North Carolina Has Highest Death Rate From Typhoid Fever

"North Carolina is at the bottom of the list with a rate of 57.4," says Dr. W. A. Evans in speaking of the typhoid death rate of various states of the Union.

There may be mentioned two conditions as slightly accountable for North Carolina's high death rate from typhoid, but they do not alter the fact that she is needlessly sacrificing several hundred deaths a year to this filth disease.

Whether North Carolina shall tolerate this position and continue to suffer her hundreds to this preventable disease is the question now at stake.

But if she chooses to clean up and tolerate no such conditions, she can go a long way in one summer toward reducing the rate and stamping out the disease.

There is another view of this position given North Carolina, apart from health, that might be looked on with no little consideration.

That North Carolina will continue at the foot does not seem likely even from this mercenary point of view.

Before the heat of summer becomes too great, you had better order that ice box.

Prosperity Is Sweeping the Country

The tide of prosperity grows in volume and impetus. As we have pointed out before, March came to the forefront with a favorable trade balance of $140,969,347.

But perhaps the most momentous items going to show the way the wind is blowing is the news that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and some of the lines controlled by this company have entered the material and equipment markets for supplies aggregating nearly $40,000,000 in volume.

"Not in many years has such a vast single transaction been recorded in railway annals of the United States," says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"It is reported that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company is following up the same policy and its managers are preparing to negotiate for the purchase of several millions of dollars' worth of equipment and materials.

"Other important railway systems will be forced by commercial and industrial activities creating larger volumes of traffic to add to their facilities.

"The agriculturalists of the United States are enjoying a prosperity that no one can for a moment doubt truthfully deny.

"Our agricultural districts are absorbing large outputs from our industrial districts and our foreign export demand is huge for both agricultural products and manufactured outputs.

"Our exports of copper and coal are limited only by cargo space upon the ocean vessels.

"Millions more of pounds of copper and millions more of tons of coal would go from our ports every month if the country had but the steamships to carry them, and our railways would have the transportation of those additional millions of pounds of copper and those additional tons of coal if Senators and Representatives in Congress had paid more regard to the interests of the people of the United States.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried every way I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store.
