NORTH CAROLINA IS AT THE TOP

ITS UNDERLYING STABILITY IS EQUALED BY BUT FEW STATES — SENATOR REYNOLDS DESCANTS ON THE STATES FAVORABLE POSITION.

As Federal reports and studies dealing with national affairs during the last few years are given to the Congress as a basis for considering new government programs and policies, ample evidence is found that North Carolina has an underlying stability equaled by only a comparatively small number of states. Support of this settlement is available in volumes of Federal statistics and data regarding the state's industry, commerce and agriculture. They tell graphic story of how well North Carolina weathered the storms of the depression and how well the state is prepared to move forward during the fairer economic weather ahead.

One reason the state enjoys such a favorable position is because of the diversity of its agriculture and industry. Farmers are not forced to depend on a single commodity nor industrial workers on a single branch of industry. And along the seaboard, in the Piedmont region and in the mountains are found many indications that the economic stability in North Carolina is well-founded.

Naturally, the fine standing of the state, reflected in the reports and studies sent to Congress, it should also bring pride to all citizens, particularly at this commencement season for schools and colleges, when so many of our younger generation prepare to face the problems of life, economic and social.

On numerous occasions, my colleagues in Congress who have visited North Carolina or passed through the state enroute to and from other destinations, have been loud in their praise of the physical appearance of the state. They have referred to the skyline of smoke belching from factory chimneys and the hum of busy machinery. They have referred to the well-painted and well-kept homes that line the highways. They have referred to the busy communities reflecting the active life of North Carolinians—all indicating that people are noticing the way in which our state is quietly going about solving its problems to the advantage of all citizens.

Hardly a day passes in Washington that some member of Congress does not pass along to North Carolina colleagues a favorable reaction to some activity within the state. As those who have their own eyes on North Carolina come from every far-flung section of United States, here is indeed evidence that the people throughout the country are favorably attracted to the state.

It has been said on many occasions that a steady flow of visitors to the state means new revenue for our people without undermining our soil, denuding our forests, depleting our mines or interfering with basic means of income. It is gratifying to know that the state is preparing to launch an aggressive program to many of whom will remain as

Francisco News—Party Leaves For Washington—Flippin Land Settlement.

Joe France was here today from Francisco, accompanied by Walter Ray, J. W. Simmons, W. S. Hart. Walter Ray is administrator of the James Flippin estate. France, Simmons and Hart are commissioners appointed by the court in the division of the Flippin lands. They were all here on business connected with the settlement of the Flippin estate before Clerk of the Court Tuttle.

Mr. France reported the Francisco school as closed, and one of the most successful terms in the history of the school. Principal W. C. Vorhees, accompanied by Gaither Collins, Garland Gunter, John Hundley, Hugh Hill and Wesley Collins, left today for a pleasure trip up through the Shenandoah valley, by the Caverns, Charlottesville, and on to Washington. The party expects to return Monday.

See the Good Shows At the Palmetto Theater

J. J. Booth, proprietor of Palmetto Theater at Walnut Cove announces some splendid shows coming:

For Friday and Saturday—"The Trusted Outlaw," Bob Steele.

For Sunday and Monday—"The Big Broadcast of 1937," with Jack Benny, George Gracie, Burns & Allen, Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Bennie Goodman and his orchestra.

Fine entertainment at a clean Stokes county theater. Go out and enjoy yourself and take your wife, your girl or your kids.

increase the flow of visitors, residents.

Many sections of the state have been developed by the capital of the people who visited the state, became attracted by its possibilities, and have become North Carolinians in spirit and in deed.

These observations lead to one important conclusion. It is that North Carolinians should find in the interest of others refreshing evidence of what their state offers. Students should have full knowledge of the opportunities to be found. Tours of the state for and by North Carolinians should be encouraged. The fisherman at Nag's Head should know the woodsmen in the mountains and vice versa. In this way a greater degree of state pride and civic consciousness will be developed and the high standing of North Carolina among the states will draw even more favorable attention.

DAN RIVER PARK WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A DANCE, WITH PROCEEDS TO HELP THE HELPLESS T. B. SUFFERERS — LESTER DANIELS ORCHESTRA. TO DISPENSE MUSIC — COME AND ASSIST A WORTHY CAUSE.

Next Wednesday night at Dan River Park—Creakman's attractive place on the river—will be given a dance whose sole object is to swell the fund now growing for the T. B. sufferers of Stokes county.

The Lester Daniels orchestra will dispense music. This band recently played for WAIR, Winston-Salem. There will be round and square dancing. All philanthropic citizens, both men and women, whether they dance or not, are cordially invited to attend this function. The price of admission is $1.00 for the men, ladies free. The proceeds of the dance will be dedicated to the construction of the cabin or hospital to be established on the County Home grounds for white and colored sufferers with T. B. who are denied admission to standardized sanitariums.

This event is under the sponsorship of the Stokes county welfare and health departments. Miss Kate Nicholson, county health nurse, with her assistant Miss Lois Martin, is arranging the details.

A large crowd is expected to attend and help a most worthy cause.
