Lawsonville School Building Struck By Lightning, Burns

During the thunderstorm of Sunday afternoon lightning struck the beautiful high school building at Lawsonville and set it on fire. Before the community was hardly aware of it, the fire had gained such headway that it was beyond control, and the structure went up in smoke and flames. Many Danbury people, learning of the fire by telephone from Nelson's funeral home, witnessed the conflagration.

It is learned that the county carried $15,000 insurance, and that the building will be replaced in time for the fall school opening.

Mrs. S. P. Christian, Beverly Christian Winifred and Lyman Hall spent the week-end in Monroe with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Saunders.

BIG REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

NOW IN FULL SWING AT CLEVELAND — LANDON SURE TO BE NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 10. — With a platform drafted at last, and huge blocs of delegate votes tumbling for Landon, the Republican national convention tonight devoted an hour to an old-time welcome to Herbert Hoover.

The former President stirred the conclave into its first prolonged demonstration tonight when he stepped before it to assail the new deal as a "muddle" and demand that it be ousted by a "holy crusade for liberty."

Behind the tumultuous scene that Hoover faced the final course of the convention itself rapidly was shaped. One after another, the lion's share of the huge New York and Pennsylvania delegate blocs were thrown to Governor Landon. Kansas leaders loudly proclaimed that that settled it.

Even as Hoover talked and the delegates paraded in his honor a weary platform subcommittee put the final period on its report. Later the full committee was called to work on into the night toward final approval.

Harmony Is Likely

From the subcommittee's draft, it appeared some degree of harmony had been attained between the Landonites and Idaho's lion, Senator Borah. Borah's followers were pleased at a decision to declare for "sound money," and make no mention whatever of the gold standard. They also liked a subcommittee no word court declaration, reversing a Republican tenet of many years.

It was revealed that a monopoly plank had been adopted which Borah had not even seen, although he himself was working on one. The result of that remained to be seen.

The appearance of Hoover touched off the first prolonged demonstration of the convention. As he stepped onto the platform, wearing his usual high collar and a conservative dark gray suit the delegates let loose a 15-minute period of shouting and parading. For the first time the state standards were seized and carried around the huge hall.

Again when he finished, the delegates got out of hand. For 25 minutes they jammed the aisles and filled the hall with some shouts of "we want Hoover," and all sorts of side antics. But the former President had left almost as soon as his last word was spoken and boarded a train for New York.

Chairman Snell adjourned the session at 10:08 p. m., eastern standard time, until 11 a. m. tomorrow, when the convention chieftains hope to tackle the platform problem.

The swing of the mammoth eastern delegations caused such

1400 STOKES FARMERS SIGN

THIS MEANS GOOD MONEY IS COMING TO STOKES FARMERS — NEW RULING ABOUT LESPEDEZA OR CLOVER IN WHEAT

To Stokes farmers:

An extension in the time in which to make and sign work sheets for cooperation in the Soil Conservation Program has been ordered by the Washington office. Just how long the sign-up period will remain open has not been announced, but those who wish to qualify for cooperation in this program will find it necessary to act quickly as the period for checking farms for compliances is near at hand.

Stokes Has Creditable Sign-Up

More than 1400 Stokes farmers have made and filed work sheets for cooperation in this new plan. This means that a considerable portion of the four hundred and some odd million dollars appropriated for making grants under the Soil Conservation program will come to Stokes farmers.

There are farmers scattered here and there who have planted less than their base acreage of tobacco, have not increased their base acreage in soil depleting crops and have planted soil conserving crops on their farms who would be able to qualify for grants or payments on the farm operation in 1936 without any extra trouble or work provided these would sign work sheets. The payments as a rule will run from $30.00 to $300.00 per farm with some running higher.

Of course where a man either has over planted his tobacco base, has not planted any soil-conserving crops, or realizes that a survey of his crop would prove that his old tobacco base was too large, it will not pay him to sign a work sheet. But there are very few people in this class in Stokes. There are hundreds of people who can easily qualify without extra expense or work and without making any change in their farm plans this year for payments ranging from fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars each.

A New Ruling

A ruling regarding lespedeza or clover in wheat, announced recently by the secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace, will be favorably received here. It is about as follows: Where a legume crop such as lespedeza or clover is interplanted with wheat or where wheat is followed immediately by a legume crop such as cowpeas or soy beans, the acreage so planted will be counted as soil depleting, but also one-half the acreage may be counted as soil conserving. In other words, Mr. A has ten acres in wheat on which he seeded lespedeza in the spring. This will be counted ten acres in a soil-depleting crop and may also be counted this year as five acres in a soil-conserving

BAILEY BUYS COUNTY BONDS

QUITE A SAVING TO STOKES TAX-PAYERS BY THE ACQUISITION AND RETIREMENT OF OUTSTANDING OBLIGATIONS — PRICE PAID WAS $96.20.

B. P. Bailey, auditor and financial agent for the county, Monday purchased $23,000 of Stokes county bonds held by a Southern bond dealer, who offered the obligations at $96.20. These bonds which mature in 1937-'39-'40-'42, would have been payable then at par of $100 and accrued interest.

Mr. Bailey considered that inasmuch as the county had the money in the bank with no special use for it, it would be a profitable deal to take the obligations in and retire them.

The saving to the county under this anticipation of interest and principal, will be $6,843.58.
