"ON TO STUART" AS THE CROW FLIES

Great Project Developing Between Winston-Salem and Patrick County, Va., Via Danbury.

Today 50 automobiles filled with business and professional men of Winston-Salem, mixed with a large number of cars from Walnut Cove and other points of Stokes, likewise filled with prominent and public spirited men of the county, passed through Danbury, bearing banners inscribed "Winston-Salem Stokes County Stuart Highway." At Danbury, Lawsonville, Campbell and other points the fleets of north-bound cars were joined by more Stokes boosters.

The occasion was the promotion of the proposed Winston-Salem-Stuart highway, a direct road leading from the capitol of Patrick county via Campbell, through Lawsonville, Jewel place, Buck Island bridge, tapping the Westfield-Danbury turnpike near Piedmont Springs, forming a through line almost as the crow flies from the capitol of Patrick to North Carolina's leading city, Winston-Salem. The distance from Winston-Salem is exactly 50 miles, you might say only two hours drive.

The North Carolina delegation arrived at Stuart from 10 a. m. to 12, finding Stuart's doors wide open and the keys thrown into the Mayo river. In his address of welcome, Mayor Burton happily said all laws were suspended while North Carolina was in town. The freedom of the town was extended in that felicitous way which only Virginians know how to do, and the proverbial hospitality of the Old Dominion was everywhere in evidence. Stretched over the leading entrance streets were huge banners saying "Welcome." Scattered about in cool spots on the shady streets were barrels of the finest Patrick county apples, without price to the visitors, and here and there lemonade booths were serving cooling free drinks to the crowd.

There were dozens of cars from Mount Airy, too, and large crowds of leading Mt. Airy citizens had come in them, Mount Airy also being interested in a road from Stuart.

The size of the North Carolina crowd, which numbered hundreds, was largely supplemented by many Virginia visitors from the adjacent county. So that when we arrived about 11 o'clock a. m. the streets were packed with cars and humanity.

At 12 o'clock and upwards an excellent lunch was served in the basement of the Baptist church, and at other places in town. The ladies of Stuart served the visitors without stint to cold ham, fried chicken, vegetables, stuffed eggs, pickled peaches, and lemon pie—prepared in that palatable style which is the envy of all Patrick visitors. Free meal tickets had been handed everybody immediately on arrival.

After the dinner the crowd adjourned to the auditorium of the Baptist church where the road boosters met for the transaction of the business of the occasion.

Never was more successful or enjoyable event pulled off in this section of the two States. Every citizen of Stuart, men and women, vied with each other in making the visitors feel welcome and happy, and the bond of friendship, which has always been unbroken between the people of Patrick and Stokes, was enlarged and strengthened by many more new strands.

Among the citizens of Stuart who helped to cordially welcome and entertain the visitors, were several former Stokes people, now successful business men of Stuart, to-wit: Tom George, (son of Rev. R. W. George, of Francisco), E. C. Sheppard and family, formerly of Lawsonville; Robert and Ed Neal, formerly of Meadows; James Rierson, formerly of Campbell, and others. Likewise we were much indebted for courtesies shown by Mayor Burton, Editor of the Enterprise Hylton and Mrs. Hylton, Attorney W. L. Joyce, Brockley Smith and others.

Among the Danbury people who attended the Leake-Sprinkle wedding at Bethania Thursday evening last were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Leake, Miss Josie Pepper, Mr. Ausby Smith and Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Pepper.

STOKES PAID $519 FOR RELIEF WORK

Our County Took 36th Place In the List of Counties—Another Campaign To Be Put On this Year.

Stokes county raised $519.25 for the Near East Relief Work this year, or 72 per cent of its quota, according to announcement from Raleigh by Col. Geo. H. Bellamy, the State chairman of the work. Stokes stood thirty-sixth in the list of the hundred counties in North Carolina.

Our county sent in $372.26 in cash up to the close of the fiscal year on June 30. Clothing to the value of $147.00 was sent in by the county.

Mrs. A. G. Jones, of Walnut Cove, was chairman for the county and her work was highly commended by Col. Bellamy in his annual report, which has just been issued.

In thanking his chairman and workers and the people who contributed this money, Col. Bellamy called attention to the fact that it will be necessary to put on a similar campaign this fiscal year, because the great powers of the world are allowing the Turks to continue their massacres in Armenia as well as the destruction of all crops, homes and industries.

"There have been twenty-two separate massacres since the Armistice," declares Col. Bellamy, "which makes it impossible for these people to be self-supporting until France, England and Italy relinquish their protectorate over Turkey in their scramble for the Mohammedan calico trade. "The recent British refusal to allow the Greek army to stop massacres of its own people was one of the most astounding and sordid chapters in history, and until such conditions as this disappear and England becomes a Christian nation, the American people are the only thing that can stand between Armenia and the entire starvation of its out-standing population."

Nice Program By Teachers Tuesday

(Written for the Reporter.)

Last Monday the Danbury people received unique invitations to come to the court house on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for a short program and an exhibition of the work done by the departments of the Summer School. These attractive programs were designed and made by the Primary Department, under the direction of Miss Nannie Pigg.

Prof. C. L. Weathers made a splendid talk on Appreciation, which delighted the audience from beginning to end. He spoke of the community spirit which existed among the Danbury people.

Supt. J. C. Carson also made an interesting talk, stating that he was delighted with the way in which the teachers had been so warmly received in Danbury.

The rest of the program was as follows:

Song: "Keep a Smile On In Danbury," by the Summer School.

Recitation by Miss Katherine Martin.

Duet, "Little Maid," by Miriam Hall and Mary McCanness.

Two Dramatizations, "A Quarrel In Grammar Land" and "Essentials In Composition," by Miss Grace Taylor's Department.

Primary Songs by the Summer School.

Song, "Row Your Boat," by the audience.

Vocal solo, "Smiles and Frowns," by Mr. J. Irving Bolt.

Vocal solo, "In the Time of Roses," by Miss Agnes Dodson.

Folk Game, "Hey, Little Lassie," by the Physical Culture Dept.

Presentation of Prizes to Mrs. Wm. Joyce, Mrs. H. L. Wilson and Miss Nannie Greene, by Mr. C. G. Griffin.

Two Songs, "In the Evening by the Moonlight," and "If You Want To Be a Tar Heel," by the audience.

At the conclusion of the program Prof. Weathers invited everyone into the hall where delicious punch was served by Mrs. W. E. Joyce and Miss Edith Fagg. They were then shown into the rooms where the work of the Summer School was on display. One room contained the books done by the Primary Dept., such as artificial flowers, animals, silhouettes, and

BRIGHT PROSPECT COUNTY'S SCHOOLS

Summer School Has Best Attendance In Its History—Principal For the Germanton High School Elected.

Germanton, Aug. 29.—Supt. of Schools J. C. Carson reports a bright outlook for the schools of Stokes the coming session. The teachers' summer school at Danbury has the best attendance in the history of the county. The people of the county are getting thoroughly interested in better schools. Germanton only recently voted an additional special tax for the school here and by next year expect to have a high school second to none.

Prof. A. A. Keener has been named principal of the Germanton high school.

The lawn party given by the ladies of the Baptist church Saturday was a great success, despite the inclement weather. A neat sum was placed in the bank which will be used later for the improvement of the church.

Miss Vick Johnson, of Quaker Gap, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. J. Helsabeck, for several days, returned home this week.

The little Misses Coak, of Greensboro, returned to their home Sunday, after a pleasant visit here.

J. W. Kurfees spent the week end with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Merritt, of Winston-Salem, visited friends in Germanton Sunday.

Claud Dearmin, of Jacksonville, Fla., is spending some time with his aunt, Mrs. P. J. Carson.

Misses Flora Alspaugh, Lillian Turner and James Alspaugh visited friends here recently.

Dr. C. J. Helsabeck and Mr. Curtis McGee, of Germanton, were visitors in Danbury Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John T. Simpson and children, of Winston-Salem, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor the past week.

various other pictures. Among the different articles were bird books and Mother Goose books, which deserve special mention. The Judges, Mrs. John Taylor, Miss Mary Taylor and Mr. C. G. Smith, found it a very difficult task in awarding the prizes, as the books were all so splendidly made. After careful consideration Mrs. Wm. Joyce was given first prize, a picture for the school room for having the best Bird Book. Miss Nannie Greene was given first prize for having the best Mother Goose book.

In another room Prof. Weathers' class in writing displayed specimens of their best writing at the beginning of the Summer School and also specimens of their best writing at the close, in order to show the most improvement in the new method. Mrs. H. L. Wilson was given first prize, five hundred sheets of Palmer paper.

The people of Danbury feel very much indebted to the Summer School faculty and members of the Summer School, for making the afternoon such a pleasant one in every respect.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS AT WALNUT COVE

Many Young People Leave For School Soon—Sunday School Picnic—Personals.

Walnut Cove, Aug. 30.—With many of the young people of the town preparing to leave for school and several visitors here, the summer season in Walnut Cove is being brought to a close by a number of social affairs.

On Tuesday evening of last week the younger set enjoyed a "weiner" roast on the creek bank back of the old knitting mill. Several hours of enjoyment were spent around the camp fires, toasting weiners and marshmallows. After the fire had gone down all those present enjoyed a delightful little dance.

Another delightful affair of the week was the porch dance given at the beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Neal on Saturday evening. The dance was given in honor of Miss Lillian Stack, of Monroe, the attractive guest of Miss Thelma Neal. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. During the evening delicious refreshments were served to those present.

Decidedly the most enjoyable affair of the past week was the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hedgecock in honor of their guest, Miss Elizabeth Sparger, of Greensboro. The rooms of the lower floor of the spacious Hedgecock home were thrown en suite and the house was decorated in the colorful flowers of fall and late summer. Out-of-town visitors present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott and Lowry Scott, of Durham; Miss Elizabeth Sparger, of Greensboro; Miss Kathryn Martin, of Burlington; Mr. Robt. Hackler, of Sparta. Those from Walnut Cove were Misses Nell, Kathryn and Margaret Hutcherson, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Davis, Walter, Louise, John and Ruth Woodruff, Ralph Slate, and Sadie, Annie and Elizabeth Fulton.

Members of the Sunday School of Christ's Episcopal church of Walnut Cove enjoyed a picnic supper at Piedmont Springs on Thursday evening of last week. The party left Walnut Cove about 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon and arrived at Piedmont about 4:00. A delightful supper was served at the spring.

Miss Margaret Hutcherson has returned home after a visit to Haw River. While there Miss Hutcherson was a member of a house party given by the Misses Hughes.

Miss Elizabeth Fulton has returned home after a visit to Miss Dorothy Clement in Greensboro.

Mr. John Burton was a visitor in Walnut Cove Sunday. Mr. Burton is now employed by the State Highway Commission and is located at Sparta.

Miss Elizabeth Sparger, of Greensboro, is an attractive visitor in Walnut Cove this week.

Mr. Robert Hackler, of Sparta, a former member of the high school faculty, was a visitor here this week.

Miss Lillian Stack, of Monroe, is the attractive guest of Miss Thelma Neal.

WHO MAKES OUR MONEY?

The Government Produces Less Than 10 Per Cent of It—Bank Checks Pay the Bills.

Ask the man in the street "who manufactures the money used in the United States" and he will tell you that the Government does, in its several mints and in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington. He is mistaken, though. The Government makes less than ten per cent of our money. The other ninety odd per cent is made in the shops of the several thousand printers of the country.

Checks constitute the money of the United States—not coins and bank notes. And they are the most efficient money ever devised by any nation.

The National City Bank of New York in a recent issue of the bulletin published by it, says:

"The principal medium of payments in the United States is bank checks, and there is no essential difference in functions between a currency note and a bank check. A currency note, is chiefly used in the retail trade and for payrolls."

TWO MORE STILLS TAKEN LAST WEEK

Sheriff Turpin Makes A New Ruling In Regard To Disposition Of Captured Whiskey—Brandy Poured Out.

Sheriff Turpin and deputy Will Heath on Friday afternoon captured a blockade distillery and 13 gallons of brandy near the home of George Price, on the Pine Hall-Walnut Cove road. The still was brought here and placed in jail, while the brandy was poured out and burned up on the spot where it was captured.

Warrants have been sworn out and are in the hands of the Sheriff for the two men who have been operating the distillery. Both men have escaped arrest so far.

Sheriff Turpin has made a new ruling in regard to the disposition of whiskey captured by himself and his deputies. It will be poured out in the presence of witnesses as soon as captured.

Deputy Sheriff John A. Young, of Beaver Island township, brought a still here Friday and placed it in the county jail. No whiskey was captured by Mr. Young and no arrests have been made.

A Night Spent On Moore's Knob

(Written for the Reporter.)

Twenty-one of Danbury's young people selected Friday and Saturday of last week for a visit to Moore's Knob.

The party left Danbury about five in the afternoon, and by eight o'clock all were fully ready for the camp supper which was cooked by the clear mountain stream at the foot of the Knob. Later, by the aid of lanterns and flash-lights, the crowd climbed to the summit. It was a dark night, partially cloudy, but this fact made more beautiful the countless number of tobacco barn lights in the distance. The steep climb at the close of a warm day made all ready for sleep; so in a short time available beds were occupied. Just as weary heads were pillowed and blankets drawn up, shrieks of "Oh, bugs, bugs!" aroused the whole top of the Knob. Lights were made, and literally thousands of lady bugs had to be picked from the curls and bobbed hair of the maidens thus attacked. It was some time before quiet reigned again. However, before sleep could come the faint sound of an explosion was heard and soon a brilliant glow was seen in the direction of Winston-Salem. At the alarm of "Fire, fire!" blankets were pitched helter skelter and it was some time before any one again thought of sleep. (Glaring headlines of the morning paper reported the destruction of two large establishments in the heart of Winston-Salem.)

Three o'clock found the party once more settling for sleep, but, alas! the cry of "Rain, rain!" sent each one seeking for himself some bit of shelter. The shower was soon over, however. The brisk breeze that had sprung up caused much uneasiness on the part of the men and boys. The girls were quiet again, but the restlessness of the boys made sleep impossible. Finally, when patience had given out, one chaperone called out, "Boys, why are you prowling around so?" A weary answer from the darkness came, "We are looking for rocks to weight our hats down." One naughty maid could not resist making the suggestion: "Put your feet into them."

Just at dawn sleepy heads bobbed up here and there to see the sun rise, which promised to be glorious. Indeed around the breakfast camp fire all agreed that the discomforts of the previous night were already forgotten.

Mrs. J. W. Kurfees, Misses Irma Kurfees, Lillian Small, Louise Powers and Mary Preston Bynum, and Messrs. Lauriston Powers and Walter Styers composed an automobile party from Germanton who attended the mock trial at the court house here Thursday evening. After the trial the party and a number of Danbury people enjoyed a social hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Spot Taylor, during which Mr. Styers, who is a very gifted violinist, rendered several selections with piano accompaniment by Miss Mary Taylor.

Mr. John Hall, who resides right near King, had the misfortune to lose a good barn of tobacco by fire one day the past week.

STUART-WINSTON-SALEM HIGHWAY

The Commissioners of Patrick County Will Build Road To North Carolina Line. Meeting the Winston-Salem-Stokes Through Turnpike.

The Board of County Commissioners or Supervisors of Patrick county, Va., will issue bonds to the amount of $50,000, which, being supplemented with $25,000 which the State of Virginia will contribute, creating a fund of $75,000 which the Supervisors will use in building a road south from Stuart to the North Carolina line at Bill Abe Martin's. At Five Forks, about 5 miles south of Stuart, this road will branch into two prongs, one of which will lead westward toward Mt. Airy.

This decision was practically reached at the great meeting today between road boosters from Winston-Salem, Stokes county and Mt. Airy, and the road supervisors of Patrick county.

The meeting was held at 1:30 in the auditorium of the Baptist church of Stuart. A number of able and interesting addresses were made to the packed house, including a speech by Mayor Burton, of Stuart, responses by Hon. W. A. Blair, and ex-Mayor O. B. Eaton, of Winston-Salem, Chairman of the Forsyth Highway Commission Mickey, Chairman of the Stokes county Commissioners, Dr. J. W. Slate, Attorney W. L. Joyce, of Stuart, Hon. W. F. Carter and Hon. John Folger, of Mt. Airy.

The project of the great Winston-Salem-Stuart Highway will be of absorbing interest to the people of Stokes county. Forsyth county will build a hard-surface road to the Stokes county line connecting with the State road No. 89, leading from Fulp to Danbury, and thence on to Westfield. The Danbury-Westfield road is to be tapped near Piedmont Springs by the new State road leading from Stokes line near Bill Abe Martin's south via Campbell, Lawsonville and the Jewel place.

Chicken Stew Given By Misses Pulliam

King, Aug. 25.—On last Monday evening Misses Agnes and Eric Pulliam gave a chicken stew in honor of Mrs. Nume Tuttle, of Suffolk, Va. The occasion was held at their father's tobacco barn, way down in the hollow, where you couldn't see anything but the stars above you, the hills around you the lights from the John Henry over on the highway, and they looked like northern lights in winter.

We all gathered around the camp fires, telling tales and waiting for the chicken to stew and the coffee to boil. Such thrilling experiences some folks have had! Tom Petree told tales of his fights with Indians until we felt like one might crawl out from among the pines and use his tomahawk on us. And such queer tales were told about campaigning in Stokes county by Jim Bowen. (His campaign is not over yet.) The most sorrowful tales were told by Leser Pulliam of widower days. He and the married men feel glad their wives were living, even if they had a "Maggie." But Lee Kiser told funny tales that made us hold our sides. All present did not get to take part in this tale-telling 'til the men had their say. The chicken was done and such good chicken it was, with the finest light rolls that were ever made from the King Milling Company's flour. Delightful coffee, tea cakes that melted in your mouth and grapes that went down without an effort. We almost thought we were living to eat.

There were a good many relatives and friends who enjoyed the treat as well as a number of children, and the children seemed to be very happy. To see them made one wish that time could turn back in his flight and make us a child again just for the night.
