N. GLENN WILLIAMS CASE

Decreed By Judge Boyd That Defendant Pay Costs and Go Free.

Greensboro, June 11.—In the United States court here yesterday afternoon Judge Boyd decreed that N. Glenn Williams, who was convicted two years ago with T. C. Craft, of conspiracy to defraud the government in the purchase of stamps at the Williams postoffice in Yadkin county, should pay the costs of the case within the next few days, and upon arranging this, stated he would pass sentence, with a proviso that the sentence should be held in abeyance from term to term so as to give Williams the opportunity to pay the fine, which under the statute, cannot be less than one thousand dollars. The costs amount to eight hundred dollars and Williams' attorneys said he could arrange this in a day or two. Craft is to go without costs or a fine.

N. Glenn Williams was indicted and tried jointly with Thos. Crafts and wife, Mrs. Crafts having been postmistress at Williams, N. C. It was alleged and shown by the government that in order to make the office sustaining and to keep in Williams bought postage stamps for each and resold them in New York at five per cent. discount.

The government's theory was that Williams shared with the postmaster the salary attached to the official and that it was necessary to show large sales of stamps to keep the office and to make the salary what it was.

During the proceedings District Attorney Helton made no motion in the case, no argument for the imposition of any specific punishment nor any comment on that of Williams' attorneys, neither did he offer any suggestion to the court as to what disposition should be made of the cases. Mr. Williams with his wife and Mr. Craft, were present. When the case was called, Judge Strudwick made a motion for a new trial on error committed by the Judge on the former trial, in permitting certain testimony to go before the jury which had no legal bearing on the case. This was argued at some length. After an intimation from Judge Boyd that he did not feel inclined to deal harshly with defendant and that he thought these matters should be cleaned up, and later when Judge Boyd announced his decision, the motion for a new trial was withdrawn, both of Williams' attorneys and Judge Strudwick and Judge Bynum expressing satisfaction at the arrangement pronounced by the court.
