

TERRIFIC STORM AT WILSON, N. C. One Person Killed and Forty Or More Injured—Property Was Damaged Also.

Wilson, N. C., March 7.—Cutting a clean swath four hundred feet wide for a stretch of many miles, a tornado at 9:30 this morning killed one person, injured two score or more, and destroyed property to the value of more than $50,000, near Evansdale, eight miles east of Wilson.

The only death was that of Azula Faulk, negro school teacher, who was struck by flying timber as she made her way to her school.

Many of the injured were brought to the hospital in Wilson.

On the Woodard plantation, all of nine members of the family were injured. A negro woman was picked up in the dust, hurled sixty feet and thrown into a stream of water, where she almost drowned before being rescued.

The storm was the heaviest ever visited on this section during the space of the minute, lasting a half that it lasted. In fact the destruction was complete. Trees were uprooted and houses were wrecked.

List of the dead.

Augusta, Ga., March 7.—The corrected list of the persons who were killed in the storm at Warrenville is as follows:

Fred Hoover, age 12; Dollie Mitchum, age 8; Mrs. Dollie Boyd, age 19; Theodore Wood, age 2; Lucius Wood, age 2 1/2 years.

Besides the above dead, the following are not expected to live: Mrs. Henry Wood, mother of Theodore Wood, who was killed, and Henry Clark, an employe of the Warren Manufacturing Company. They are both in the Aiken hospital. Five others who are seriously hurt, though expected to recover, are also in the Aiken hospital. There are sixteen other residents of Warrenville who received treatment for cuts, bruises and other minor injuries, some of whom are believed to have been internally injured from falling timber.

Five Deaths In Georgia.

Augusta, March 7.—Five deaths appeared tonight to be the total of fatalities in the tornado which early today ravaged the mill villages near here in Georgia and in South Carolina. The storm centered, according to reports received here at Warrenville, S. C., where in addition to the five persons killed, a number were injured. The nearby Carolina towns of Langley and Graniteville reported no casualties, but accounts of extensive destruction from all three places brought out numerous instances of hairbreath escapes.

In Warrenville, where 25 houses in the southeastern section of the village were demolished, the homeless uninjured immediately set about the work of rescue, guided through the blinding rain in the darkness by cries for help. Many said they had been awakened by the rumbling of the storm and the trembling of their houses just in time to escape.

Home Demolished.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Beard was demolished except for the roof, but they and their five children were not injured. The youngest of the Beard children, an infant a few months old, was trapped under the roof which was left intact like a huge chicken coop and laughed gleefully when taken from a comfortable by a rescuer.

Clothing, furniture and wreckage generally were scattered over the ground and in tree tops by the wind, which, with whimsical generosity, left a large mirror without a crack under the debris of a house and moved a small corrugated iron fire house a hundred yards without disturbing the leaves of a huge oak tree which sheltered it. The small hand reel in the center of the building also remained undisturbed.

Streams Overflowing.

Macon, Ga., March 7.—Streams throughout middle Georgia are still out of their banks as a result of last night's rainfall of 7.37 inches. The Ockmulgee river here was 2.8 feet above the flood stage, standing at 26.7 feet tonight, and the Oconee river at Milledgeville registered 30 feet, a rise of 11.2 feet in the former and 20.4 feet in the latter since yesterday. A further rise is indicated from the up-stream flood.

The Georgia Railroad will not be able to operate a train between Macon and Milledgeville for two or three days, it is announced, because of washouts at Browns bottom, where a trestle is gone and 450 feet of roadbed washed out. Other damage is reported near Mogul.

Bad Washouts.

The Southwestern division of the Central of Georgia Railroad had a bad washout at Powersville, near here, which tied up late tonight traffic until 7 o'clock this morning.
