

HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

Will Co - Operate With North Carolina Counties In Road Building - Organized Last Week.

Raleigh, March 31. The State Highway Commission, formally organized here today under the provisions of the special act of the recent Legislature that provides $10,000 a year for the operations of the commission, selected W. S. Fallis of Henderson this afternoon as State highway engineer, in charge of the highway work of the State under the direction of the commission.

Mr. Fallis is an experienced highway engineer who has had special service in many sections of the State and has been for a long while closely identified with North Carolina highway construction. He built the famous highways in Franklin, Youngsville and Leesville sections of Vance County, and has given expert assistance in road building in Columbus, Wilson, Cherokee, Edgecombe, Henderson, New Hanover, Durham and other counties.

The work that the commission will undertake through its new highway engineer is co-operation with counties in the way of expert assistance in road building. There are already 20 counties that have "spoken" for such assistance. Assistant engineers are to be called into the service as required to meet the demands made upon the new division.

The organization of the commission was perfected with the designation of Governor Craig as the chairman and Col. Benehan Cameron as chairman pro tem and active head of the commission, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt as secretary, and E. C. Duncan, W. C. Riddick and Doctor Pratt as special advisory committee to co-operate with the engineer in the details of the work. The other members of the commission are Guy V. Roberts and Prof. T. F. Hickerson, the latter being the member from the engineering department of the State University. Prof. M. H. Stacy was first named for this place on the commission but he could not serve and Professor Hickerson was named in his stead.

Some Solemn Facts.

This is the age of greatest missionary opportunity—the age of open doors. Prayer opened the doors; indifference cannot shut them, but it may keep Christ out. The life of a great nation is being molded for good or ill. The kind of mothers, the kind of homes, the kind of children there are to be in the Orient during the next generation is being determined by our attitude toward the present crisis in the East. Whether the Latin countries are to become more Christian of more pagan depends upon whether we will increase the little leaven that it may leaven the whole country.

The future of our own nation is not yet assured. At least two great non-Protestant religions claim that in a few years they will control this country educationally and religiously. Heathen temples are being erected here. Nothing but the gospel of Christ is sufficient to save our nation. To us is entrusted that far-reaching but difficult work of making our own a Christian nation, strong enough to bear its full share in the world task.

To the Woman's Missionary Council whom God has entrusted with a large part of the work of Christian education in the East, in the Latin lands, and among the mountain, foreign-born and black people here, with medical and evangelistic work among thousands of suffering and misguided people, with a large part in the redemption of the cities and the uplift of the fallen, comes a call for enlargement along all lines. Failure to send out more workers, to enlarge our institutions, to equip them for better work is a refusal to use for Him the power He has given us to do this work.

We are stewards of a gospel that has power to save every race and nation. We are more; we are partners with God in a big business that requires haste. We are helping to build a kingdom.

Our investment of money in the King's business has been shamefully small. Reports from our institutions showing how much larger the work might be; reports from overburdened workers; with their plea for help; the cry from those yet unreached; the needs of unoccupied territory; reports of treasurers of missionary societies and of the churches—all tell a story of narrow vision and selfishness. The pitiful tenth of the income of our poor Southern Methodist folks is nearly four times what we are giving for all religious purposes. We have been negligent, slothful, selfish stewards. Let us begin now to do better.—Leaflet.

Told That There Was No Cure For Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes Jul. Woman Finally Recovers From Nervous Breakdown

Impoverished nerves destroy many people before their time. Often before a sufferer realizes what the trouble is, he is on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. It is of the utmost importance to keep your nervous system in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Rosa Bonner, 825 N. 18th St., Birmingham, Ala., says:

"I have been suffering with nervous prostration for nine or ten years. Have tried many of the best doctors in Birmingham, but they all failed to reach my case. I would feel as if I was smothering; finally I went into convulsions. My little girl saw advertised in the papers and I at once began to take it. I continued to take it for some time and now I am well."

If you are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion, weakness, inability to sleep; if you are in a general run down condition and unable to bear your part of the daily grind of life, you need something to strengthen your nerves. You may not realize what is the matter with you, but that is no reason why you should delay treatment.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

has proven its value in nervous disorders for thirty years, and merits a trial, no matter how many other remedies have failed to help you. Sold by all druggists. If first bottle fails to benefit your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.
