clay will be used almost entirely in future road building and repairing, and in the course of a few years, if the system is worked out as planned, Guilford's entire network of good roads will be of this material. Not only will the new road be built of sand-clay, but the macadam roads will probably be resurfaced with sand-clay, which will make an excellent surface for the rock already down on the macadam roads. — Greensboro News.

FIGHTING SMALLPOX.

The Relative Merits of Quarantine and Vaccination.

Smallpox is no longer quarantined under State laws. Formerly, all contagious diseases were combatted by means of quarantine. Smallpox was never successfully wiped out by quarantine. It has been entirely abolished in whole nations by means of vaccination.

Below are compared

THE RELATIVE MERITS of these two methods of combatting smallpox. Quarantine aims to prevent those having smallpox from coming into contact with, and possibly infecting others. This is only valuable after the disease has been diagnosed. Bear in mind that smallpox is contagious from the very first symptoms of the disease. Vaccinated persons exposed to smallpox, either before or after the disease has been recognized. Vaccination gives every protection afforded by quarantine and gives it better. In short, quarantine only closes the stable after the horse is stolen, while vaccination locks the door before he is stolen.

THE RELATIVE DISADVANTAGES. Rigid quarantine (and that is the only quarantine that is quarantine) protects only during the period of quarantining. Vaccination protects for from five to fifteen years or longer.

Mild cases of smallpox are frequently mistaken for chickenpox or measles. Such mild cases may transmit the disease in its most virulent form. These mild cases are rarely promptly safeguarded by quarantine. Vaccination absolutely protects against all kinds of smallpox at all times.

Quarantine is unjust because the expense of quarantine is paid by the taxpayers and as a rule they constitute the vaccinated population of a community, who neither need nor derive any protection from quarantine. Vaccination incurs no expense upon the unvaccinated. It affords them much protection, however, by preventing the vaccinated from propagating the disease.

The annual loss to the State from smallpox is approximately $200,000. A rigid quarantine is estimated to cost the taxpayers an additional $100,000 a year. The latter amount alone would be more than enough to vaccinate the entire population every five years. Then there would be no more smallpox or quarantine. History bears out this statement. Quarantine ever fosters smallpox, as it lends a false sense of security and thereby encourages an unvaccinated population. In view of all this evidence, any city or county that so desires may quarantine smallpox. If they deem it wise they may even quarantine headache or rheumatism. On the other hand, they may also have general vaccination just as easily. Which will we have?

The Bank is the Safest Place to Keep Money.

The Bank is the place to keep your money always. You hardly ever pick up a newspaper without noticing where somebody has been lifted out of their hard-earned money. Sometimes while carrying a wad in your pocket, it slips out and is gone before you know it. Keeping your money in an old trunk or chest in the house is dangerous. It causes thieves and burglars to lay for you, and sometimes they will take life and burn property to cover their tracks.

The Bank of Stokes County will pay you interest on your money from the day you put it in to the day you take it out. Four per cent every 3 months.
