

DIVISION OVER HIGHWAY BONDS

McLean Urges Caution—Governor and Others Take the View That State's Credit May Be Put in Jeopardy.

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—While the general assembly marks time, awaiting definite recommendations from Governor McLean, on the administration's desired program of legislation, conflict of legislative and executive sentiment over the extent of further expenditures for highway construction stands as the most interesting situation of the session.

The assembly is for $35,000,000 more of bonds. It doubtless would vote 50 millions more if it had the chance. The popularity of the road program finds response among the solons, and the majority of them are for as much more as it will require to complete the system, however much that may be.

commission and others who have been considering the state's finances and its financial relationships, however, hold out little hope for a greater expenditure on further road building than 10 or 12 millions a year for the next two years. So as apparently the statesmanship job this session will be holding back the legislators, whereas four years ago the big drive for 50 millions came from the executive and the preliminary fight for an advantage in the assembly was a fierce one.

In talking with newspaper men this afternoon Governor McLean recognized the strong legislative sentiment for a 35 million dollar or even a 50 million dollar issue. He pointed out, however, that the state can hardly afford at this time to undertake to handle such an amount.

The situation which prompts the governor and budget makers to favor restricting expenditures to the minimum amount relates not so much to the state's financial condition as to the wisdom of protecting North Carolina's standing in the bond market. Financial advisors have suggested a rest and substantial reasons have been advanced to support the suggestion.

North Carolina has placed nearly a hundred million dollars worth of bonds on the market in the last four years. To throw 35 millions more on top of that would endanger the state's financial standing and possibly result in a great loss through the necessity of making unfavorable sales of the additional issues.

Highway Chairman Frank Page is understood to concur in the view that expenditures should be restricted to 10 or 12 millions a year for the next two years. He has conferred with members of the budget commission and they have asked him to supply them with information as to the actual needs of the commission for further road building.

When the legislature gets the facts it likely will accept the view of the governor.

ECONOMY IN THE LONG RUN

Any housewife ought to consider well the cooking and wearing qualities, the fuel economy and the appearance of the range she buys. Remember that it is a lasting purchase—you are buying for a long time. No purchase for the home is more important than the kitchen range. You cook on it three times a day, every day in the year. Your peace of mind and the health, energy and contentment of your whole household depend on the better cooking that a New Mejestic will enable you to do every meal.

It is false economy to buy a cheap kitchen range that wears out quickly and often makes the best cooks fail. The only true economy is economy in the long run. Therein lies the economy of the Majestic. It cuts down fuel and repair bills and its long life of never-failing efficiency makes it cost less per year than any other range in the world.
