

THE DANBURY REPORTER.

Volume 61.

Established 1872.

Danbury, N. C., Wednesday June 14 1933

The State Library

Number 3,780

THE VARIED LIFE OF WALNUT COVE

TERRIFIC STORM STRIKES TERROR TO THE HEARTS OF FOUR PROMINENT CITIZENS — WILL FULP GIVES ANOTHER FISH FRY—PREACHER LEAVES FOR DUKE PASTOR'S SCHOOL.

Walnut Cove, June 14.—The week beginning Sunday, June 4th, and ending June 11th, was a week full of thrills, plenty for the fishing ears to hear, to say nothing about the heat registering in excess of 100 degrees.

First: Monday evening, the 5th, a bicyclist on his way to the Century of Progress, delighted town-men and passers-by with an exhibition of riding ability on a bicycle. It made no difference whether the cyclist was sitting on his seat in regular form, or standing on his head while circling around his wheel.

Second: Tuesday—uneventful. Wednesday were again thrilled by the four traveling musicians from Florida, making their way to—no one knows where. With such delightful melodies, there was no time delayed by those trained in the art of shuffling feet in employing the troubadours for a performance that night at the Saura Lodge. Some of the guests reported a big time; while others said it was impossible to do the round dance with string music.

Fourth: On Thursday afternoon a terrific storm, cyclonic intensity, and fathomless in density, struck the Mitcholo feed barn, tearing out the heart and strings, and shattering the nerves to the four corners of the earth of Messrs. J. Frank Dunlap, J. W. Jones, Jr., J. R. Turner, and J. C. Hutchison, Mayor. We do not know the reason these men visited Mr. J. L. Mitchell at the feed barn, where Mr. Mitchell was lying resting peacefully upon the new mow hay, watching old Prince and Buck winding in the newly gathered provender; but this we do know: Mrs. Mitchell made a special point to find out why and wherefore of the afternoon gathering. It is sufficient to say, however, that, with tears in their eyes, her pardon was implored for their intrusions; but with a fresh verbal attack these men went away sorrowfully, wondering in their hearts if each hadn't found out where this expression came from: "Mad as a hatter."

Fifth: Friday afternoon was a great day for the officers and employees of the Security Life & Trust Company, as well as the friends of Mr. Will Fulp in the vicinity of Walnut Cove. Mr. Fulp gave a fish fry on the spacious lawn of the home of Mr. Will Sands.

Sixth: In passing through this town Saturday afternoon, Prof. J. C. Carson, Supt. of the R. F. C. work in Stokes County, reported that the World War Veterans of this county out of employment had an opportunity of enlisting in the reforestation program. This county has a quota to fill; and it is requested that if any World War or Spanish American Veteran who is willing to sign up for a period of six months, agreeing to return to his dependents $25 each month, is

Play To Be Given At Sandy Ridge

Sunday night June 17, at 8:00 o'clock in the Sandy Ridge school auditorium the young people of Sandy Ridge and Delta community will present "Wild Geese," a comedy-drama in three acts. The cast of characters is as follows:

Jake Tallman — a miserly old hunchback—Glenn Dodson.
Geoffrey Freeman — Young man of hero type—Louis Joyce.
Sanford Lakey — A man of extravagant habits—Crawford Priddy.
Marwood Lakey — Sanford Lakey's son—Paul Blair.
Wuzzy Walker — A would-be chiropractor — Clarence Martin.
Mr. Peterson—A country grocery-man — Richard Brown.
Virginia Tallman — Jake Tallman's daughter. Nicknamed "Wild Geese." A lovable heart-burner.
Little girl who faces a life problem which almost breaks her heart — Nannie Belle Dodson.
Miss Rachel Lee — Geese's best friend — Vivian Mays.
Miss Stanley — A health nurse—Ernestine Hawkins.
Miz Walker — Wuzzy's mother—Annie Ruth Thornton.
Bonita Lakey — Marwood's sister—Willie Virginia Hall.

The price of admission is 10 cents. The proceeds will go to the church. A good play with a good cast. You are cordially invited to come and enjoy an evening of fine fellowship and wholesome recreation.

Mrs. Russell Ward and little daughter, Jenny Madoline, are spending a few days with Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Len Lemmons of Ayersville.

Mrs. J. Moir Hawkins has returned home after attending the funeral of her father, Mr. A. J. Gann, who passed away suddenly at his home near Crozet, Va., May 28. Mr. Gann was formerly a citizen of Stokes county.

Mr. Gladys Joyce attended the indoor circus at Madison Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan and family are spending a few days with Mrs. Duncan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dodson.

Veteran should report to the Superintendent, or to H. H. McPherson, Adjutant, Neal Boone Post No. 197, American Legion, Walnut Cove, N. C.

Seventh: In the absence of Rev. O. E. Ward at the morning service Sunday morning at the Baptist church, Rev. J. W. Manuel preached. Mr. Manuel's subject was that of "Fajth," drawing some timely illustrations from life in support of his theme.

Rev. J. B. Fitzgerald, of the Walnut Cove Charge, M. E. Church, spent two weeks at the Duke University pastor's school. The stewards made up a nice purse and turned same over to the pastor for expenses, and was instructed by his stewards to forget he had even a family or churches to fill until he return home.

MOORE'S KNOB VISITED IN 1823

DESCRIPTION OF WELL KNOWN STOKES COUNTY PEAK WRITTEN MORE THAN A CENTURY AGO — SCENERY COMPARED WITH THE PILOT.

How many people of northwestern North Carolina have climbed the rugged heights of Moore's Knob?

Double's many hundreds of people under whose eyes the headlines of this story will fall, have climbed the knob and enjoyed the scenery from the top. To those who have not done so, any of the initiated will say that they have missed a good climb and a marvelous panorama.

Moore's Knob, like Pilot Mountain, once attracted the attention of the great scientist, Professor Denison Olmstead and his companions in exploration, President Joseph Caldwell and Professor Andrews, all of the University of North Carolina.

In fact, it was but a short time after the three "explorers" had finished their study of Pilot Mountain that they turned eastwardly to the Sauratown Range for a continuation of their studies.

Professor Olmstead's report of his trip is replete with information which can be checked for accuracy to the present day by people who are acquainted with the mountain. The writer has been to Moore's Knob on four different occasions and always has considered the climb thoroughly worthwhile — even more worthwhile than the great Carolina professor seemed to regard it.

Professor Olmstead's complete report on his visit just 110 years ago to Moore's Knob, which has since been visited and measured by representatives of the United States coast and geodetic service, follows:

"After feasting for a week on the native luxuries of the Pilot, we next passed a few miles eastward to the Sauratown Mountains, which we ascended at the highest point of elevation, called Moore's Mountain. This eminence, though higher than the Pilot is less difficult and perilous in ascent, though sufficiently laborious.

"The view which its summit presents, is similar to the other; and if the outline of the Blue Ridge loses a little of its grandeur by a small increase of distance, the loss is more than compensated by the Pilot itself, which stamps on the landscape a most beautiful feature.

"The scenery which adorns the side of Moore's Mountain, is also of a highly interesting character. On the ascent we are conducted to a cascade, which, though small, is eminently pleasing to the eye, presenting suddenly to the visitor, in a chasm between perpendicular rocks, sixty-five feet in height, a narrow sheet of silver foam, falling first down a precipice of thirty feet, and then rolling down an incline plane with peculiar grace and beauty. This waterfall is so hidden among inaccessible rocks, as to be known to very few persons, and remain without a name. But our party learning that Mr. Schweintz, the celebrated botanist, had recently penetrated to this spot, in pursuing his favorite objects among the mountains, and

(Continued on 5th Page)

WILLIAM MOSER DEAD AT KING

C. D. SLATE'S WONDERFUL HEN — KING DEFEATS PINNACLE AT BALL—SERIES OF MEETINGS AT KING FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH—PERSONALS.

King, June 14.—William Moser, aged 83, died at his home 3 miles east of town Monday. The deceased who had spent his entire life in this county and who was one among our best citizens, is survived by the widow and several children. The funeral service was conducted at Mount Olive Church Tuesday and burial followed in the church cemetery.

Robert Newsom, of Fort Branch, spent the week end here the guest of relatives.

Believe it or not, C. D. Slate, Jr., set a hen on fifteen eggs and last Tuesday he removed from the nest the hen and her nine chicks, which she had hatched. On Thursday following he passed near the nest and heard little chickens hollering. Upon investigation to his surprise he found three more of the eggs had hatched. This will give you some idea as to the intensity of the hot wave which has been passing over this section for the past few days. I might state that the nest was under a metal roof.

Thomas Baker and family, of Trinity, spent Sunday with relatives here.

The King Tigers defeated Pinnacle on the King diamond Saturday to the tune of 8 and 4.

Mrs. Charlotte Hauser, of Winston-Salem, is spending a few days with relatives here.

Edwin W. Carroll, prominent planter of the Neatman section, was here on business Saturday.

William H. Holder, who holds a position at Winston-Salem, spent Sunday with his family here.

The following births were registered here last week: To Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kiger, a daughter, and to Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Baker, a daughter.

Attorney Harry H. Leake went to Danbury Friday to attend to some legal matters.

A series of meetings began at the First Baptist Church Sunday night. The pastor, Rev. Romie Adams, is being assisted in these meetings by Rev. Mr. Carter of Winston-Salem. Jesse Spease and his sister, Mrs. J. S. Newsom, of Tobaccoville, were among the visitors here Sunday.

Baptising

A baptising by Primitive Baptists in the Dan here early Sunday attracted a considerable crowd. The candidate, an aged invalid, was dipped while in his chair, not being able to walk. The ceremony was in charge of Elder J. Watt Tuttle.

A very attractive new swimming pool and lake combined has opened up out on the Reynolda Road about 4 miles out from Winston. Delicious picnics and suppers are served with appointments. There is a delightful beach around the lake. This is one of the things that Winston has needed for a long time. It is called "The Village Park."

Hanes-Byerly Wedding At Pine Hall

Impressive and beautiful was the wedding of Mrs. Margaret Leaf Hanes and Kenneth Byerly Byerly, which was solemnized at the lovely twilight hour, Saturday evening, June 10, 1933, on the lawn of the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Lewis Hanes at Pine Hall, North Carolina.

Prior to the taking of the vows a program of nuptial music was rendered with Mrs. Watt Daniel, of Madison at the piano, playing as the first number the beautiful "Libe'erstrum." Mrs. Mary Joyce Pepper, of Danbury, sang with interpretive charm, "I Love You Truly," and "O, Promise Me."

During the ceremony, Mrs. Daniel played softly "Shubert's Serenade" and the Beldel Chorus from the opera "Lohengrin" was used as the processional.

The impressive ceremony was solemnized under the beautiful arbor covered with lovely nuptial roses and ivy in the garden of the ancestral home of the bride, noted for its hospitality through the years, and the former home of Major Leonard Anderson great-grand father of the lovely bride.

Four generations have lived and loved and felt the thrills of a real home under the same roof, the bride being descended from a long line of ancestors on both sides prominent in both Virginia and North Carolina.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. J. Lewis Hanes, and her handsome wedding gown was of white net fashioned over white taffeta with a short train. She wore a picture hat, with all accessories of white.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred Hanes, the maid of honor, who wore a lovely blue chiffon gown over taffeta and a large picture hat of blue.

The dainty little sister of the bride, Miss Piscard Hanes, who wore a lovely little ruffled gown of chiffon, carried the rings in the heart of a beautiful lily.

The bride was met at the improvised altar, erected in God's first temple, the great out of doors, by the groom attended by William Pace of Pensacola, Florida, and the solemn vows were taken with the bride's pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Byerly is the attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hanes of Pine Hall—she is a graduate of Davenport Junior College at Lenoir and later received her A. B. degree at the Woman's College at the University of North Carolina.

The groom is an alumnus of the University of Minnesota and an outstanding college athlete and was a champion in hockey and tennis.

He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is a native of Chicago, but has spent three years at the University of North Carolina, where he is instructor in history.

Mr. and Mrs. Byerly left after the wedding for an extended trial trip.—Reprinted for the Winston-Salem Journal.

Jack Thore, of Elkin, was in Danbury a short while Friday.

T. J. GEORGE IS A CANDIDATE

ANNOUNCES HIMSELF FOR THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES SUBJECT TO THE PATRICK COUNTY DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY, AUG. 1.—BANK OF CRITZ WILL CLOSE BEING TAKEN OVER BY MARTINSVILLE BANK—A WEDDING.

T. J. George announces his candidacy for the House of Delegates subject to the Democratic Primary, August 1st, says the Stuart, Va., Enterprise.

In announcing his candidacy Mr. George said:

"If I correctly sense the temper of these times, people are sick and tired of meddling on the part of candidates and public officials. We need less listening and more leading. The people have the right to know where candidates and public officials stand on questions of pressing public interest, and to expect of them honest, intelligent and aggressive leadership in keeping with their convictions."

Announcement has been made that the Piedmont Trust Bank of Martinsville has taken over the affairs of the Bank of Critz, and will wind up the business of the Critz Bank as soon as possible. Officers of the two institutions were in conference several days the past week, effecting an agreement.

The Bank of Critz, although in a sound financial condition is one of the smaller banking institutions of the state whose business is being merged with larger banks, a course being pursued by small banks in many sections, at the request of the state banking authorities, since the need for banks in smaller communities has become lessened.

Resources of the Critz bank, with the close of business Saturday were given as $74,502.43. The financial statement shows loans and discounts totaling $58,022.58; cash and due from banks $3,540; Stocks and bonds, $5,021; real estate and other holdings $7,918.83. The capital stock of the bank is $12,000. Other items of interest in the statement are as follows: surplus $3,500; undivided profits $776.41; deposits $45,408.90; reserves $1,903.24; bills payable $10,675.72; cashiers' checks $238.16.

B. H. Cooper of Critz is president of the bank and R. A. Henderson, cashier.

Miss Gladys E. Belcher, the attractive daughter of Mrs. J. E. Belcher, of Buffalo Ridge and Mr. Lawrence C. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morrison, also of Buffalo Ridge, were united in marriage on Saturday, June 3, 1933 at the home of Elder S. A. Thompson, of Stuart. Elder Thompson officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will make their home near Buffalo Ridge.

Why Sodom and Gomorrah were Destroyed. Recent Scientific Finds Confirm the Biblical Story of "Abominations." See the Article and Photographs in The American Weekly, the Magazine Distributed With Next Sunday's BALTIMORE AMERICAN. Buy it from your favorite newsboy or newsdealer.