FOR MEADOWS BONDS

Township Commissioners Receive Bids From Several Bond Dealers.

ALL WANT 6 PER CENT.

Geo. Lewis, One of the Meadows Commissioners, In Favor of Making Six Per Cent. Rate—Thinks Work Should Now Be Postponed Until Spring—Much Tobacco Still Out.

Mr. Geo. Lewis, of German-ton Route 1, was here on business Tuesday. Mr. Lewis, who is one of the Meadows township road commissioners, informs the Reporter that a number offers have been received from bond-buyers offering to take the Meadows bonds, but that all want six per cent. Mr. Lewis is of the opinion that the bonds in the first place should have been made to bear six per cent. and that they should now be changed to that end. While Mr. Lewis is of the opinion that the bonds should be sold as early as possible, he does not think it advisable to undertake to build roads until after the severe weather of the winter has passed, and that the operations during the fall and winter should be confined to securing proper surveys, etc., for the correct location of the roads.

Mr. Lewis says that the late storms of wind, hail and rain, together with the horn worms, wrought immense damage to the tobacco crop in his section, and that it is an unusually sorry crop as a result. A large proportion of the crop is yet uncut in his neighborhood, though it will be taken in largely this week. All farmers who have been to market are well pleased with the prices.

Realizing that the school building should be the model of cleanliness in the community the women of the Betterment Association have set Wednesday afternoon as a period for cleaning up and have extended an invitation to everyone who will take part.

DECIDED SUCCESS

About Fifty Thousand Pounds Brings Average of Nearly Twelve Cents.

Walnut Cove, Oct. 1. (By telephone.)—The opening sale of tobacco at the new Stokes County Warehouse here today was a decided success, nearly fifty thousand pounds of weed being offered. The average price of all the tobacco sold was nearly twelve cents, notwithstanding the fact that the quality of the tobacco sold was very inferior. There were probably two hundred farmers who sold tobacco here, through most of them had only small lots of the weed.

Quite a number of buyers are here now and the prospect for good sales at the warehouse is very bright.

The Value of Prohibition.

The statement is given out that 3,000,000 gallons of whiskey are being shipped into the State, per year, whereas before prohibition went into effect the quantity shipped into the State was more than 20,000,000 gallons per year. A saving to the people of the price of 17,000,000 gallons of booze, which cost probably $41,000,000, is not bad for the prohibition law, to say nothing of the ruin of life, property, health and character which the extra 17 millions would cost.
