BIG "DRIVE" STARTS TODAY=====NOT TOO LATE TO ENTER!

300,000 EXTRA VOTE OFFER IS BOON TO EARLY WORKERS

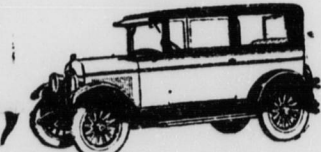

Subscription Received This Week Are Positively the Last To Carry Biggest Votes. Act At Once Or You May Be Too Late. Saturday Afternoon, January 28th. Sees Big Reduction of Votes.

For each and every $30 Club of new and old subscriptions sent in on or before Saturday afternoon, January 28th, 300,000 extra votes will be given in The Danbury Reporter Circulation Drive. These votes are in addition to the regular votes allowed for each subscription as shown on the back of the receipt book. Just think of it. One 10 year subscription and two 5 year subscriptions constitute a "club" of $30 worth and entitles the contestant to 300,000 extra votes. Of course, smaller subscriptions count to make up the $30 worth just the same. Members are not limited to the number of clubs of subscriptions they may obtain. Any contestant may get as many of these big vote ballots as they choose, depending on their ability to sell The Danbury Reporter subscriptions. The 300,000 extra vote offer is the means of placing you safely on the winning list. Remember this offer closes Saturday afternoon, January 28th, and there will be a big drop in the votes after that time. They go down—way down.

Race To Be Short.

The race is short, just lasting six weeks and closing March 3rd. Just think of winning one of the closed cars or one of the other beautiful prizes in such a short time. And yet many of the best towns in the field covered by this newspaper are not represented by a live wire candidate and The Reporter extends a special invitation for nominations from these towns. Step up and nominate yourself, or have some friend nominate you.

FIRST PRIZE

They're Off

Have you ever stood in a field on a summer day at a race, with the sun scorching your face and half the population of the country side, hanging on your back and breathing in your ear? Of course you have; you didn't move either, tho the man beside you was standing on your corn and your neighbor's baby was plastering candy all over your Sunday coat. You hurled your hat in the air and lost it and grabbed your neighbor's hat and sent it up, too, yellin' all the time like a Fiji Islander for someone else just ahead of you had just uttered the magic words, "Hurrah, boys, they're off."

Excitement of the Race.

You really couldn't see them for those shimmering silky horses dashing by like birds. The sport fan in front of you blocked your view and only when he moved to one side or the other did you glimpse them but you never moved, stuck it out to the very end. (You ducked under someone's arm for you were only a little one then) and touched the jockey's bright sleeve. He was the hero of the hour—that jockey. What a gorgeous looking little nigger he was not much bigger than yourself, although a full grown man. He looked like one of these strange birds of brilliant plumage that come from far-off lands. You had a sort of reflection glory at school in the days that followed for you had been smiled upon by the man that rode the winner in the greatest race of the season. You pestered your mother and father to let you leave school at once; and told them you didn't care if you never did learn 'redin' and 'rithmetic, didn't want to be a doctor, didn't want to be an engine driver. You wanted to be a jockey and ride the favorite to the winning post at the fairy horse race next season. For you were a wee boy, with an athlete's love for sport.

Race Is On In Earnest.

You love the excitement of a race today just as much as you did when you were young and although the biggest event of the year which is being run under the auspices of The Danbury Reporter Circulation Drive there is no loud voiced betting man, and no jockeys and bright colored blouses, yet this is a race more exciting than the one you saw when a boy, because this race is for men and women, and because everyone of the entries is selling Stokes county's only newspaper, The Danbury Reporter.

There are a lot of thrills here for you, men and women who love sport will realize your childhood ambition and ride the winner to victory. You are not too late now, but you are not a moment too early. It may be that you are the "dark horse" that will carry off the prize in the greatest contest of the year. The signal has been given "Hurrah, boys, they're off."

Autos At 5 Cents Each In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—No motor car manufacturer probably, can match the low prices of new and not-so-new models offered at the 24th street sales room of police Inspector John Stockert. His day's sales, at auction, included five cars at five cents each, four cars at a dime, and one deluxe model at 50 cents.

The occasion was the regular auction of lost, strayed, stolen and abandoned automobiles gathered in by the police.

FELAN MABE KILLED MONDAY

Was Resident of Dillard Section of Stokes—Cause of His Death Is Rather A Mystery—Police Think Train Killed Mabe.

Winston-Salem, Jan. 17.—Found lying between the rails of the main line of the Norfolk and Western railroad here shortly after midnight last night, Felan Mabe, 40, of the Dillard section of Stokes county, was hurried to a local hospital where he died today as the result of a blow on the head.

A jury empaneled by Coroner W. N. Dalton conducted an investigation and then returned a verdict that, "Mabe came to his death as the result of a blow on the head from a blunt instrument at the hands of some unidentified person, and he was placed between the rails of the track."

Mabe, was found in an unconscious condition by a negro walking along the tracks, it is said. The negro said he moved the white man to the side, placed his overcoat over him and then went to an ice plant nearby and called an automobile.

Mabe, who was a farmer, came to Winston-Salem Monday afternoon with a neighbor to bring his tobacco. The two went to a Trade street boarding house for supper, but Mabe left his companion there, saying he was going out on the street for a while. He did not return.

A gold watch which Mabe is said to have been carrying yesterday could not be found today.

Police and county officers were today investigating the crime and they are of the opinion that Mabe lost his life when he attempted to board a freight train.

SITE SELECTED FOR KING SCHOOL

Building Will Cost $42,000 and Contract Will Be Let Soon—C. O. Boyles Will Remove To King—Other News Items.

King, Jan. 16.—Miss Galatis Wall, of Bryant Station, Tenn., is spending some time here with relatives.

C. S. Newsum's father, all his brothers and sisters and nephews and nieces took dinner with him Sunday, this being his birthday. The following were present: T. F. Newsum, E. P. Newsum, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Newsum and son, C. R. Newsum, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tuttle and daughter and son, Rural Hall, W. T. Newsum, P. H. Newsum and Miss Annie Newsum. This was his 35th milestone.

The work of remodeling the building formerly occupied by the King Drug Co. has been completed and the King Hardware company has moved their store to this building. J. F. Sisk and his son, O. W. Sisk have purchased an interest in this concern and Mr. O. W. Sisk will manage the business.

E. P. Pepper, of Danbury, was here Saturday in the interest of his newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pulliam, of High Point, spent Sunday with relatives here.

C. O. Boyles, of Mizpah, has purchased from J. M. Alley his home on west Main street and will move his family here.

Rev. Edward Brewer, of Winston-Salem, delivered a very interesting sermon at the Moravian church here Sunday afternoon.

THIEVES STEAL CORN AND WHEAT

Considerable Discussion of A Site For King School—Wheat Crop Damaged By Cold Weather.

King, Jan. 16.—Thieves entered the corn crib of John Nance a few nights since and carried away some of his corn. About ten bushels of wheat was also stolen from the premises of M. A. Palmer. It is likely that the grain is being used for making whiskey as there is quite a lot of it being used in this section at present.

There is quite a lot of discussion in this community about a site for the proposed new school building at King. H. McGee and Edwin Kiser made lengthy speeches on the question at Mt. Olive Saturday night.

Rev. Templeton, of Brown's Memorial Baptist church at Winston-Salem, delivered a lecture on missions at Mt. Olive church Sunday at 2 o'clock. A large congregation was in attendance.

Rev. O. E. Ward filled his regular appointment at Mt. Olive church Saturday and Sunday.

The recent freeze has apparently done considerable damage to the wheat crop in this section.

R. K. Long, who spent a few hours with the writer the past week, reports fine success in sacking wood and marketing it.

STOKES FARMER LOSES $285.00

Put Up Money on A Bet That A Trick Knife Would Not Open—Crooks Ran With Cash.

Winston-Salem, Jan. 17.—O. E. Boyles, Stokes county tobacco farmer, paid $285 here today to learn whether a "trick knife" over which two men were engaged in an argument, would open.

Boyles, who sold his tobacco at a local warehouse, saw the two unidentified men engaged in the argument at a busy street corner. One of the men asked him to make a bet that the knife would not open. He put up the money. The two men ran down the street when a "fake" policeman approached with the pretence of making an arrest.

Boyles notified the police, who began investigation.

Grady Pulliam Held At Baltimore

Winston-Salem, Jan. 18.—Grady Pulliam, former magistrate of this city, who came here from Stokes county about 10 years since, has been arrested in Baltimore, Md., on a warrant sworn out here by his wife charging abandonment and non-support. Lieutenant J. T. Thompson, of the local police department, has gone to the Maryland city to bring him back.

Several months ago persons who went to Mr. Pulliam's office on Main Street one morning failed to find him at his desk. Inquiry was made at his home and the report there was that he had not been seen for two days. Police recently located him and arrest followed.

Virginian's Slow To Buy Auto Tags

The director of the sale of automobile tags in Virginia announces that less than half of the owners of cars have bought new tags for 1928. The director says that more than 100 branch stations have been established for the sale of tags in Virginia and that from now on all car owners using old tags will be arrested.
