Our idea of the height of unimportance is being the wife of Mussolini. Bob Gladstone says it has been his observation that when the bride's cooking is confined to canned goods the honeymoon gets hungry and disappears.

Tobacco plants should have a healthy, strong start. Hence the necessity of having a well located bed, well made and well fertilized. The plant bed is the foundation of every crop. If the seed is poor, and the bed not properly prepared, the plant will be weak. What the tobacco grower wants is a plant that will catch the soil when it is set in the field so it will start its growth at once. Plants with a vigorous growth always produce a finer grade of tobacco.
