

J. SAMUEL EAST

Danbury's Veteran Mail Carrier.

For a long, long time, nearly forty years, Uncle Sam East has carried the mails.

And delivered them as promptly as a railway train on the rails. First on his own back, and then upon a horse, for years he carried them through.

But later on a buggy, but now in an auto, he travels like other folks do.

He has to start early and stay out late.

But he never complains at such his fate.

To comply with the schedules, often twice each day.

For the mail delivery route has a long haul.

He goes through the mud, the rain and the snow.

The snow and the rain, he has to get the mail.

But no matter what the weather, he's found on his way.

Carrying all the mails on schedule time.

He's possessed of a great big heart. Always full of kindness and love.

And is always ready to perform his part.

Diligently and faithfully, and is harmless as a dove.

Although now nearing his three score years and ten.

We hope he'll long live to greet his fellow men.

He has a kind word for all whom he meets.

And loves to talk to people on Danbury's streets.

He's a good kind neighbor, as every body knows.

And bears such reputation wherever he goes.

He cuts a lot of chickens and chickens as well.

But of course he always buys them where they have them to sell.

He seems well contented in his only occupation.

Carrying the mails of this nation. In performing this duty he does his very best.

And sometime in the future we may tell about the rest.

And now, Uncle Sammie, this our greeting, much good cheer.

We wish you a happy and prosperous New Year.

And all through the days of also, twenty-two seven.

We want you to think often of the glory of Heaven.

It's worth all the suffering and pain.

Through which one has to pass in the earthly career.

To win the heavenly glory, the only true gain.

And through all eternity, live forever there.

-N. O. P.

WAKED IN NIGHT IN AGONY OF PAIN

Better in twenty minutes after simple home treatment

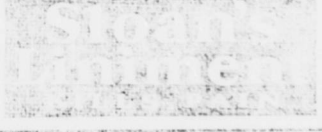

Seized in the night with a pain in her side like a knife, an Oakland, California, woman got quick and complete relief by using home treatment.

"I applied Sloan's Liniment," she writes, "and now I shall never allow one bottle to be empty before buying another. In twenty minutes I was better. In a very short time—peacefully asleep."

The reason that Sloan's gets these remarkable results is that it doesn't just soothe the nerves. It sets your own curative forces to work on the conditions that are causing the trouble.

But it is so simple—so easy to use. It's the medicine that does the work.

Immediately you feel a certain agreeable glow as from heat. This glow is produced through the absorption of the medicine into the system. It is not a stimulant, but a restorative.
