Ministers Advised To Wear Mustaches

Fayetteville, Nov. 16.—"Men," said Bishop Denny Sunday morning in solemn advice to the several hundred delegates gathered at the North Carolina Methodist conference in session at the Hay Street Methodist church, "if you would keep your sex in public, grow a patch of hair upon your upper lip. That is all that women have left us. They cut their hair and they wear men's clothes but they cannot grow a mustache. It is your badge of masculinity."

Bishop Denny wears a mustache. Most of the members of the conference are clean-shaven. There was no indication as to whether or not the bishop's advice would be heeded.

Miss Edith Fagg Will Manage Sale Of Seals

Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will be placed on sale in Danbury this year under the direction of Miss Edith Fagg who has long been interested in improving health and civic conditions in our county.

An intensive effort will be made during the period of the Seal Sale to secure sufficient funds to make a real forward step in the tuberculosis campaign in this county. Unfortunately the funds raised by the sale of Christmas Seals are not sufficient to provide treatment in a sanatorium for all the victims in this county who are in need of such treatment, but a great deal may be done with a relatively small amount in an educational way to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

Children are more susceptible to tuberculosis than grownups, especially the weak and undernourished children. Realizing the truth that a large percentage of breakdowns from tuberculosis in later life is caused by infections which have gained some headway in childhood the National and North Carolina Tuberculosis Associations are devoting a large part of their time and funds to the elimination of malnutrition among the school children. Every dollar spent for Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will aid in this work and will enable many children to live a healthy, happy and useful life who might otherwise fall a victim of the Great White Plague.

The work being done by our local tuberculosis organization and by the State and National Associations is accomplishing great good not only in the numbers of lives saved but in the spread of infection which in our state is considered to be at least 12,000 less in 1925 than if the rate of 1915 prevailed. The Seals will be on sale from Thanksgiving until Christmas but the purchases you make will bring better health the year round.

Good entertainment, good speaking and clean people played the greatest part in making the conference a success. Among the many good speakers were Mrs. T. W. Bickett. She spoke on parents love for their sons and building a Christian character.

On Saturday night the 350 delegates were assisted by Mr. J. T. Fesperman of Catawba College where a banquet was given. Then the conference elected new officers.

The boys were welcomed to Salisbury by leading officials of the city. An address was delivered Sunday afternoon by Mr. Hinnant, of Wilmington, after which the conference adjourned with one verse of "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

The main purpose of this conference was to help develop Christian character in the boys and to serve God in a better way.

Going To Florida

The Dispatch does not think that everybody who visits Florida will make a lot of money. It is sure that some who go will come away with less than they had when they went. But, what a lot of fun the whole country is having in Florida! There has never been anything like it. Through here they will have been coming by the thousands and hundreds of thousands all year long. There seems to be no let-up, and not even the organized efforts reported made in some sections of the country north of us to stem the flow of traffic southward is having any apparent effect. We rejoice in the fact that Florida has been so advertised to the world that she is drawing millions southward. There are opportunities yet in Florida for making money. In the South at large there are many more such opportunities. Florida, even when the heat of the boom shall have passed, will still have its beautiful palms and flowers, its good roads, its fine hotels, its warm sandy beaches, its fragrant orange groves and its warm winter sunshine—and it will still draw its thousands as the years roll by. It will help create an enlarging field for diversified manufacture in other states nearby that are in easy reach of Florida by motor over roads that stay good year round. Before the real estate fever seized so many the building of Florida and hundreds of thousands were going there because of the winter climate. This normal flow of tourists will not only keep up, but will continue to increase, and will bestow much benefit on the communities along the roadways that America is traveling now. Civilization is just a slow process of learning to be kind.—New York Telegram.
