Suffered Stroke of Paralysis About Two Years Since And Never Fully Recovered.

Mr. Matt Mabe, a well known merchant and good citizen of Danbury Route 1, passed away at his home Sunday evening at 5 o'clock after an extended illness following a stroke of paralysis about two years since. He also suffered for some time with an affection of the heart.

The deceased, who was aged about 70 years, was one of the county's best citizens, and raised a large family, all of his children making good honorable citizens. The wife of the deceased preceded him to the grave by nearly two years. The following sons and daughters survive: Messrs. Rufus, John, Matt, James and Wesley Mabe, and Mrs. William Bondurant, Mrs. Moses Mabe and Mrs. Thomas Priddy.

The interment was made yesterday at the family burying ground near his home, attended by many relatives and friends of the deceased. The services were conducted by Elders Fagg, Priddy and others of the Baptist church.

Man As He Really Is.

A man's life is full of crosses and temptations.

He comes into this world without his consent, and goes out against his will, and the trip between the two is exceedingly rocky, says the Chicago Trade Journal. The rule of contraries is one of the important features of the trip.

When he is little the big girls kiss him, but when he is grown up the little girls kiss him.

If he is poor, he is a bad manager; if he is rich, he is dishonest.

If he needs credit, he can't get it; if he is prosperous, everyone wants to do him a favor.

If he's in politics, it's for pie; if he's out of politics, you can't place him, and he's no good to his country.

If he doesn't give to charity he is a stingy cuss; if he does, it is for show.

If he is actively religious, he is a hypocrite; if he takes no interest in religion, he is a hardened sinner.

If he shows affection, he is a soft specimen; if he cares for no one he is coldblooded.

If he dies young, there was a great future ahead of him;

if he lives to an old age he has missed his calling.

The road is rocky, but man loves to travel it.

If you want smooth sailing do exactly the right thing at all times and do not trouble yourself as to what others may think your motives are.
