

REV. R. W. GEORGE

Our Wealthiest Citizen Favors Woman Suffrage, Will Vote For the Amendments and Predicts That Prohibition Will Be National Within Ten Years.

Rev. Robt. W. George, of Francisco, was among the citizens who visited Danbury this week, and while here paid the Reporter a pleasant visit.

Mr. George is a Presbyterian minister and is withal our county's wealthiest citizen, owning near four thousand acres of land, besides four large roller mills and various other property. He is in his 67th year, though he doesn't look that old. He is very much pleased over the fact that the county will soon erect a large steel bridge across the Dan-ear his home, and he will purchase an automobile for his personal use as soon as the bridge is completed so that he will have a better outlet. He will have the machine built to his order as he has not seen one that is just what he wants.

Mr. George is heartily in favor of woman suffrage, and believes that the women would vote and fill the offices just as well as the men do. He gives the women the credit for the work that has been done in securing prohibition and predicts that within the next ten years prohibition will be national.

Asked as to what he thought of the amendments to the constitution to be voted on next week he stated that he favored them all, and especially the one providing for a six months school term. "No country," said he "can be what it should be unless its people are educated."

Some years since when the cotton mills of Fries, Va., and Mayodan, N. C., built a private telephone line connecting their mills the lines passed over a very large scope of Mr. George's land and he gave them a right of way and presented them with all the poles needed, and as an evidence of their appreciation of Mr. George's liberality they not only allowed him to tap their line but built him a private line from his home to Westfield, and he still has the only telephone other than those at the two big mills on the Mayodan-Fries line.

Death of Samuel Moran.

Mr. Samuel Moran, a minister of the Primitive Baptist church, passed away at his home near Meadows Saturday, after a short illness.

The deceased was the son of Elder Alex Moran, of the same section. He was nearly forty years of age at the time of his death and was a good man and valuable citizen of his community. He is survived by his wife and seven children of his immediate family, besides many other relatives.

The interment was made Sunday at Clear Spring church graveyard, Elder J. A. Fagg conducting the burial services. A very large crowd of people were in attendance at the burying.

A Happy Home

(Read What Peruna Did)
Mrs. James F. Summitt, No. 1006 East Eighth St., Muscatine, Iowa, writes:

"My health was so miserable for years that I was practically an invalid. We had no family, owing to my ill health. I was induced to give Peruna a trial, and found very quickly that it was helping me.

I am now well and Happy. We have a Baby Boy He is our first and only child.

"I am now well and happy. We have a baby boy, which we believe is the direct consequence of my improved health. He is our first and only child, and if Peruna had not cured me of my ailments we should never have had him. I hope every suffering woman will give Peruna a trial, the same as I have."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Meeting of Stewards.

There will be a meeting of the stewards of the Walnut Cove Circuit, M. E. church, at Stokesburg church, next Saturday, Oct. 31st at one o'clock P. M. Let all the stewards attend and come prepared to settle the salary of the pastor in full.

This is very important as the merchants who have furnished something to live on have waited long for their pay.

Yours,
E. J. POE.

Carl Ray's Work In The Carolina League.

The following story relative to Pitcher Carl Ray has been sent to the Baseball World:

It has been learned here that Carl Ray, the premier twirler of the North Carolina League last season, has been drafted by the Birmingham Barons. Ray has orders to report to the Barons on November 1, and accompany them on a barnstorming tour thru the Southern States, along the gulf and to Cuba.

In this husky country lad, the Birmingham club has a pitcher of great promise who some day is going to sing his song in the big leagues. He is only 22 years of age and was known as the Iron Man of the circuit last year. It was no unusual thing for him to pitch three and occasionally four games a week, and no matter how hard he was worked, he never seemed to weaken. He worked in 45 league games last year, winning 28, losing 13 and tying 2. In addition to this, he worked in three of the five games of the post series with Norfolk, winning all of them, and also in several exhibition games before the season opened.

The season of 1914 was Ray's first full season in professional ball. His work first attracted attention in 1912, when, pitching for Whitsett, he fanned fifteen members of the local league club in an exhibition game. He was immediately signed by Manager Clancy, of the local club, who saw in him a twirler of promise. He worked with the locals during the 1912 season, but failed to establish a reputation owing to his lack of control. He was sent home before the season ended, but the local club refused to relinquish its claim, and he was given another tryout in 1913. He opened that season like a whirlwind by pitching and winning two of the first three games played. But his wildness again caused him to be sent home before the end of the season. In 1914 he was back again, this time to stay. He won his first twelve games and lost the thirteenth on errors by his teammates. Naturally it was proclaimed he was to be sent home again. However, this was not the case, and the season ended with Ray the leading heaver, with room to spare. He was one of the four twirlers to pitch a no-hit game and for a time held the league strike-out record of 15. This was snatched from him by Pitcher John Harper, of Greensboro, now with the Athletics, who fanned 17 Winston-Salem batters on a very dark day.

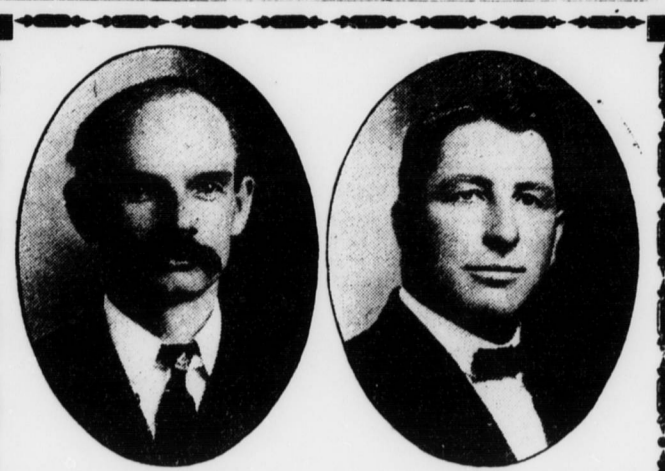

With good catching Ray is bound to prove a winner. He has an underhand ball that, when working right, is a terror to all hitters. This ball is seldom hit out of the diamond, which accounts for his long string of one, two and three hit games.

He is very popular all over the league and won one of the two automobiles given by the American Tobacco Co. to the two most popular players in the league. The good wishes of every fan in the circuit go with the "red haired" southpaw to Birmingham.

Don't forget that when it comes to SOLID LEATHER SHOES, JONES AND GENTRY lead them all.

There is no such thing as buying a few pairs of shoes and getting them at the same price, or as good as we do when we have them made in larger quantities and select our leather before the shoes are made. We do not think it a good policy to buy or advertise cheap shoes made of shoddy leather.

We have what we advertise and you get what you buy. Our customers and friends have realized the fact that we have not let our shoes advance in price. We are selling them at the same old price except Elkin and Jamestown.
