Tobacco Harvesting Begins.

J. T. Booth, Sales Supervisor of the Winston-Salem Tobacco Market advises that several tobacco growers in different sections have started putting some tobacco in the barns for curing. Mr. Booth also said that it has always been the policy of the operators of the Winston-Salem Market to bend every effort to assist the tobacco growers in every way possible. In line with this policy he advises that "Due to the necessity of much replanting naturally the crop this year is uneven in size and many plants have not matured and ripened sufficiently to be harvested along with the earlier plantings. Green tobacco cannot be satisfactorily cured, therefore only the ripe leaves should be gathered at this time, and the late replantings should be left to mature and ripen or until the last curing. In this way a ripe uniform crop will result and the earlier curings will be clear of green inferior leaves. Particular care should be exercised in sorting land tobacco will look better on the sales floor and sell better if it is uniformly and carefully tied in neat medium sized bundles with particular attention to avoid over-sized bundles. Much satisfaction was expressed last season by local tobaccoists that the tobacco growers of the Winston-Salem Territory are rapidly becoming among the best and most careful handlers in any tobacco belt, which fact will no doubt continue to be a very important factor in the success of both the tobacco growers and the Winston-Salem market."

FARLEY PRAISES ADMINISTRATION

ASSERTS DEPRESSION WIPED OUT BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S REGIME.

Salem, Ill., July 28.—Postmaster-General James A. Farley asserted today the depression was wiped out by the present administration.

Attending the first big Illinois gathering of the party prior to the senatorial election next year with him were high Democratic officials of the State, headed by Governor Henry Horner.

Farley's prepared address made no mention of Illinois politics.

"I believe that the country thinks it is lucky to have had such a President develop in the period of emergency," said Farley, "and that when the time comes he will go out of office as popular as he entered office, which means that no president will fare better at the hands of the historians of the future than Franklin D. Roosevelt."

He recalled the "bitterness of the fight" that preceded Mr. Roosevelt's first election and said, "It is typical of Democratic habit and procedure that the bitterness of that fight was forgotten when he went to the polls in November."

"You may, perhaps, have noted the bitter character of some of the speeches made in a recent controversy. Do not take these too seriously."

"I want to go on record now as telling you that both houses of Congress after the 1933 election will be just as staunchly Democratic as they are now. Our people are not forgetful."

Florida, however, expected to sell 14,120,000 pounds, about 4,000,000 more than in 1936. The average Georgia price last year was 20.96 cents a pound. Florida's was 23.21 cents.

Curing barns still smoked on many farms.
