The nice rain that we had encouraged the farmers very much and they are very busy preparing for the 1915 crop.

One reason clovers have grown slowly this season has been because of insufficient inoculation. Milk sours quickest and bread rises fastest in a warm room; similarly, cold wet weather keeps the soil bacteria from multiplying into the countless billions that are necessary if legumes are to do best. A little stable manure scattered broadcast is a great help.—The Progressive Farmer.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

United States Will Remain At Peace But Will Seek To Convince Germany Of the Injustice Of Her Crime.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10.—President Wilson tonight gave to a gathering of 4,000 naturalized Americans the first intimation of the course the United States probably will pursue in the situation resulting from the loss of more than 100 American lives on the British liner Lusitania. He spoke by implication, but his hearers interpreted his remarks as meaning that while the United States would remain at peace it would seek to convince Germany of the injustice to mankind of the tragedy.

"America," said the President, "must have the consciousness that on all sides it touches elbows and touches heart with all the nations of mankind. The example of America must be a special example. And it must be an example not merely of peace because it will not fight, but because peace is a healing and elevating influence of the world and strife is not."

"There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

These remarks precipitated a tumult of applause and patriotic enthusiasm attended by waving of thousands of small American flags. The President made no direct reference to the Lusitania tragedy, but the audience did not hesitate to read the application of his statement.

The sentiment expressed in the President's speech was epitomized later by one of his closest advisers as "humanity first." While it had not yet been determined, he said, exactly what steps would be taken by the United States in the present crisis, the idea uppermost in the President's mind was to show that whatever course is adopted—no matter how vigorous—it will have as its objective the good of humanity.

Ten Economy Plans For Farmers

According to a new bulletin issued by Clemson Agricultural College it is good economy to save at many places, and good economy to spend at others. Here are "Ten Economy Plans" suggested by the Clemson authorities:

1. To cut out all luxuries, especially liquors, tobacco, new buggies and automobiles.
2. To cut out some unnecessary, such as tea and coffee and meat three times daily.
3. To save on feed for ourselves by means of an all-the-year garden, certain easily possible substitutions and a ration more carefully blanced to preserve health.
4. To save on food for our animals by means of balanced rations as worked out by experiment stations, substitutions of cheaper feeds and permanent Bermuda grass-bar clover pastures.
5. To save foods for our plants by means of winter legumes, summer legumes and winter grain and legumes.
6. To save on dress by dressing a little less fashionably, a little more simply.
7. To spend money on the house and wife for a water supply.
8. To spend money on the orchard for pruning and spraying.
9. To establish and maintain a logical and practical system of farming in accordance with Dr. S. A. Knapp's "Ten Commandments in Agriculture."
10. To co-operate with your neighbors in organizations, in buying food supplies, fertilizers livestock, in owning and using farm implements, in beginning cream routes, in selling farm and garden produce, in boosting your community and living up to your talk about it, and in a quiet cheerfulness that approaches all tasks with a faith undimmed and a courage undismayed.—The Progressive Farmer.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. For sale by all dealers.
