

NEWS OF KING.

Entertainment By Chestnut Grove Sunday School-- Personals.

King, Dec. 30.—Christmas has passed off very quietly, one of the quietest for a number of years. But despite the rough weather every one reports a very enjoyable time. There has been quite a lot of visiting in this section.

Mr. W. W. Boyles, formerly of Stokes, but who now resides in Norfolk, Va., is spending the holidays with friends and relatives at the old home place, having spent 3 or 4 days of last week with his uncle, Wade H. Boyles, of King Route 2. This being his first visit to this country for a number of years his friends which are numbered by the score were glad to see him back.

Mr. M. M. Boulden and brother, of Randolph, spent several days during Christmas with Mr. T. W. Gentry, of King Route 2.

There has been a lot of hunting for the past week and every one reports game the scarcest for a number of years.

Mr. N. I. Boyles, of High Point, and his brother, Chas. R. Boyles, of Mt. Airy, who are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Boyles, of King Route 2, spent Christmas day with friends in Mt. Airy and report a very enjoyable time.

The Chestnut Grove Sunday School, which has been conducted with great success for the past season, closed last Sunday with a Christmas entertainment rendered by the little folks. The manner in which the little ones of a Sunday School conduct themselves is evidence of the interest that is manifested in them by their parents and the older ones of the Sunday School. SCRIBBLER.
