J. B. Hutson To Speak in Winston Friday—Stokes Invited

Mr. J. B. Hutson, Assistant AAA Administrator, Washington, D. C., will discuss the 1939 program and compulsory control through marketing quotas at the Reynolds Auditorium, Winston-Salem, N. C., on Friday, November 25, at 2 p. m. Every Stokes county farmer is cordially invited to attend the meeting and hear Mr. Hutson outline the details of the program.

Stokes county tobacco growers will have the opportunity on December 10 to express their wishes for or against flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas on the 1939 program. Under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, Congress provided for the setting up of the compulsory marketing quotas on flue-cured tobacco in 1939 subject to approval of at least two-thirds of the tobacco growers voting in the referendum. In the referendum held last March 12, approximately 86 per cent. of the tobacco growers favored quotas so they were enacted this year. If marketing quotas are effective in 1939 it will depend upon at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum on December 10 favoring quotas.

Before a tobacco grower is asked to go to the polls to vote for, or against, marketing quotas for next year, he will know what his 1939 marketing quota and acreage allotment is. Each Stokes county farmer will receive a notice of his acreage allotment and quota through the mail.

J. F. BROWN,
County Agent.

Wheat Adjustment Program For 1938-39

Due to the present situation in respect to the price of wheat, acreage allotments under the Agricultural Conservation Program have been set up for each farm selling 100 bushels or more of wheat. Such farmers may receive payments for reducing wheat acreage this year. An usual wheat acreage for other farmers growing an average of 8 acres or more in the past three years has been established by the county committee. Such usual acreage is the farm's normal acreage of wheat and if exceeded this year the Soil Conservation payments will be penalized. Payments to farms growing eight acres or less will not be penalized unless more than eight acres of wheat are grown. It is fully realized by the county committee that Stokes county is not a wheat growing county, and there is no intention to penalize a farmer for growing his home supplies. The above does not apply to other small grain such as oats, rye, and barley.

J. F. BROWN,
County Agent.

MERCHANT ELIJAH BEASLEY LOSES JEWELRY AND FOLLOWS CANDIDATE TO POLLS TO RECOVER HIS PROPERTY.

Election day at Francisco was not a good day for stealing votes, but proved a fine time to recover purloined jewelry.

Elijah Beasley, a merchant, missed three watches from his store, and scenting a clew, followed a candidate for constable to the polls where he recovered one watch and got pay for another. The candidate did not settle for the third piece of jewelry, although he admitted he got two watches.

The affair created quite a stir at the well known Big Creek precinct where the contest between the two candidates for constable was waxing warm, when stock in the jewelry candidate fell precipitately after he had "acknowledged the corn."

Apprentice Training Has Appeal For Young Workers in the South

Brickmason Apprentice Receiving Instruction

APPRENTICE training has become an important feature of many large industrial plants in the United States. One of the latest programs of this nature which aims at providing an adequate supply of skilled workers, has been launched by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company in Birmingham, Ala. The program consists of a four-year course and is designed to train young men as all-around, skilled journeymen in their respective crafts. At present approximately sixty apprentices are enrolled. The instruction schedules cover fourteen trades. The time of the apprentice is divided between the shop where he obtains practical experience, and the class room where he studies a course related to his craft, supplied by the International Correspondence Schools. Study courses cover such trades as mechanical drawing, mathematics, blue print reading and construction design. Shop work and the related study work are coordinated so each will supplement the other. Apprentices must be between 17 and 24 years when enrolled. They must be graduates of a high school or vocational school, or must possess an equivalent educational background. Apprentice applicants are required to stand aptitude tests and to measure up to a high standard of physical and mental fitness before being selected for training.
