OLD AGE BENEFITS COMING

REGARDLESS OF OTHER INCOME OR PROPERTY, THE INSURANCE WILL BE PAID.

Social Security Board, Winston-Salem, May 23, 1938.

Old-age insurance benefits will be paid to workers who are entitled to payment, regardless of property or other income.

Any amount of earnings (up to $3,000 in a single year from a single employer) which may be placed to a worker's credit on his Social Security account, will entitle him to corresponding credit toward old-age insurance benefits. Whether he owns a great deal of property or none at all, makes no difference whatever, in the matter of old-age insurance. For example, a labor foreman, has invested his savings in a farm. He continues to work as an employee of a construction company for seven years after 1936, earns wages amounting to several thousand dollars, reaches the age of 65 and retires to live on his farm. No matter what his farm is worth nor how much money he makes from his crops, he will receive a Government check for old-age insurance, every month, the rest of his life. He might own a store or a sawmill or a bank, but if he is entitled to old-age insurance under the Social Security Act, he will get the monthly check, just the same.

The beneficiary of an insurance policy may receive old-age insurance. A worker who collects rent from houses, that he owns, may receive old-age insurance. An employee, who is entitled to old-age insurance benefits, may operate his own store, if he sees fit. Income from another source does not affect the payment of old-age insurance when the employee is entitled to such benefits.

Under another title of the Social Security Act—known as "Old-Age Assistance," there may be some regulation concerning property ownership. But that is up to the individual States. Some States have a property clause in their public assistance laws, some to those in actual need. But the question of need or of property ownership does not affect the payment of old-age insurance one way or the other.

HANGING ROCK THE IDEAL PARK OF NORTH CAROLINA

The Stokes County people are happy over this editorial from the Winston-Salem Journal:

"After their tour of inspection of all of North Carolina's State Parks, members of the State Board of Conservation and Development left no one in doubt about which park they found at the head of the list.

"The park that won the prize was our own Hanging Rock development in the Sawtooth Mountains of Stokes county, near Winston-Salem. The News and Observer says:

"Four speakers placed Hanging Rock as their No. 1 example of development in the Sawtooth Mountains of Stokes county, near Winston-Salem. The News and Observer says: "Four speakers placed Hanging Rock as their No. 1 example of an ideal park. Three high peaks enclose the area. A 15-acre lake will be the focal center of recreation. BAILEY TELLS ON THE RADIO

HOW PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S ARCH FOE IN NORTH CAROLINA WOULD SOLVE THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM AND BRING PROSPERITY.

The following letter from a Raleigh citizen may interest Stokes citizens who are puzzled as to how to end the "recession" and bring back prosperity:

THE BAILEY PLAN

Senator Josiah W. Bailey in a radio speech the other night told of his remarkable discovery that "dependence upon and encouragement of private enterprise" furnished the only true road to recovery and prosperity, and denounced the borrowing-spending program of President Roosevelt in his heroic effort to restore security and happiness to the people.

According to the Bailey theses, all that is necessary to bring about prosperity is for the government to immediately discontinue its spending program, throw the millions of men now employed on government work out on their ears, and the wheels of industry, which are just rarin' to go, will begin to move while the prices for cotton, wheat, corn and other farm products will advance. The billions of dollars that the government has poured and is pouring into "private enterprise" seems to have clogged up the wheels of industry. Senator Bailey did not explain how more than 12,000,000 unemployed men would live, under his panacea, while they waited for "private enterprise to get going, but I suppose he, like the rest of the reactionaries, would expect them to sit about their comfortable homes and enjoy themselves playing the radio, smiling, reading, sleeping a nd eating the fine food that would come to them right out of the air.

The only difference in the Bailey plan and that of Hoover, which we tried for four long years, is that Hoover added to his panacea that fine phrase, "rugged individualism"—just whatever that meant. I am confident if the government were to adopt the Bailey plan and put the millions of unemployed "on their own," our unemployment problem would be solved. The jobless would either starve or start a revolution.
