MARKET QUOTAS MADE BIGGER

INCREASED FOR NORTH CAROLINA, VIRGINIA AND GEORGIA—FIGURES TO BE GIVEN OUT IN A FEW DAYS.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Farm administration officials announced today the flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas would be increased for Virginia and North Carolina as well as Georgia.

Although the increases had not been worked out for each of the three states, officials said the total would be "several million pounds."

They said preliminary adjustments already had been made in Georgia, where the crops started moving to market in July.

Final adjusted quotas were expected to be available for all the flue-cured tobacco producing states within a few days, it was said.

Georgia Adjustment Ordered

Secretary Wallace recently ordered the adjustment in the Georgia quota because individual allotments for small farms absorbed too large a portion of the state quota, thus causing some inequities in allotments to larger farms.

The 1938 farm law, under which the quota system was invoked, established a minimum for small farms equal at least to average production in the three preceding years.

AAA officials said this provision caused inequitable allotments to some of the larger farms in Virginia and North Carolina as well as in Georgia.

They explained this trouble had not been encountered in South Carolina and Florida, the other two flue-cured producing states, and no adjustments were contemplated in the quotas for these two states.

Officials said South Carolina and Florida already had received additional poundage allotments over what would have been their normal quotas because of a provision in the farm act saying no state could be allotted a quota less than 75 per cent. of its 1937 production.

This provision, AAA officials said, had added 3,934,400 pounds to what would have been South Carolina's normal allotment and 2,191,000 pounds to the Florida quota.

This additional poundage, they said, enabled the AAA to eliminate inequities among large farms caused in those states by the minimum requirement for small farms, whereas there was no such extra poundage for the other three states.

As a result, AAA officials said they decided to increase the quotas for Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia.

Under the quota system, tobacco sold in excess of allotments is subject to a penalty tax of 50 per cent. Provision has been made however, for transfer of the unused portions of allotments from

BIG CROWD COMING TO COURT

AUGUST TERM, CRIMINAL AND CIVIL, TO CONVENE MONDAY WITH JUDGE CLEMENT ON THE BENCH—SOME IMPORTANT CASES ON THE DOCKET—TWO MURDER INDICTMENTS.

The farmers being pretty well up with their mid-summer work, the crowd to attend next week's term of court is expected to be large, inasmuch as several capital cases are on the docket.

The calendar shows that Clyde Byrd and Ulysses McDonald, each indicted for murder, will be arraigned on Tuesday. Possibly special venire will be summoned to furnish jurors for these cases. Many witnesses are subpoenaed.

Judge J. H. Clement of Walkertown will preside, while Solicitor Allen Gwyn will prosecute for the State. In some cases special counsel will assist Mr. Gwyn in the prosecutions.

There will be no grand jury at this term, which is a mixed session for the hearing of both criminal and civil cases.

Jurors have been summoned by Sheriff Taylor as follows:

James E. Mickey, Geo. W. Collins, W. A. Smith, O. W. Thornton, J. M. Newman, W. F. Joyce, C. W. Priddy, G. H. Moore, P. W. Hawkins, B. Via Amos, J. J. Moore, Sam A. Wall, C. V. Mendenhall, C. M. Kiser, J. Wilson Young, Robert Carroll, M. E. Baker, Curtis Boyles, Rufus Mabe, C. L. Doss, W. D. Priddy, J. M. Lawson, P. G. Allen, N. H. Tedder.

Criminal court will occupy the first days of the term, followed later by civil actions.

Madison Business Men Visit Danbury

Tom Frank Webster of Webster's Warehouse and Henry Webster of Webster & Co., two of Madison's leading business men, and both well known in Stokes, visited Danbury Tuesday. They were around looking over our fine tobacco crops and shaking hands with their friends. Tom Frank will adopt a new idea in connection with his warehouse business this fall: He will keep a large stock of groceries in one end of the warehouse where farmers who sell their tobacco with him will be able to buy supplies at cost. He anticipates a big success with this venture.

Henry, being a dry goods merchant, is expecting big business from his Stokes friends when the market opens.

Mrs. P. C. Campbell, Mrs. J. J. Booth and Beverly Christian attended the birthday dinner of Mrs. Fletcher Smith, sister of Mrs. Campbell, in High Point Tuesday.

farms which did not produce as much tobacco as their quotas to farms where there was excess production.

AT DURHAM SEPTEMBER 8-10

MANY STOKES DEMOCRATS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION—BOB THOMPSON TO BE KEY-NOTER AT MEETING OF YOUNG DEMOCRATIC CLUBS OF STATE—GORDON GRAY MAY BE ELECTED STATE PRESIDENT—MISS GRACE TAYLOR WILL ATTEND.

A number of Stokes Democrats will attend the seventh annual convention of the Young Democrats of North Carolina to be held at Durham September 8-10. Miss Grace Taylor, president of the Stokes county Young Democratic Clubs, will attend.

At this meeting a president of the Young Democratic clubs of the State is to be elected, and it is predicted that Gordon Gray of Winston-Salem will be chosen. It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Gray will receive the united support of Stokes Democrats in the convention.

Robert L. (Bob) Thompson, secretary to Gov. Clyde R. Hoey, will be the keynoter of the convention.

Tobacco Prices In Border Belt

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—The federal and state departments of agriculture reported a steady to slightly stronger trend on most grades at North Carolina and South Carolina border tobacco markets today.

JOINT TOUR MEN AND WOMEN

IT WILL START AUGUST 24, CONDUCTED BY MISS ELLEN JENKINS, MR. BROWN AND MR. SEARS—BENEFIT FARMERS AND FARM WOMEN.

Stokes county farmers, farm women, 4-H club members and others interested will be given an opportunity to observe good practices on the farm and in the home on the farm tour to be held Wednesday, August 24th.

Everyone is urged to attend the tour and observe what your neighbor is doing. Farm tours are both educational and interesting giving one a chance to see outstanding achievements in farm and home management being carried on in our county.

Those attending the first tour held in the county last year were well pleased and found the things seen very interesting.

Some of the things will be seen on the tour are as follows: Soil Conservation practices as carried on by terracing, strip-cropping, contour furrows and meadow strip; lespedeza demonstration with lime and without lime; a corn variety test comparing 12 different varieties; a 4-H Club boy's project with the new hybrid corn; forestry; excellent pasture with an electric fence, crop rotation and alfalfa; electric water system and hydraulic ram supplying plenty of water; fine dairy cattle; a 4-H girl's canning project and home beautification with lawn and shrubbery.

The tour is a joint tour for both men and women, and will be in charge of Miss Ellen Jenkins, County Home Demonstration Agent and J. F. Brown and T. H. Sears County and Assistant Agent.

Everyone is cordially invited and requested to bring a picnic basket as a picnic dinner will be served at noon.

The tour will begin at Walnut Cove at 8:30 A. M., and disperse at Danbury around 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

All-Star Game

The All-Star team of the Stokes County League will tackle the all-Star aggregation from the Surry County League in a game to be played at Reddick Field, in Mount Airy on Friday night, August 19, at 8:00 p. m. This game is attracting wide interest throughout the two counties. It will see the pride of the teams in the Stokes League pitted against the best players that Surry has to offer. It will be the first night game that most of the players have taken part in and the fans are anxious to see what the big hitters of Stokes and Surry will do under the big arc lights. The Stokes team will be managed by Sam Jessup, the hustling manager of the Francisco team. The admission price will be 25c and 15c.

Solicitor Allen Gwyn of Reidsville was a visitor here Saturday.
