LITTLE TALES OF HUMAN INTEREST

PEOPLE YOU KNOW OR DON'T KNOW WHO ARE ATTENDING COURT — PARTIES TO SUITS, WITNESSES AND SPECTATORS

Large crowds of citizens are here this week attending court in various capacities, some of them parties to suits, some witnesses, some jurors, some court officers, many spectators, many politicking, etc., etc.

Among the throng was noticed—Dr. J. L. Hanes, of Pine Hall, who enjoys the reputation of being one of the best physicians in this section of the State.

Joe Alley, deputy sheriff, of King, had after bootleggers.

County Game Warden H. G. Alley, whose business is to pull the peaches.

Riley Turner, a hall-fellow, well-met of Walnut Cove.

Squire W. P. Ray, of Lawsonville, who never grows old.

Monroe Fagg, of Peter's Creek, Republican candidate for Sheriff of Stokes.

N. F. Christian, of Westfield.

J. Walter Simmons, of Francisco, who could fill any office in the county with dignity, ability and honor.

Rufe King, of Germantown, who carries $400 worth of chattel mortgages in one pocket, and six 10-cent cigars in the other.

E. L. Alley, of Hartman, who knows how to make superfine wipers that sell for fancy prices.

C. M. Jones, of Walnut Cove, holder of an important Federal revenue position.

Will George, deputy sheriff of Francisco, who is one of Sheriff Taylor's right hand men.

J. J. Stephens, of Walnut Cove, who formerly lived near Danbury, but now lives in the flat country near Pine Hall. Mr. Stephens says the water from the flood this week did a great deal of destruction in the lower part of the county, especially to corn and feedstuffs.

Cary L. Carroll, of Mountain View, one of the chiefs of the Carroll clan, whose friends are legion. Never was a truer-hearted creature in the world than Cary.

James W. Young, of Meadows township, one of the county's most substantial and honorable citizens.

Frank Smith, of Peter's Creek township, a type of that prosperous class of farmers who produce their home supplies, and therefore are never caught napping when the winds of adversity come.

Reid Forrest, of Francisco, the son of his dad, and that's enough said, as the elder Reid is all wool and a yard wide.

W. R. Stovall, of Sandy Ridge, one of the thrifty and prosperous farmers of Snow Creek, who have been able to say to hell with the panic.

Cleve Lawson, deputy sheriff, of Lawsonville, one of the best officers of the county.

Moir Hawkins, of Sandy Ridge, one of the Democratic chiefs of Snow Creek.

J. A. Nunn, of Westfield, one of the Republican chiefs of Quaker Gap township, where Democratic votes are as scarce as the teeth of matronly poultry.

H. H. Leake, of King, who represented Stokes county in the 1930-31 "long parliament."

Dr. J. W. Neal, of Walnut Cove, who has recently recovered from a serious illness, to the pleasure of his many friends.

J. Wilson Mitchell, of King, a good citizen of a fine old township—Yadkin.

E. R. Nelson, of Piedmont Springs, Republican candidate for county commissioner, and whose friends are many.

J. C. Franks, of Big Creek township, who is a lespedeza enthusiast, that is a crank on the kind of nutritious plant which is said to rejuvenate soils, and which in some sections of North Carolina has wrought wonders for the farmers, will do the same thing in Stokes.

Mr. Franks will be a philanthropist if he puts over lespedeza in Stokes.

Ed Smith, of Lawsonville, who says he has a fine crop of tobacco this year on his upper place. Mr. Smith is not only a big farmer, but he deals in chattel mortgages, too, and can tell the age of a mule by examining his molars.

Charley Slawter, of Rock House section, who is one of the best citizens of Quaker Gap township.

Jess Willard, of Moore's Springs, who has charge of the well known summer resort property since the deaths of its lamented owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw.

Jones Nelson, proprietor of Nelson's funeral parlor, a going concern near Buck Island.

Rev. R. W. George, of Francisco, Stokes county's largest tax-payer and the richest Presbyterian preacher in the State.

Moses Carroll, of Flatshoal, Germantown Route 1, deputy sheriff and thrifty farmer.

Luther Mitchell, of Walnut Cove, probably the best posted cattle man in the county.

Calvin Mabe, of Lawsonville, who has worked faithfully for the State highway to come by Lawsonville, and who will win.

Zeb Stewart, the head of the highway work in this district, with headquarters at Winston-Salem.

NOEL OAKLEY GIVEN TWO YEARS

PETITIONS CIRCULATED ASKING JUDGE TO IMPOSE SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Noel Oakley was convicted, and sentenced by Judge Harding to a term of two years on the roads.

Public sentiment is strong on the side of Oakley, who has always borne a good character, and has had the reputation of being a quiet law-abiding citizen. Soon after the verdict was announced, petitions were circulated asking the judge to allow Oakley his freedom under a suspended sentence. As the Reporter goes to press, the petitions freely signed are still in circulation.

Wedding.

Married recently: Andrew Paul Martin, of Stokes county, to Gladys Leona Shelton, of Mayodan. The wedding occurred at Martinsville, Va. Rev. C. M. Wales, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCrary, of Lexington, visited Danbury this week.

HURRICANE SWEEPS MOORE COUNTY

FORMER STOKES CITIZENS EXPERIENCE THE DESTRUCTIVE EFFECTS OF A MIGHTY WIND — LONGED FOR THE SHELTER OF THE GREAT SUWARRIES.

Gid Baker, formerly of Flatshoal, but who is now a citizen of Moore county, called to see the Reporter Tuesday.

Mr. Baker tells of a hurricane that visited Moore last week, wreaking considerable damage, and causing the Stokesites to long for the shelter of the Suwarrie town mountain when the great wind was sweeping the Moore county flatlands. Sam Bibb, who lives at Vaos, is the proprietor of a filling station and a store, says his place of business razed. Several people were in the store when the storm struck. Most of them got out unharmed. One of Robert Kiser's young sons, caught with the edge of a falling roof, had his foot cut partly off. Mr. Baker's dwelling was partially unroofed, other buildings including tobacco barns, were unroofed, and much minor damage was done by the strong wind.

Lawsonville Defeats Sandy Ridge

Madison, Oct. 14.—The farmers in this part of the county are getting through work and are planning to rest.

Messrs. Bill Stults and Edward Alcorn called on Messrs. Ethel Kintz and Hildrea Wilkins Saturday night.

Those who went on a hiking trip Sunday afternoon in the rain were: Harry Reid, Glenn Reid, Taylor Reid, Paul James and Woodrow James.

Those who visited Miss Lola Rhodes Sunday were Miss Bessie Wall, Messrs. Realus Steele and Jess Joyce.

Miss Lola Rhodes visited her grandfather's home Saturday.

The Sandy Ridge school is progressing nicely.

Sandy Ridge boys played against the Lawsonville boys in a basketball game Friday evening, the score being 6 to 16 in favor of Lawsonville.

Reynolds Lauds Morrison

Bob Reynolds, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, highly lauded Senator Morrison in a speech at Henderson Thursday.

Farmers Get a Million

A total of $1,070,358.77 has been paid out by the Winston-Salem leaf tobacco market to date to the farmers.

Tom Mix Badly Hurt.

Tony, his horse, fell upon him, and Tom has been unconscious for six hours. The great screen star is in a dangerous condition.

Favors Inflation

Senator Geo. W. Norris, of Nebraska, urges temporary inflation of the currency to aid agriculture.

H. H. Williamson, of Pine Hall, is foreman of the grand jury.

HEAVY RAINS SWELL STREAMS

DAN RIVER HIGHEST SINCE YEAR 1916 — BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION CONSIDERABLY DAMAGED — ROADS WASHED BADLY — CORN ON BOTTOMS WASHED AWAY.

Heavy rains Sunday, Monday and Tuesday put all the streams out of their banks. Dan river was the highest since 1916. The rising waters swept away thousands of bushels of corn. At Buck Island bridge, where excavations had been made for the new cement structure by contractors, damage from one to two thousand dollars was done. The bridge forces worked all of Sunday night removing cement and other supplies and made to a dry and safe place. It is said the work will be thrown back probably two weeks. Town Park was highest for years, and much corn was destroyed up and down the stream.

Lawsonville P. T. A. Holds Interesting Meeting

The Lawsonville Parent-Teacher Association met Wednesday night, October 12, 1932, in the school auditorium. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Alfred Robertson, president. After the devotional exercises by Mr. Hood a short business session was held with roll call and report by Mrs. Glenn Smith, secretary and treasurer. The main feature of the meeting was an address by Dr. R. H. Morefield on Practical Education, and an address by Professor Phillips, of Francisco, on How to Apply Education. These addresses were thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd of patrons assembled. In conclusion refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. C. M. Mabe and Miss Deolive Robertson. The next meeting will be on Wednesday after the second Sunday in November. All parents and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

MRS. EMILY P. SMITH.

Average $10.47

Tobacco averaged $10.47 on the Winston-Salem market Friday, Oct. 21.

Hon. J. F. Spruill, former solicitor, was here this week, shaking hands with his hosts of friends in Stokes. He made a speech heard by a large crowd, and greatly enjoyed, in which he pictured the terrible failure of the Hoover administration, and predicted the overwhelming victory of Roosevelt.

John L. Christian, proprietor of an independent smoking tobacco concern of Pinnacle, was among the visitors here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pyrtle with their pretty little child, of Winston-Salem, visited friends in Danbury today.

H. H. Brown, of King, one of Yadkin's most active deputies, is here with the crowd.

P. H. Young, of Sandy Ridge, was here this week.

TOBACCO HANGS AROUND THIRTEEN

SOME FAIRLY GOOD AVERAGES BEING MADE BY FARMERS—HOT, DAMP WEATHER THREATENING THE CROP IN THE HANDS OF THE GROWERS.

For several days this week, hot, damp weather has seriously threatened the crop of tobacco in the hands of the farmers, as would develop in many instances. However, even at this writing the weather has cleared up cool, and the sun is shining, and the growers feel much better.

The averages on the market are playing around 13 cents per pound. This means that in some few cases good prices are being received. What Philip of Meadows can do for a plant yesterday.

It is hoped that with dry and weather prices may improve.

JAMES C. FLIPPIN DIED THIS WEEK

LEADING CITIZEN OF BIG CREEK TOWNSHIP PASSES AT AGE OF 75—WAS EX-COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

James C. Flippin, of Big Creek township, aged 75, died in his home near West M. Tuesday, after a short illness of erysipelas and other old age complications.

Mr. Flippin was a good citizen, and had held during his life the high esteem of his neighbors and many friends. He was for one or more terms county commissioner—about 1904—and had held other positions of public trust.

The deceased is survived by five sons and daughters, as follows:

Charles Flippin, of Mt. Airy Route 2.

Walter Flippin, of Mt. Airy Route 6.

Mrs. W. S. George, of Francisco.

Mrs. Fonroe Riddle, of Westfield.

Claud Flippin, New York.

The interment was at the old home burying ground near Westfield, the funeral ceremonies being conducted by Elder F. P. Stone. A large crowd attended.

Clyde Hoey.

Hon. Clyde Hoey, one of the State's greatest statesmen and orators, held a great crowd spellbound in the court house here Monday as he told of the failure of the Hoover administration to bring relief to the country; how the Smoot-Hawley tariff enacted at the instance of Andy Mellon to protect favored industries had destroyed America's foreign trade; how many American manufacturers were building factories and mills in foreign countries to escape its iniquitous rates; how large contributors to Republican campaign funds had been re-comped by tremendous rebates of taxes which the Wilson war administration had levied upon them; how the results of vicious tariff schedules were now seen in the paralysis of business and manufacturing and the enormous throngs of idle and unemployed workmen. Hoey closed with a magnificent tribute to the character and qualifications of Franklin D. Roosevelt and predicted his election by the greatest majority in the history of the nation.
