A BIG FARMER

Very Little Wheat Being Sown—Good Attendance in Schools.

Oak Grove, Oct. 13.—The public schools of Yadkin township opened Monday, 13th, and the compulsory school law brought out many children that ought to have been out years ago. A lot of the people are growling at the teachers and say they are not competent. You cannot expect first class teachers with out a first class price. If the county commissioners would put out assessors who would value the property higher we would have more money, better schools and good roads. When a man prices his mule to you at $200 he gives it in at from $50 to $75, his land from $25 to $200 per acre and is mad because it is valued at $7 an acre. Let's get out of this old rut and make this the garden spot of the world.

The farmers of this section are about through cutting and curing tobacco with the exception of Mr. C. H. Lunsford. Mr. Lunsford has taken care of seventy-two barns and has several more in the field. The high priced tobacco is causing the farmers to neglect their wheat crops. They are stripping and hauling day and night. We know of some farmers that are not going to sow any wheat. They say that they can make more stripping and selling their tobacco and buy flour, which we think is a great mistake. Try to make an all around crop from the garden up.

The farmers are beginning to gather their corn and they find a lot of it damaged. We think it was caused by the wet weather.
