BIG REUNION ROTHROCK CLAN

MORE THAN FOUR HUNDRED GATHER AT HOME OF E. A. ROTHROCK — HON. P. W. GLIDEWELL MAKES TALK — MUSIC BY THE BAND AND A DELICIOUS DINNER.

The Rothrocks and their friends gathered at the home of E. A. Rothrock, near Walnut Cove, Sunday for an annual reunion. There were more than 400 present. Rev. J. T. Ratledge, an old friend, Methodist minister, read the family's record, going back more than a hundred years to trace the history of this fine old Stokes county family. Other Methodist ministers present were Rev. Mr. Bennett, of Danbury M. E. Church and Rev. Chas. Hutcherson, of Walnut Cove. The invocation was by Rev. Mr. Bennett. Beautiful and appropriate songs were sung led by Dr. A. J. Essex, of Winston-Salem. The first number was "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

At the dinner hour, a most ample and delicious lunch was spread upon long tables in the yard in front of the home. Everybody gathered around and enjoyed the feast. A band of several pieces from Winston-Salem dispensed music.

It was a most pleasurable day for the big crowd who attended, and there were countless congratulations and felicitations for the Rothrocks.

After the dinner was over, the crowd stood in front of the porch where Hon. P. W. Glidewell, in his usual happy and forceful style, made a short talk reviewing incidents of the Rothrocks, coupled with experiences of his own.
