The regular term of criminal court convened here Monday and large numbers of defendants, witnesses and spectators have been in attendance.

TOBACCO CO-OP PLANS GIVEN UP

James Satterfield, Col., Shoots Pearl Mitchell, Also Colored—Claims Self Defense—Satterfield Captured Tuesday.

Raleigh, Oct. 14.—Plans for organizing tobacco growers of North Carolina in two co-operative marketing associations to begin functioning this year and thus receive financial aid promised by the Federal Farm Board were definitely abandoned for this year here today.

The tobacco executive committee, however, announced it would redouble its efforts to have two functioning co-operative associations in the State in 1931.

Two Organizations

It is proposed to organize one co-operative of Eastern North Carolina tobacco growers and one of the Old Belt growers.

J. R. Page of Aberdeen met with the executive committee, marketing experts of State College and a representative of the Federal Farm Board today.

It was reported Mr. Page was "seriously considering" a proposition to become head of the two associations, whose general headquarters will be located here.

Mr. Page, a successful merchant, farmer and banker, was understood to be showing interest in the co-operative movement and all phases of the proposed movement to organize the tobacco growers were being explained to him.

Would Have Confidence

"Mr. Page would have the confidence of every grower, merchant and banker, and, if we are able to get him, we will feel we have the right man to head up the movement," Geo. R. Ross, personal representative of Governor O. Max Gardner on the executive committee said.

Mr. Ross said it was the consensus of opinion among the members of the executive committee that, owing to the lateness of the season coupled with the fact that the farm board had asked a decision from the tobacco growers of the State by October 15, it would be unwise to attempt to launch the associations this year.

Looks Encouraging

"It looks very encouraging for a definite movement," Mr. Ross said, declaring that merchants, farmers and bankers in the tobacco-growing counties of the State feel that there is no reason why the associations could not begin functioning next year.

Growers in Surry and Stokes counties telegraphed the committee today urging the starting operations this year, but the committeemen decided it would be best to forego operations this year and concentrate all efforts toward getting away to a running start next year.

CLYDE R. HOEY SPEAKS HERE

Address Is Enjoyed By Crowd Which Filled Court House To Overflowing—One of State's Finest Speakers.

Clyde R. Hoey, one of the State's outstanding speakers, addressed an audience in Danbury Tuesday at noon that filled the court house auditorium full to overflowing, a part of the audience not being able to find seats.

Mr. Hoey expressed confidence that the citizenship of North Carolina would register its approval of Democratic administration in the state for the past 30 years.

Mr. Hoey said in part: "Some complaints have been made that our schools are expensive and that education is costing too much. An analysis of this charge and comparison with other states will completely disprove it. The average cost per student enrolled in all the county and city schools of the state is $35.20 per year. The average cost in the entire United States is over $71. So it will be seen that the school management in North Carolina under the Democratic party costs the taxpayers only half as much per pupil as the average cost throughout the United States."

"The Democratic party does not feel called upon to apologize for its interest in the education of the state's children. Since the immortal Aycock wrested the control of the state from the blight of illiteracy, the Democratic party has championed the right of every child to the opportunity of a free public school. The state has forged forward until today our educational system is the pride of all forward looking North Carolinians, the envy of our sister states of the south, and the respected of the nation."

"The Republican politicians are charging the Democrats with extravagance in the conduct of state affairs and alleging high taxes as a result. This charge is utterly groundless. One enthusiastic orator declared that the expenses of the state government in 1905 was only $7,500,000 and that it increased to $100,000,000 in 1929. The only thing wrong with this statement is that it is just about $31,000,000 too much. The cost for 1929 was about $16,000,000, which is less than 1-sixth of the amount charged."

"The next charge is that county taxes are too high. In nearly all the counties the taxes are for bond issues voted by the people and for other public improvements. However, a sufficient answer to this charge is that there are 100 counties in the state—32 of these are governed by the Republicans and the taxes are lower in the Democratic than in the Republican counties, notwithstanding

STOKES GETS NICE SCHOOL FUND

We Will Receive From the State This Year $78,336.54 Of the Equalization Fund—No Additional Teachers.

Raleigh, Oct. 14.—One hundred and even additional teachers were allotted to schools in 57 of the 92 counties participating in the State school of Equalization at its recent meeting, out of more than 200 requests for additional teachers. LeRoy Martin, secretary, announced. The limit of about $100,000 for this purpose, the State Board paying the full salaries of the additional teachers, held down the number, although a few others will probably be given schools just now starting.

No additional teachers were allotted to Stokes county.

Figures just compiled show that Stokes county will receive a total of $78,336.54 from the State school fund this year, $68,113.53 of which is for the constitutional six months term and $10,223.01 for the extended term, in addition to any that may be paid to extra teachers allotted.

Of the total of $6,500,000 appropriated for school, $6,273,593.66 has been allotted by the board, $1,932,920.31 from the $3,250,000 equalizing fund and $1,280,555.72, plus a balance from last year, of the $1,250,000 tax reduction fund.

STOKES DEPUTY HAS CLOSE CALL

Negro Caught At Still Snaps His Pistol In Face Of Officer Mack Wall But Gun Fails To Fire.

Early Tuesday morning of this week Deputy Sheriff Mack Wall while searching for a still in the section east of Walnut Cove suddenly ran upon a still with a single negro man in attendance. Calling upon him to surrender the negro drew his gun and snapped it in the officer's face several times. Wall didn't stop for this but hit the negro over the head with his gun and the two then clinched. It was a life and death fight then and the two men went over and under down the branch for a hundred feet or more. Finally the officer subdued the negro and brought him, with his still here to jail.

The man was found to be Hassel Kallum, colored, and he will be given a preliminary hearing today, it was stated.

Thirteen Gaston county farmers visited the Coker Farms near Harttsville in South Carolina to study the varieties of cotton being grown. The visitors were looking for a variety suitable for Gaston farms.

The Democratic counties have made the most progress and have shown much greater development."

FRANK HANCOCK SPEAKS AT KING

Large Gathering of Citizens Hear Candidate For Congress—John D. Humphreys and Geo. Younce Make Short Talks.

A crowd which almost filled the large auditorium of the excellent new high school building at King heard Hon. Frank Hancock, Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, discuss the political issues on Saturday night.

The meeting was called to order by Attorney J. D. Humphreys, of Danbury, nominee for Superior court judge. Mr. Humphreys complimented King on their excellent school building and their large school enrollment and called attention to the town's bright prospects and its fine location, being in the midst of a fine farming section as well as having the Lakes-to-Florida highway passing through it, and as Judge Humphreys said, it looks like E. P. Newsom was about right when he said King was the "biggest little town in North Carolina."

After Judge Humphreys came Geo. Younce, candidate for Solicitor on the Democratic ticket, who, in a few fitting remarks, introduced Mr. Hancock, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Hancock's speech of an hour or more, was devoted to former Clerk of the Court M. both State and national issues large audience present. In the audience were citizens from Pilot Mt., Danbury, Pinnacle, Walnut Cove, Germantown and other places, and the speaker made a fine impression on his audience.
