RECORD CROP OF TOBACCO IN CAROLINA

Average Yield Per Acre In State This Year Was 693 Pounds—Quality High.

Raleigh, Nov. 26.—A record tobacco crop in sight for North Carolina this year, 437,488,000 pounds estimated by the federal government, will pass the 1920 mark of 433,750,000 pounds which averaged 25c a pound.

The average yield per acre this year is 693 pounds, in 1926 it was 683 pounds, in 1925 it was 670 pounds for the state as a whole.

The state-federal crop reporting service, department of agriculture here, finds the yield per acre in north mountain counties to be 632 pounds, in southern mountain counties 700 pounds; in piedmont counties, north, 658; central 714; southern, 754; and in the coastal counties, north 666 pounds, central 712, and southern 784.

The quality this year is estimated at 80 per cent for the state compared with 81 in 1926 and 75 per cent in 1925. The quality by sections: Mountain counties, north 83; southern 85; piedmont, north 85; central 89, southern 81; coastal, north 75, central 78, southern 78.

These figures make up the details of the November 1 crop report, and the crop reporting service says in its statement, "It is strange how most farmers will not study this kind of information, furnished by thousands of North Carolina farmers, but will readily support the selfish various objections raised against the very reports that the farmers need so greatly."

The 1920 previous crop average selling price of 25c was so unsatisfactory that the following year's crop was reduced 42 per cent.

The warehouse sales show that about 55 per cent was auctioned to November 1, this year, as compared with 51 per cent a year ago. The September prices averaged about 15c a pound as compared with 25c 12 months before. Whether it was the general complaints by farmers or some other cause, the October sales of 133,620,441 pounds at $22.81 average price per 100 pounds showed an appreciable improvement over the September sales prices.

The tobacco acreage was increased about 13 per cent in North Carolina this year. October sales last year were 1,403,917, while the average price was $26.73.

Samet Insurance Suits Compromised

Greensboro, Nov. 24.—The suit of Max Samet, former merchant at King, Stokes county, against seven fire insurance companies to collect $36,000 on his stock and fixtures burned during the latter part of 1925 that started in Guilford Superior court Tuesday, was terminated yesterday when attorneys for both plaintiff and defendant announced that a compromise had been reached. The terms of the settlement were not announced and attorneys stated that they were not at liberty to make public the amount paid to end the suit, which was made up of seven consolidated actions.

At the same time, Federal court officials were asked to total the bill of costs in two suits instituted in that court by Samet, one against the Concordia Fire Insurance Company, of Milwaukee, for $5,000, and the other against the Liverpool, London and Globe Fire Insurance Company, Ltd., for $13,000, which means that actions involving a total verdict of $5,000 were terminated by compromise.

Cary Carroll Made Secretary of Company

Another certificate of change has been filed with the clerk of the Guilford Superior court, this one reducing the capital stock of the company from $75,000—750 shares at $100 value each, to $5,000, or 50 shares of par value each.

While Mr. Carroll, who has been connected with the company for a number of years, will spend his business hours in Greensboro, he and his family will retain their residence in Winston-Salem. Cary is a native son of Stokes county and perhaps no more popular young man has ever been sent out from the bailiwick than this jolly, good-natured citizen.—Winston-Salem Sentinel.

THE NEW FORD CAR IS OUT

Many Radical Changes Have Been Made. It Is Announced —Showing of the New Car This Friday.

After six months of "saying nothing but saving wood," Henry Ford today announced the specifications of the new Ford car which succeeds his famous Model T. A bare listing of those specifications presents a picture of an automobile that in performance, appearance and mechanical features has heretofore been associated with a considerably higher price class.

Unusual speed and acceleration are among the outstanding features of the new car. It is announced as being able to make 55 to 60 miles an hour, with ease. In recent tests it has made even more without difficulty. What is more important, it is stated that when traveling at such speeds, it holds the road easily, and with comfort to driver and passengers. It is also stated with equal positiveness however, that it performs in an equally spectacular manner on bad roads. In its design, Mr. Ford has held to his original idea of a car which can meet all conditions and types of roads.

Appreciating the constantly increasing importance of acceleration, the Ford Motor Company has given a great deal of study to this feature of the new car. In high gear tests with two passengers in a Tudor sedan it has shown an acceleration of from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 1-2 seconds.

The new Ford car also introduces a new type of four-wheel brakes. An exclusive Ford development, they are of the mechanical, shoe-expanding type, and are self-centering. The brake pedal and the hand brake each operates all four brakes. It is stated that this is the most reliable and simplest type of four-wheel brake, and also the easiest to adjust, all adjustments being made from the outside without removing any parts.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horsepower at 2,200 revolutions per minute. This low revolution speed in ratio to the high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on engine parts. The low revolution speed is also a substantial factor in lessening vibration. The bore is 3 7/8 inches, stroke 4 1/2 inches. The unusually large crankshaft, which is both statically and dynamically balanced, weighs 24 pounds. This balancing, combined with the lightness of aluminum alloy pistons, further combine to reduce vibration and increase riding and driving comfort and safety.

In addition to freedom vibration, it is announced that the car is unusually quiet, a great deal of attention having been paid to this feature by the Ford engineers. In the engine, the timing gears are made of bakelized fabric, which is much quieter than metal. The cams on the camshaft have been so designed as to prevent valve clicking.

The coachwork of the car is as distinctive as its performance. There is a noticeable European touch in line and contour. It is not only designed for exterior beauty, but has as well the interior roominess, convenience and luxurious appointments to be found in much higher priced automobiles.
