AT THE COVE TUESDAY NIGHT

"WOMANLESS WEDDING" TO BE PULLED OFF AT THE HIGH SCHOOL—BIG CROWD EXPECTED.

"A Womanless Wedding" will be given at Walnut Cove high school the night of November 22, which is next Tuesday night, when Edwin Taylor, one of Walnut Cove's most promising young shrieks, will lead to the altar Mademoiselle C. J. Helsabeck, one of the fairest of the town's young ladies.

The admission will be 15 and 25, the proceeds going to the benefit of Walnut Cove Baptist church. A large crowd is expected.

The ceremony will be performed by the Irrelevant Leake Lovin, pastor of the Friendly Cafe, where you can get a good meal with old fashioned southern cooking at reasonable prices.

The ceremony will be very impressive. The bride will be attired in a beautiful going-away gown of rust taffeta or something, and will have on red stockings, flawless except for a small hole just above the left heel, which however, does not show except when she walks. On her left shoulder she will wear a lovely bouquet of artificial roses, as there are no live ones left.

The ceremony of the ring will be used and one of Kress' most beautiful ones has been purchased, and will be close at hand.

The groom's outfit will be entirely correct. He will wear a Philco tuxedo, and will have on socks. Unfortunately the tuxedo was slightly split in the back, but this vent is not visible at night, if he will not button the coat. His tie will be of one of the most popular fall shades, presumably green, and he will be smoking Camel cigarettes.

As the dulcet tones of "Oh Promise Me" come from the Dan River Park Hill Billy Band in the corner, it will be a most solemn moment, and at this juncture the bride will lean over on the groom's breast and take a draw from his cigarette.

After the psychological moment has passed, and the promises have been duly made, the tune of the band will change to "Coming Around the Mountain."

Come out and enjoy the evening.

Nick Stevens of Lawsonville stopped by Tuesday from market. He appeared to be a little bit downhearted, as he said tobacco was off, and he only averaged 62 on a big lot. His nephew, Clifton, the son of Ham, only averaged 29. Nick said however, that he was pretty well satisfied as long as he could sell so much higher than the crowd trying to beat him. He said he was taking them to ride and the weather is fine.

WAR VETERANS MET FRIDAY

STOKES SOLDIERS AND SAILORS CLUB ORGANIZED WITH MATT SIMMONS PRESIDENT—OTHER OFFICERS ELECTED—OYSTER FRY FOLLOWS MEETING—CLUB HOUSE TO BE BUILT NEAR DANBURY.

Stokes county veterans of all wars, in a county-wide meeting here Friday at the courthouse, formed a permanent organization to be known as the Stokes Soldiers and Sailors Club.

The club will have as its principal purpose the banding together of all soldiers and sailors and other participants in all wars that the United States has in the past been engaged in.

Since there is no organization of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this county the step was taken to form the independent club.

C. Matt Simmons, World War veteran, was elected President and N. E. Wall, also of Danbury, was named secretary and treasurer. Following the business meeting the veterans feasted on oysters and other refreshments.

In addition to the formation of the Stokes Soldiers and Sailors Club, the veterans voted to build an appropriate clubhouse. In anticipation of this action plans for a clubhouse were exhibited for the inspection of those present, and their approval.

The clubhouse may be erected a mile south of Danbury at an appropriate site.

W. H. Armand, architect connected with the Hanging Rock State Park near here, had drawn the plans in advance, which met the approval of the veterans. A committee was named to inspect and decide upon a site for the proposed structure.

Several sites have been offered for the erection of the clubhouse. The plans for such a building include material such as native rock, log construction and board roofing in the most rustic style.

Announcement that the Danbury Woman's Club would furnish the clubhouse for the privilege of holding their semi-monthly meeting there has been made here.
