LIGHTNING HITS MINISTER'S HOME

Party Returns From Fishing Trip—Big Lot Sale—Roy Fowler Finishes In Dental School—King Personals.

King, June 16.—Mrs. W. M. Moore, of Winston-Salem, spent the week end with her sister Mrs. Dr. Ernest M. Griffin.

The fifty acre tract of land of L. K. Pulliam lying just East of town has been subdivided into one hundred and forty nice building lots and several small farms and will be sold at auction tomorrow at 10:30 A. M. by Atlantic Coast Realty company. This new development which is beautifully arranged has been given the name of Pilot View. Owing to the location and the nice way it is cut, it is predicted that this property will sell well.

During the electrical storm here late Friday afternoon the nice home of the evangelist, "Thunderbolt Tom," on South Depot street was struck by lightning. A part of one of the chimneys was torn down, the sash from one window knocked out and some other minor damage was done to the building. Fortunately none of the family were at home. The evangelist is holding a several weeks meeting at Elkin and his family left Thursday to be with him for a few days. If the family had been at home in all probability some of them would have been killed.

Messrs. O. O. Grabs, C. S. Newsom, C. A. White, Dr. K. S. Helsabeck and little Johnny Grabs have just returned from an extended trip to Asheville and Western North Carolina. A couple of days were spent fishing at Bridgewater. All report a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Schaub and Miss Clodie Stone, of High Point, spent Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Stone.

Little Kathleen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Jones, of Winston-Salem, is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. William Spainhower, on Depot street.

The Bank of Stokes County is having the woodwork of their bank painted inside and out which is adding much to the appearance of the building.

Roy Fowler has just returned to his home here after spending four years in Atlanta Dental College. Mr. Fowler has already passed the State Board of Georgia and will take the State Board of North Carolina next week.

Piedmont Springs Hotel Opens

Piedmont Springs hotel will open for guests Saturday and the first dance of the season will be given Saturday night. A good crowd is expected to be present. A first class orchestra will arrive Saturday to furnish music for the occasion. Messrs. J. S. and J. J. Taylor and their families have removed from here to the hotel and the final arrangements for the opening are being made this week.

Dr. Rives Jones Is Improving

Winston Salem, June 16.—Dr. R. R. Jones, city physician, who has been quite ill at the City Memorial hospital, is slowly improving. His many friends will be glad to note his improvement.

Miss Mattie Sue Taylor, who has been in school the past winter at Westtown, Pa., is home for the summer vacation.

SECOND PRIMARY BE HELD JULY 5

Names Of Those Who Will Contest For Votes In the Second Run—Candidates For Lieutenant Governor Out.

Raleigh, June 16.—Frank D. Grist, close runner to M. L. Shipman for commissioner of labor and printing, has renewed his request for a run-off to L. H. Newell, chairman of the board of elections. This request made useless the request of John D. Dawson and other Democratic leaders of the state to prevent the expense of a second primary.

Charles Ross, a candidate for attorney general, and Fred P. Latham, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, both runners-up in their respective races, had previously announced that they would not put the State to the expense of a second primary. However, now that Grist has demanded a second primary their names will be placed upon the ticket.

Altho Robert Reynolds, of Asheville, candidate for the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor, ran J. E. Long, of Darnham, a close enough race to demand a second primary, they had previously agreed that the high man should be the nominee, thus avoiding a run-off. Reynolds last night wired Long his congratulations.

The second primary will occur Saturday, July 5.

The ticket will be:

For attorney general: Dennis Brummitt and Charles Ross.

For commissioner of labor and printing: M. L. Shipman and Frank D. Grist.

For commissioner of agriculture: W. A. Graham and Fred P. Latham.

Stokes Road Is Taken Over By State

Campbell, June 17.—Owing to the large amount of rain through this section the people are getting behind with their work, but the crops are looking good.

The road from Madison to Lackey's Store will be kept up by the State, and we think it will be kept in better shape from now on, as the traffic is very heavy on this road, averaging from 400 to 1,000 cars and trucks daily.

Miss Nina Sheppard left today for Critz, Va., where she will accept a position in the Bank of Critz as bookkeeper.

The road by C. D. Smith's and others has been started, which has been greatly needed for a long time.

Peter Varner purchased a new Ford last week.

Sheriff Dunlap Gets Whiskey and Beer

Sheriff J. Frank Dunlap captured nine gallons of whiskey and destroyed considerable beer at a distillery site in Beaver Island township Thursday of last week. No one was found around the distillery and no clue was found as to the owner.

ISSUING STATE AUTOMOBILE TAGS

The Work Was Started Monday and Cars Are Now Being Tagged At A Rapid Rate—Auto Title Is Necessary.

Winston-Salem, June 17.—The issuing of new State license tags for 1925 was started this morning at the local office of the Carolina Motor Club, and thruout the day there has been a steady demand for the new tags. The office was opened at 8 o'clock, and from that time until the closing hour there was a continuous line of automobile owners who wished to secure the license and rest easily for another twelve months.

The supply of tags at the local office was started with tag No. 280,000, and within an hour tag No. 290,100 had left the office. Rapid and prompt service is being rendered, and those who go prepared are quickly supplied with the proper license.

To secure the license tag it is necessary to present certificate of title showing that the car has been properly registered. In some cases where the car is purchased on the installment plan, it is necessary to secure from the dealer from whom car was bought, a card stating that the certificate is being held.

The demand this morning is an evidence of the fact that many local car owners are endeavoring to avoid the last minute rush for tags that will be in order the latter days of the month, for the new tags must be on the cars by the first of July, and the local police department has already announced that any driver failing to have proper license on his car the first day of July will be required to explain his negligence.

Davis' Chapel Church To Be Dedicated

Davis Chapel M. E. church, 5 miles east of Danbury, will be dedicated Sunday, June 23rd, at 11 o'clock A. M. This pretty little church has been completed only a short while, the old building having been burned a year or two since.

The Reporter is requested to express the thanks of the people of that community for the aid given them by the people in the completion of the church.

An invitation to be present at the dedication services is extended those who assisted the church and to any others who desire to come out.

Reply To "Tax-Payer."

King, June 15.

Mr. Editor: I notice in the last issue of the Reporter one signing "Taxpayer" makes a serious charge against our last representative in the legislature, Mr. C. M. Hauser. I will ask that Mr. "Taxpayer" let the readers of the Reporter know who he is that shoots from the dark and who is too cowardly to let the people of Stokes county know over his own name how C. M. Hauser misrepresented them. SCRIBBLER.

LEGISLATURE WILL MEET AUGUST 7

Special Session Is Called By the Governor To Act Upon Recommendations of the Ship Commission.

Raleigh, June 16.—The Council of State at 12:35 this afternoon unanimously voted to sustain Governor Morrison on calling a special session of the legislature to act upon the recommendations of the ship and water transportation committee.

The governor announced to the Associated Press that the general assembly would be called to meet on August 7. The technical call will be issued later, Governor Morrison said.

Raleigh, June 15.—Governor Morrison's call for a special session of the general assembly will fix the opening date between July 29 and August 1. The council of state, which Monday will receive the governor's formal request for authority to issue the call, is ready to give its approval.

The port development measure is expected to have easy sailing when attached to the provision that ratification will depend upon a majority vote in the general election. That, being the purpose for which the session will be called, will constitute the most important business. However, if the meeting runs true to form volumes of local and state measures will be enacted during the 20 days the members can stay here and receive pay.

MORRISON'S PLANS.

Following enactment of the port development legislation, Governor Morrison plans to put to work the best organization that can be created. The whole idea of developing the state's ports and waterways will be presented to the people in every county through speakers and the newspapers. The campaign will rival a political campaign in intensity, but it will not be political because the champions will include both democrats and Republicans. Supporters of the measure hope to line up some of the biggest republicans in the state as well as men of outstanding prominence in democratic affairs. Then there will be chambers of commerce, traffic and trade organizations and commercial bodies to work from a non-partisan standpoint, interested only in state development.

ATTACK REFERENDUM.

Several members of the general assembly have urged the governor to leave off the provision for a referendum, expressing confidence that the legislature will pass the measure and accept full responsibility for it. They have expressed uncertainty as to the outcome in the general election, but the governor believes the proposition will be less effective before people than in the general assembly.
