FAMILY DOCTOR LEARNED THIS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

Dr. Caldwell loved people. His years of practice convinced him many were ruining their health by careless selection of laxatives. He determined to write a harmless prescription which would get at the cause of constipation, and correct it.

Today, the prescription he wrote in 1885 is the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness and lack of appetite or energy showed the bowels of men, women and children were sluggish. It proved successful in even the most obstinate cases; old folks liked it for it never gripes; children liked its pleasant taste. All drugstores today have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in bottles.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Any drugstore has the genuine, prescriptive product.

Lesson for October 19

SIMEON AND ANNA: THE INSIGHT OF THE PURE IN HEART

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:25-35. GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. PRIMARY TOPIC—Being Glad for God's Best Gift. JUNIOR TOPIC—Simeon and Anna See Jesus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Know Jesus. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Wisdom Depends on Character.

The lesson title is somewhat misleading in that it implies that the insight of Simeon and Anna was due to their purity of heart, whereas it was due to the fact of the indwelling Holy Spirit. Those indwelt by the Spirit will be pure in heart, but not all the pure in heart have such insight.

1. Simeon (Luke 2:25-35). 1. His character (v. 25). (1) He was just. That is, honest and upright in all his dealings with men. We are not told what his occupation was, but we are assured that he was a man trusted by all who knew him. If he were a merchant, his customers got the kind of goods represented with full weight and measure. In spite of the corruptions of his time, he did not take advantage of his fellow men in business deals.

(2) Devout. He was just because he was God-fearing. Many boast of their morality while unwilling to bow their knees to God in prayer.

(3) He looked for the Messiah. God's word had promised that Christ should come. He believed in the truthfulness of that word. The same word that told of Christ's first coming tells of his second coming (Hebrews 9:28). While waiting for the Messiah, he kept faithfully discharging his duty. Intelligent looking for the coming of Jesus Christ means diligence in daily duties, not idly gazing into the heavens.

(4) The Holy Spirit was upon him. This was the secret of his godly and practical living. The Christ-like life is only possible to those who are filled with the Holy Ghost.

2. His reward (vv. 29-32). The Holy Spirit revealed unto him that he should see the Messiah before he died. At the appointed time the Spirit led him into the temple where Joseph and Mary came to present Jesus to God. Simeon took him in his arms and blessed God. The most important event in every life is to see Christ. One has missed the greatest experience of life if he has not seen Christ.

3. Simeon's song (vv. 29-33). This is the Nunc Dimittis sung by Christians since the Fifth century. A. D. Simeon was now ready to die because he had seen God's salvation. Salvation is in and through Christ's atonement on the cross. No one is ready to die until he has seen God's salvation which was wrought out on Calvary's cross.

4. Simeon's prophecy (vv. 31, 35). (1) The meaning of Christ to the world (v. 31).

Everyone is affected by Christ's coming. His presentation to man either results in their salvation or condemnation. There is absolutely no neutral ground. Personal attitude toward him determines all.

(2) He shall be spoken against (v. 34). This has been fulfilled in every generation since its utterance.

(3) Meaning to Mary (v. 35). This began to be fulfilled when she was obliged to flee Egypt in order for Jesus to escape Herod's sword. It was an intimation of what the end would be when she clasped her child to her bosom. Her heart was pierced again and again as human hate swept against her son. Its culmination was reached when she stood below his cross.

11. Anna (Luke 2:36-39). 1. Her character (vv. 36, 37). She was irreproachable. After a married life of only seven years, she had lived as a lonely widow for about eighty-four years, during which time she devoted herself to God. She was what Paul called "a widow indeed" (1 Tim. 5:5). During these long years she endured many trials and temptations, leading a life of self-denial for the sake of others. She was a woman of much prayer.

2. Her testimony (v. 38). She gave thanks and spoke of him to all who were looking for redemption. She thus had fellowship with others who had this blessed hope. Though surrounded by wickedness, many were looking for the Messiah.

No Room for Both How foolish are we if we attempt to entertain two guests so hostile to one another as Christ Jesus and Satan! Rest assured, Christ will not live in the parlor of our hearts if we entertain Satan in the cellar of our thoughts.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

PUBLIC MEN.

In glancing through the editorial columns of the metropolitan press one cannot but note the ease and alacrity manifested by some writers in criticizing the officials at the helm of government. How natural it has become to take issue with this or that statesman, or to cite his failures rather than his accomplishments. How quickly enthusiasm cools and the once ardent constituent becomes apathetic and critical.

It is seemingly easier to criticize an executive for those things he has left undone than to examine conscientiously and acclaim his record of performance. Errors of omission are frequently played up by an antagonistic press far more invitingly to the reader than the actual errors of commission, even though the latter may be few and far between.

A legislator introduced on the floor of the House or Senate a measure designed to accomplish a great public good. Supporters jump in and solidly back the lawmaker—for a time—then owing to the fact that stupendous obstacles are not overcome in short order, these supporters become lukewarm and their one-time ardent enthusiasm quickly turns to pessimism and dark forebodings.

Again, it is quite a habit these days to charge everything of an unfavorable nature to the administration. A collapse in the stock market, trade depression, unemployment, etc., are directly laid at the door of the Chief Executive.

Instead of maintaining a calm, clear faith and trust in the men elected by popular suffrage to high office, there are those hysterical ones who fly into paroxysms of terror and rage and, forgetting their earlier confidence, make generous use of the invective, thereby offering no real solution of the involved but muddling things generally, hampering the executive and bewildering their fellow countrymen.

Let us have faith in our public men. They are but human beings like ourselves, even though endowed with that particular astuteness that their respective offices demand. They can accomplish but little without the generous support of a trusting electorate.

In the interests of the Nation let our people encourage those men who are holding the reins of government and are conscientiously performing their duties. In this way they will be enabled to render even greater services, the country will benefit correspondingly and our citizens will become more closely knit in the common fabric of pure Americanism.

Good Market Exists For Black Walnuts

Both the hulled nuts and the black walnut kernels or meats are in demand by grocery, confectionery shops, or candy plants and the sale of the walnuts may be made a regular farm income.

"There are many farms in North Carolina having black walnut trees producing nuts of exceptional value each year," declares R. W. Graeber, extension forester at State College. "Last year was a poor walnut year in most sections of the State and it is possible that the drouth has interfered with the crop this season; however, the crop prospect is worth immediate investigation. Good black walnuts are always in demand and there are local markets available in nearly every town in the State."

In preparing the nuts for market, they should be gathered as soon as they fall, the hulls removed and the nuts spread out to dry, says Mr. Graeber. This keeps the kernels bright-colored and sweet. An old corn sheller may be used to remove the hulls rapidly and easily, if done while the hulls are still green. Scrubbing in an old churn or similar receptacle will polish the shells and make the nuts more attractive to the eye.

Mr. Graeber says that many farmers of his acquaintance have developed a good trade direct with the consumer thru the curbmarkets. Others sell by parcel post and still others sell directly to the candy stores, ice cream plants and other local markets. If any farmer should have difficulty in finding a local market, Mr. Graeber offers to send him information about outside markets.

HARRY H. LEAKE

FOR

REPRESENTATIVE

An OPEN LETTER

To the Voters of Stokes County:

I want to remind you of the fact that I am a candidate for Representative on the Democratic ticket, and desire your support in the coming election. I wish it were possible to see each of you in person, but as my work prohibits me from doing so, I take this method of outlining my platform, as I would not feel worthy of asking for your support if I made no attempt to make public some of the measures which I expect to advocate and sponsor in the next Legislature if I am successful in the election.

My platform shall be based largely upon economy and tax reduction, as I feel that these matters are of vital concern to all the people of the county. The tax rate on property in Stokes is burdensome, and I see no sure way of relief except through State aid which may be brought about by legislative enactment.

I believe the State should pay the entire cost of operating the six months' school term, and I see no reason why this should not be enacted into law during the next General Assembly. This one thing alone should reduce your tax rate more than one-third.

I believe the present law relating to the distribution of the gas tax should be amended so as to give Stokes county several thousand dollars more per year for road maintenance, which would, in effect, bring about a further reduction in your tax rate.

I would advocate a law to provide for State publication and free distribution of text books for the children in the public schools.

Not only the things mentioned above would be given my best attention and strongest support, but every measure that would be beneficial to all the people of Stokes county.

Sincerely,

HARRY H. LEAKE
