STOKES FARMERS MET HERE

Named Delegates To Raleigh Convention Which Met Today To Launch New Co-Operative Association.

Governor Max Gardner's Tax Relief Commission today received full endorsement of Stokes county farmers at an enthusiastic meeting held in the court house here, at which time a delegate to attend the mass meeting at Raleigh Wednesday, was named, and nine associate committeemen, one from each township in the county, also named to accompany the delegate to Raleigh. J. W. Young, of Meadows township, was named as delegate to represent Stokes county at the Raleigh mass meeting, having been elected by a large majority of those present at the meeting.

The meeting, which was called by J. E. Trevathan, as result of a telegraphed request received from Raleigh, yesterday, was well attended, however, on account of inability to notify all of the growers in the county, the meeting was not as well attended as it would have been if it had been given more publicity.

J. E. Trevathan presided over the meeting, calling for nomination of a temporary chairman, Sanders Hart being named with Louis Blackwell being nominated as temporary secretary. The nine associate delegates, named to accompany Mr. Young to Raleigh were: Danbury, M. O. Jones; Sauratown, H. G. Tuttle; Yadkin, R. C. White; Quaker Gap, Dell Taylor; Snow Creek, John Priddy; Big Creek, R. E. L. Frances; Meadows, J. W. Fowler, and Beaver Island, J. A. Williams.

Several of the leading tobacco growers of this county were heard at the meeting and voiced their approval of the plan to alleviate the tobacco situation in the State. All of those speaking deplored the condition of tobacco growing and marketing, and stated that they would like to see the situation taken up by the Government and remedied.

By the voice of the men present today at the meeting, fully every section of the county was put on record as having favored the plan, by which the State will receive the huge sum for relief of tobacco growers.

At the meeting tomorrow, J. W. Young will explain the situation in this county, and after returning from the meeting at Raleigh, it is more than probable that another mass meeting will be held here, which will be largely attended. Stokes county farmers, sensing the situation as one that is critical, have voiced their approval of the Governor's Relief plan, and will in the future offer their full aid.

MANY ATTEND MICKEY REUNION

Held At Pinnacle Last Sunday—Mickey Reunion To Be Held First Sunday In October.

The annual Mickey family reunion, held in the high school auditorium at Pinnacle Sunday, was attended by 500 or more relatives and friends. John Mickey, president of the Mickey Association, presided and directed the program which included short talks, singing of old-time gospel hymns, quartets, etc.

As on all other gatherings of this kind, a big dinner served on a table 138 feet long and loaded with all the good things desired by the inner man, was one of the big features.

The principal address of the occasion was delivered by Burd's Elkins. It was an inspiring message, abounding in many gospel truths.

Other talks were made by R. E. Carmichael and James Boles. The latter resides near the home of Jacob Mickey, original member of the family coming to North Carolina. It was located on the highway between Pinnacle and King. Mr. Mickey told how when a small lad he visited the Jacob Mickey home and heard the good wife of the latter read to him from a German Bible. "It was Jacob Mickey and my father who blazed the way in this section and opened what was first known as the Hollow Road, now the national highway which runs via Pinnacle," said the speaker, who added that all the Mickey husbands he ever knew were good to their wives.

Mrs. M. D. Broadway, of Broad Street, Winston-Salem, gave several readings to the delight of the large crowd. The Reynolds quartet of Winston also sang several selections, these also being greatly enjoyed.

John Mickey was re-elected president for the ensuing year and W. M. Mickey, of Winston-Salem, secretary and treasurer. All of the committees were also retained. It was announced that the reunion in 1931 would be held at the same place and W. N. Boles, chairman of the program committee, promised an even better entertainment than the one given this year.

Announcement was made that a joint reunion of the Mosers in Stokes, Forsyth, Guilford and Randolph counties would be held at Colfax, below Kernersville, on the first Sunday in October.

Rev. J. F. Manuel and little son were here Monday returning from the northern section of the county where Mr. Manuel preached at Peters Creek church on Sunday. He is pastor of several Baptist churches in Stokes.

Can A Squirrel Carry An Ear Of Corn?

Danbury reports that squirrels have done so much damage to green corn in Stokes county that land owners have been granted special permits for an open season on the squirrels a little in advance of the open season beginning on the 15th. The Stokes county story sets out that great numbers of squirrels have invaded the corn fields "to cut the ears off and carry them away."

Considering that a full grown ear of corn is about the size of a squirrel, the proceedings are halted for an inquiry: Did anybody in the audience ever see a squirrel cut off an ear of corn and tote it from the field? Or do two or more combine their efforts to one ear in the cutting and carrying away? No reward for answer. Just seeking light.—The Statesville Daily.
