JOHN M. GALLOWAY DIED SUNDAY

Stricken With Appendicitis On Last Monday—Largest Tobacco Grower In the World—Owned Much Land In Stokes—An Excellent Citizen.

John M. Galloway, the largest grower of bright leaf tobacco in the world, died in Greensboro at the Wesley Long Hospital on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, following an operation on Monday night for acute appendicitis.

Mr. Galloway was well known to hundreds of the citizens of Stokes county, owning considerable real estate in the county, and coming here often.

The following account of Mr. Galloway's death is given by the Greensboro News of Monday:

Monday evening at seven o'clock, while with his family, Mr. Galloway was stricken with his first attack of appendicitis. Physicians were hastily summoned and a quick diagnosis caused them to have him removed to the hospital where an operation was performed within two hours. His condition was considered serious from the outset but his friends were hopeful of his recovery. Saturday evening when the news from the hospital stated that he was resting as well as could be expected and his condition if changed at all, was a trifle improved.

Dr. Stewart McGuire, of Richmond, Va., one of the leading physicians of the country, arrived here yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock to lend his services. But with all the skill of the physicians death refused to give way.

BORN IN TENNESSEE.

John Marion Galloway was born March 3, 1880, at Galloway, Tenn., the son of the late Col. J. M. Galloway and Mary Lawson Galloway. While a mere babe, one year of age, his parents moved to Madison, Rockingham county, where his forefathers from Scotland settled decades ago.

He was educated at Oak Ridge Institute and the University of North Carolina. At the age of 21 he was elected mayor of Madison.

On Jan. 17, 1918, he was married to Miss Margaret Gresson, of Whitesett, Guilford county. Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Galloway resided in Madison, where they remained until August, 1919, when they came to Greensboro to make their home. Mr. Galloway constructed on North Elm street one of the most beautiful residences in the city.

Within a year after moving here he became a member of the First Presbyterian church and faithfully served it as a deacon until his death.

In addition to his widow Mr. Galloway is survived by two little daughters, aged 3 and 2 years. He also leaves several cousins in this section of the State, but outside his immediate family, there are no close relations, he being the only child of the late Col. J. M. Galloway.

Mr. Galloway, although residing in Greensboro, from a business standpoint was more actively identified in Rockingham and Stokes counties, where he owned approximately 10,000 acres of the finest farm lands in those counties. He is said to have had 300 tenants on his farms, and he visited his plantations weekly.

STRONG FOR CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING.

Mr. Galloway gained State-wide recognition through his active campaign for the co-operative marketing association. He was one of the co-operative system's first champions in North Carolina.

During the past year he gave liberally of his time and money to the cause, a cause close to his heart. He visited Virginia, South Carolina and practically every section of the State in behalf of the system.

He believed sincerely that through the new system meant the salvation of the farmer, especially the little fellow. He preached the system's creed with all his power, declaring that big and little would be given an equitable showing.

Until the co-operative system entered North Carolina, Mr. Galloway had never appeared before the public

HUB NICHOLSON COMES CLEAR

Stokes Man Tried In Winston-Salem On Charge Of Making Whiskey.

Winston-Salem, July 14.—The case against Hub Nicholson, a young Stokes county white man, who was charged with the violation of the federal prohibition laws, was dismissed here yesterday by United States Commissioner Beckerdite for lack of evidence.

Nicholson was arrested here by Federal officers on June 16th, upon a warrant charging him with operating a distillery for making whiskey in Stokes county. He gave bond soon after being arrested and was allowed to go back to his home.

The trial came up yesterday and Commissioner Beckerdite discharged the case after all witnesses had testified and evidence failed to prove, in the opinion of the commissioner, that Nicholson had been seen near a still or that he was in way connected with the manufacture or sale of whiskey.

Mr. O. N. Petree, of Greensboro, was here Monday shaking hands with his many friends.

as a speaker, but once he became aroused as to the soundness of the system, he plunged into the proposition of awakening others to its great good.

Although his interests were largely in Rockingham and Stokes counties, Mr. Galloway was active in local affairs, being an active member of the Rotary Club, the Country Club and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Club. Wherever anything of a progressive nature was presented to the community, the leaders always knew that they could count on him to lend his support. And his splendid business judgment was always recognized, due to a great extent to his sterling character and integrity.

IMPORTANT TO OWN YOUR FARM

It Makes Better Citizens. Better Workers and Helps Community In Many Ways.

A man who has spent most of his life in social service work recently said that he had practically reached the conclusion that the most effective way of attacking modern problems would be to inaugurate a permanent, nation-wide campaign for home-ownership.

His idea is that the source of most of our present day troubles are the lack of family stability.

The home-owner does not desert his wife and children.

He does not suffer from wanderlust. He takes a strong interest in his community.

The purchase of his own home arouses his ambition, his thrift, and his industry.

Being permanently located, he is a better father, and husband, a better citizen and a better worker.

The more you think about this matter, the more you will be convinced that it is fundamental.

The strength of the small towns here, of this country is rooted in home-ownership. And, without stretching the truth, it may be said that the unrest in large cities is due to the lack of home ownership.—Oxford Public Ledger.

This case was taken up today, jurors to hear the case having been secured from Surry county. DEMOCRATS MEET NEXT SATURDAY

Large Crowd Expected To Attend—Strong Sentiment For Endorsing Turpin. Independent Candidate For Sheriff—County Ticket To Be Nominated.

The Democrats meet next Saturday, July 22, called by Chairman of the Executive Committee E. O. Creakman to assemble at 10 o'clock, A. M.

The object of this meeting is to nominate candidates for county and legislative offices, including Sheriff, Clerk, Register of Deeds, Commissioners, and member of the House.

Strong sentiment has developed in the party to put up no candidate for Sheriff, but to endorse the independent candidacy of H. D. Turpin. There is also considerable opposition to this move. Those who are opposed to it say that the Democrats have plenty of good timber for this office, without endorsing a man who has been rejected by his own party. They contend that such an act would disrupt the Democratic party, and that hundreds of Democrats would refuse to vote for Turpin, and that they do not believe Turpin can command sufficient support within his own party to win, even if a thousand or more Democrats vote for him.

Those who are in favor of endorsement take the position that as the Democrats are in the minority, they cannot elect a regular Democrat. Having nothing to lose, and everything to gain, they are not frightened by those who claim that to endorse Turpin would disrupt the party. They point to the thousand majority which the Republicans already have, and say that to put up a candidate would be to quickly unite the Republicans who are willing to co-operate with them in re-electing Turpin. The large number of those who are in favor of endorsing Turpin take the high ground that the Democratic party cannot afford to turn down a man who stands for law and order, and that the effect of such a move must result in the long run to the advantage of the Democratic party; that if the Democratic party ever gains in the county it must receive recruits from the Republican party, and that without concessions it cannot hope to ever win over the needed recruits.

Among the heaviest losers in yesterday's storm were Messrs. Joseph N. Lasley, Bill Nelson, Nat Nelson, Will White, Cary Flynt, John Duggins and others. Mr. Duggins was in Danbury Monday and took insurance on his crop, the hail hitting it within 24 hours after he secured insurance.
