Issued Wednesdays at Danbury, N. C., and entered at the Danbury post office as second class matter under act of Congress.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1934.

Oh, the Sunshine and the Roses.

Spring approaches, and already the frost-laden air is fractured with the voluptuous breath of violas. The bluebird flashes his wings in the ether, the flapper flaps her chiffon, and old men feel the warm blood thrilling as their rheumatiz is routed by the incoming warmth.

Drink Deep or Taste Not the Emyrean Spring.

A little learning is not only a dangerous thing, but appears to be unprofitable.

If you have a high school boy who is not prepared to wade through the higher branches of knowledge and get "at the top," better let him throw away his books and learn to lay bricks or fit lead pipes in a ditch. Encourage him to stop dreaming of becoming President, and go to daubing paint or sawing straight lines through a plank.

The ditch and daub considerations are infinitely more attractive.

Even the federal government recognizes the inferiority of clerical workers, bookkeepers and school teachers, as compared with painters, carpenters and mechanics. The white-shirt crowd is paid 40 to 70 cents an hour, while the other bunch receives $1.10.

It appears that that middle zone between crass ignorance and highly specialized technical skill or a training which permits one to become an executive is rather cloudy or drab.

And rather than drink deep at the empyrean spring the ambitious student had better taste not.

Thanks for the Raise.

The Winston-Salem warehouses closed Tuesday after operating 80 days and selling 52 million pounds. Eight and a quarter million dollars were distributed to the farmers, being an average of $15.96. This was against the 38 millions sold in the previous year for $4,000,000, averaging $10.60.

Everybody will admit that but for the resourcefulness and the vigor of the Washington administration, red-headed calamity would have been the portion of the tobacco farmers. Whereas, they have been generally satisfied with the prices received for this crop.

With the program arranged for the year 1934, there is every reason to believe that the next crop will bring profitable figures. There should, under the arrangements being perfected, be a big fall off in production, with the consequent sharper demand. While the world markets may be in better position to buy, with money much easier.

Make Farm Plans According to Needs

Raleigh, March 5.—Growers who have signed cotton or tobacco reduction contracts will find it helpful to plan systematically for the best use of the acreage rented to the government, says Charles A. Sheffield, assistant extension director at N. C. State College.

One of the best ways to go about the planning is to prepare a table showing how many persons and heads of livestock are to be fed on the farm and the amount of feed and feed crops each will need.

The total amount of such crops needed can then be compared with a list of all crops grown on the farm last year. If the farmer has not been growing enough of the necessary crops, he has figures to show just what additional foods and feeds he needs to produce.

Since he must not increase the total amount of crops that he has been producing, the grower may find it convenient to reduce a crop of which he has growing too much, so that he can increase another crop. Or if he likes, he can grow his feed crops on the rented acres and reserve the other land for crops to be marketed. Only crops for consumption at home can be grown on the rented acres.

Mr. Sheffield has prepared a special circular, "Planning for Agricultural Recovery in North Carolina," which tells how to plan for systematic farming and shows

Fine Arts Club.

(Reported for the Reporter.)

Miss Nannie Pepper was hostess Saturday afternoon at her home in Bethania, when she entertained the members of the Fine Arts Club in February meeting.

During the business session with President Mrs. John Taylor in charge, reports were heard from chairman of the civic committee, Mrs. Wm. Joyce;

"American Home," Mrs. N. E. Pepper;

Music, Mrs. W. G. Petree;

Welfare, Mrs. Dr. Morefield.

Mrs. J. S. Taylor gave a short talk on the Federation. The club had as guests, Mrs. L. H. Riehl, Miss Mary Frances Griffith, and Mrs. Gregoria Gray of Bethania.

The hostess, assisted by Misses Nannie and Agnes Dodson, of Winston-Salem, served a salad course followed by a sweet course.

Dog Was Not Mad.

The dog that bit Brantley Wall, young son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Wall, was pronounced not rabid by the Forsyth county chemist who examined it Monday.

Brantley was playing with the dog that later took a spell of fits, or rather a fit of spells. The canine was shot.

how much foods and feeds are required for the healthful maintenance of both people and animals. The circular may be obtained free of charge by applying to F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor at State College.

Peacefully Dumb.

Mary—Yes, Jim tells me all he knows.

Marie—How awful the silence must be.

Downtown Garage and Service Station

I have opened up a garage and service station in the eastern part of Danbury known as the Downtown Garage. Call to see me. My prices are reasonable and all work guaranteed.

H. J. MABE.

England bans doctors who make love to patients. How philandering physicians are punished is interestingly told in an article in the March 11 issue of the American Weekly, the magazine which comes each Sunday with the BALTIMORE AMERICAN. Get your copy from your favorite newsboy or newsdealer.

Home grown Irish potatoes will be tested for seed in Yorkin county again this season against Maine grown seed. The difference in yield, time of maturity and other characteristics will be observed.

The 1500 cotton growers of Cumberland county who signed reduction contracts are in favor of the Bankhead control bill or something "tighter," they voted at a recent meeting in Fayetteville.

Three new bulletins are available free of charge to citizens of North Carolina on application to F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor at State College. The bulletins are: Extension Circular 197, "Spraying For Control of Apple Blight"; Experiment Station Bulletin 292, "Crop Response to Lime and Fertilizer on Muck Soil," and Technical Bulletin 44, "Hematology of the Fowl."

Top-dressing small grain with quick-acting, soluble nitrogen fertilizer will help to overcome the effects of the recent cold weather.
